The Cottage Grove High Alumni Association held its third annual banquet to graduates last Thursday evening, the meal being served at the Willamette Cafeteria. The decorations were pink roses and a seven-piece orchestra furnished music. The menu consisted of pressed chicken, salad, olives, bread and butter, ice cream and coconut cakes, cocoa and coffee. The junior girls served. Toasts from members of the graduating class followed. After the banquet a short business meeting was held and the following officers elected: President, M. L. Scovell; vice-president, Miss Lulu Curran; secretary, Miss Eunice VanDenburg; treasurer, Ernest Wyatt.

Roy Smith's Sunday School class of boys entertained a number of their young women friends in the brotherhood room of the Church Friday evening. After games and a social time refreshments of ice cream, bananas and wafers were served. The invited guests were: Lela Lewis, Louis Counts, Genevieve Jury, Marjorie Shay, Alice and Marion Braly, Myrtle Venske, Margaret Brace, Kathleen Kem, Olga Gray and Jessie Smith.

The officers of the Eastern Star entertained in honor of Mrs. Henry Veatch at the Masonic Hall Tuesday afternoon. Two contests were held. In one pictures were pinned on the back of guests, the picture being removed when the name of the animal was guessed from the imitations of neighbor guests. The other was a flower contest in which Mrs. H. Veatch won the prize, a basket of handkerchiefs and roses. Mrs. Graham presented it with appropriate remarks. Dainty refreshments of ice cream and cake were served. The chapter expressed its regret at the loss of Mrs. Veatch who soon leaves for Salem.

Mrs. O. L. Nichols entertained Saturday afternoon in honor of the seventh birthday anniversary of her daughter, Miss Donna. The decorations of the home were pink roses, the table being especially beautiful and artistic. A white cake in the center of the table was surrounded with roses and streamers were dropped from the ceiling to the cake. At each place was placed a box of pink candy hearts, in which was set a pink candle. Refreshments of sandwiches, ice cream, cake and punch were served. The afternoon was spent in the park. The guests were Vera and Vonah Armstrong, Eleanor Jones, Grace Griggs, Genevieve Kime, Lois Compton, Gordon Wright, Paul Jones, Lee Nichols.

Thanks.

The ladies of the G. A. R. Relief Corp desire to thank many of the friends for favors received, especially those who furnished automobiles and carriages to convey many of us to the cemetery to decorate the graves of comrades and friends, to Prof. Dunton and class for excellent singing during the day, to Miss VanDenburg for the rendering of a poem so appropriate and music, also the young children who aided to make the day so pleasant. To Mr. Medley we feel especially thankful for the excellent address that revives many memories of anxious days spent years ago and the cheer of comfort given in our declining days. To Rev. Moore we owe a debt of gratitude for those words that help to lead us to higher and nobler thoughts. To the younger soldiers of this day for the use of the Armory, to The Sentinel for favors, with all others who contributed to make this day so pleasant and our burden's easier. VERDI'S COOL CRITIC.

A Chap Who Liked to Eat His Cake and Still Have It.

When Giuseppe Verdi's opera "Aida" was first being presented to Italian audiences the composer received the following letter, dated May, 1872, from a man residing in Reggio, a town near Parma, and about 100 miles from Milan:

"Much Honored Signor Verdi—The 23 of this month I went to Parma, drawn there by the sensation made by your opera 'Aida.' So great was my curiosity that one-half hour before the commencement of the piece I was already in my place, No. 120. I admired the mise en scene, I heard with pleasure the excellent singers, and I did all in my power to let nothing escape me. At the end of the opera I asked myself if I was satisfied, and the answer was 'No.' I started back to Reggio, and listened in the railway carriage to the opinions given upon 'Aida.' Nearly all agreed in considering it a work of the first order.

"I was then seized with the idea of hearing it again, and on the 4th I returned to Parma. I made unheard-of efforts to get a reserved seat. As the crowd was enormous I was obliged to throw away five lire in order to witness the performance with any comfort. 'I arrived at this conclusion about it: It is an opera in which there is absolutely nothing which causes any enthusiasm or excitement, and without the pomp of the spectacle the public would not stand it to the end. When it has filled the house two or three times it will be banished to the dust of the archives.

