GRANGE EXHIBIT IS FEATURE OF BIG PAGEANT

Even J. Pluv. Does His Share to Help Celebration.

From Boom of Cannon in Morn to Grand Ball in Evening Fourth Is One Round of Pleasure.

Even Jupiter Pluvius did his part to make the Cottage Grove Fourth of July celebration a success by giving way to Old Sol. But for the early threatening weather the celebration would probably have been the most successful ever held here. As it was farmers came in through the mist and before the festivities began the streets were crowded waiting for the big parade. Not a drop of rain fell during the celebration and at noon the clouds cleared away and Old Sol's beaming countenance added to the pleasure of the occasion.
During the morning the prevailing threatening look in the skies somewhat stayed the flow of pink lemonade and ice cream but in the afternoon there was no dearth of the characteristic American refreshment. The celebration began early in the morning with the shooting of anvils and giant powder and ended in a blaze of glory at night when young America shot off its sky rockets, roman candles and pin-wheels.
At 9:30 the military band attempted to add harmony to the noise of the day and at 10 the big parade started, the feature of which was an exhibit by Cottage Grove Grange illustrating the progress of the century in harvesting machinery. This contribution to the pageant began with a decorated float in which rode some of the women of the grange; this was followed by an old "prairie schooner," drawn by oxen and driven by Mr. Smith of Siuslaw. Mrs. Adeline Mount rode with him and knitted constantly during the progress of the parade. This old-time vehicle was succeeded by Father Time, walking, who in turn was followed by the various instruments of harvest through many generations; the sickle, the cradle, the original machine reaper, the self raking reaper, the Marsh harvester, the new McCormick and other late farm machinery.

The order of the parade embraced Curtis Vetch, marshal of the day, the Cottage Grove Band, Sixth Co. Coast Artillery, decorated automobiles, car of Goddess of Liberty, Miss Fern Holcomb, car of Columbia, Miss Carrie Lou Woods, liberty car, Woodmen of the World, grange pageant, Umphrey & Mackin float, Metson Shop float, Rebekah float.
After the parade, a program was rendered in the city park, Elbert Bede presiding. Following music by the military band, prayer by Rev. W. J. Gardner, vocal music under the direction of Miss Esther Silsby, reading of the Declaration of Independence by Miss Mary Bartels, Rev. J. T. Moore delivered an able patriotic address appealing for the greater unity of spirit which alone can make any community or any section of the country produce the best that is in it. The interests of urban and suburban residents he declared to be identical.
At 12 the big picnic dinner took place in the park and this was followed by a long program of sports, ending with a ball game between Eugene and Cottage Grove, in which the local team came off victorious by a score of 7 to 3.
The prize winners were as follows:

Boy's foot-race—first, $2.50, Hemenway; second, $1, Eddy.
Girl's foot-race—first, $2.50, Phelps; second, $1, Matilda Mathias.
Sack-race—first, $2, Dan Washburn; second, $1, Roscoe Hemenway.
Egg-race—first, $2, Louise Mathias; second, $1, Matilda Mathias.
Sausage eating contest, E. C. Stafford.
Tug-of-war, $10, Chas. Goff, L. Miller, J. F. Earl, Joe Miller, S. Fearn, Archie Thompson, E. Porteous, A. S. Cole, M. Fern, Perrini.
Log sawing contest—first, E. and Underwood, second, E. C. and son.
Wrestling match—first, E. Mosby; second, $2.50, George Kime.
Boy's wrestling match—E. Kime.
Men's foot-race—first, $2.50, Wagers; second, $1, H. A. Kime.
The prize of $5 for the best rated auto was won by O. E. Kime, the second prize of $2.50 was won by Theodore Scholer of Mauney.
The prize of $10 for the best rated float went to the Rebekahs, entered a float beautifully and elaborately decorated in red, white and green and driven by Mrs. Geneva Kime.
The second prize went to the Umphrey & Mackin float. This was probably the most popular float because of the fact there were so many smiling little stick-dispensers.
The plugging prize of ten dollars went to C. C. Dullsville who appeared in a red, white and blue costume, riding on a diminutive burro.
The sausage eating contest, introduced from Germany by Ben Lebow was an unusually amusing feature. The day closed with a grand ball in the evening.

Everyone Hopes Some Day to Own a Home and Acquire that Independent Feeling that Comes from Living in a House of Your Own

THE COTTAGE GROVE HOMESITES COMPANY will shortly place on the market the Woodard Tract on North Ninth Street, which is now being paved. After the paving is done the boulevard will be parked and trees set out. This will be a high-class residence district located on what will soon be the main thoroughfare into the city. In order to get a high class of home builders there will be protective building restrictions. This property will be sold on the easy payment plan when desired. Sales in this division will commence in about ten days. Selections can be made as soon as plat is filed.