"You can now, dear Signor Verdi, picture to yourself my regret at having spent—on two occasions—32 lire. Add to this the aggravating circumstances that I depend on my family, and this money troubles my rest like a frightful specter! I therefore frankly address myself to you in order that you may send me the amount. The account is as follows:

ODD INCIDENTS IN HISTORY OF 1913 CLASS

school life between three high schools but it is now her pleasure to finish it here among these friends. She entered C. G. H. S. in September, 1911, and has been a good student these two years.

I, myself, am of the seven born in 1894, but shall postpone my autobiography until later. Meanwhile I shall proceed with the five born in 1895.

The youngest member of the class, Frances Cox, spent her early years of schooling at the Latham school. In the eighth grade she entered the class at Cottage Grove and was soon class treasurer. Since entering high school, Frances has been a hearty sympathizer of the rest of us when we "blunk" in tests.

Edna Elledge entered the class in the third grade and has been into more mischief than all the remainder of us in the last nine years. She was the salutatorian in the eighth grade 'as well as a basket ball guard this year.

Ruby Keyes, another Latham resident, entered the C. G. H. S. in the freshman year. She was just as plain as the rest of us until this year, but now she expects to become a teacher, and uses such language as 'they descended from their saddles,' when translating Caesar.

Pruda Chesbro came from Corning, California, to enter this class last September. That looks as if our class were widely known, doesn't it? Mr. Ray told her that she would vote some day, but she seems not to worry as long as she can escape current events for civics recitations.

Fern Holcomb, the satutorian, left the Eugene high school to enter the C. G. H. S. in November, 1910. Since her entrance to this class, in addition to her regular work, she has taken up dramatics and debating. She is now editor-in-chief of the annual.

Waldo Hull joined this class in the fifth grade and has now been with three of the other members for about seven and one-half years. He is now vice president of the senior class.

AUTO SET AFIRE TO SEE WHAT MIGHT HAPPEN

While L. S. Hill was in Springfield a few days ago the gasoline leaked out of the machine while it was standing on the street. Someone, to see what the effect might be, threw a lighted match into the inflammable liquid and the machine was in a moment enveloped in flames. The chemical engine was soon on the scene and extinguished the flames before serious injury was done. A few wires were repaired and the machine made the trip home. The upholstery was not injured.

BRAVE MOTHER STORK.

Her Nest Ablaze, She Will Stay by and Perish With Her Young.

So strong is the mother love developed in the stork and the lark that it amounts to a heroic passion. The stork, which spends the winter in Egypt and the summer in northern and western Europe, likes to build its nest on the top of some steep gable roof. Such a nest is often a real nuisance to man. It is from three to five yards in diameter. It swarms with lizards, frogs, toads, and other disagreeable creatures. It becomes in course of time so heavy that it will break the roof if not artificially propped up.

Nevertheless for various superstitious reasons the stork is not only welcome but even courted by the European peasants, and it cannot be denied that the respect with which the bird is regarded is to some extent deserved. If the house takes fire and the young storks happen to be of an age at which they cannot be saved by being taken away from the nest the stork mother does not abandon them. Standing erect in the nest, flapping her wings to waft away the smoke and the flames and crying out now and then, she remains with her young, perishing with them.

The skylark, which builds its nest in the meadows, runs away from it when frightened. She proceeds for four or five yards under the clover and rises perpendicularly in the air, pouring forth her song in its wildest strains in order to divert the intruder's attention. But the peasant boy knows that so long as she remains hanging at the same point in the air he is still four or five yards from the nest, and he uses the direction of her movements and the ring of her song to ascertain the exact spot. If it chances that the young larks are just about to break through the shell of the eggs, at which time the mother instinct is at its height, it is said that at the very moment when the nest is touched the little bird will actually attack the intruder.—Harper's Weekly.
