Celebrate Anniversary.

"Uncle Jim" Shortridge celebrated his eighty-second birthday anniversary Sunday, the occasion being one of considerable healthy hilarity on the part of the guests. Even "Uncle Jim" and "Aunt Millie" forgot the dignity of their years to some extent. The guests ate ice cream and lemonade, so "Uncle Jim" says, until he thought they would burst. Those present were Dr. and Mrs. J. W. Harris Mr. and Mrs. Curtis Harris, Mr. and Mrs. Claude Gray and Audrey Langdon from Eugene; J. J. Weeden and family, Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Langdon from Coast Fork, Mr. and Mrs. Orville Spear and Arlie Langdon.

Mrs. S. L. Mackin and Mrs. Clyde Umphrey entertained at the Umphrey home Friday afternoon, at a cubist party. The place cards were hand painted with a cubist design. Mrs. Mackin read an article on "The Cubist Fad." A contest was held in which Mrs. won the prize. The guests were then requested to draw a likeness of Teddy Roosevelt, in which Mrs. Broadbooks carried off the honor. Tables were arranged daintily on the porch and an electric fan created a comfortable breeze. The house was attractive with pretty bouquets. Refreshments were served in two courses. Salad and "cubist" sandwiches and punch were the first course and cake and ice cream followed. The invited guests were: Mesdames Simeral, H. J. Shinn, Chas. Shinn, Beager, O. M. Kem, W. C. Conner, A. C. Kinter, C. C. Cruson, Geo. Hall, W. P. Hall, A. L. Monroe, Bede, Swengel, Fishburn, Compton, Hart, Orpurd, Harry Short, Joe Porter, Chambers, Benson, Cobb, Broadbooks, Dunton, Price, Umphrey, Mackin, Van Allison, H. Cochran, C. W. Caldwell, Nixon, S. Martin, Shay, H. A. Miller, Abrams, D. H. Hemenway, J. C. Johnson, Nelson Durham, Richmond, C. E. Jones, J. I. Jones, J. Silsby, Robbins, Ingram, C. D. Brainard, VanDenburg, Miss Eunice VanDenburg.

Lodge No. 24, Order of Rebekahs, held its annual installation and banquet Friday night, when the following officers were installed: Mrs. Adelaide Wilson, noble grand; Mrs. G. F. King, vice grand; Mrs. George Knowles, chaplain; Mrs. A. W. Kime, past grand; Miss Eunice VanDenburg, record keeper; Mrs. Cad Wallace, treasurer; Miss Verna Hawkins, musician; Mrs. C. W. Caldwell, degree captain; Mrs. Awbrey, Mrs. McKernan, guardians; Mrs. S. W. Boyd, Mrs. H. J. Shinn, Mrs. Charles Walker, Mrs. Etta Baker, Mrs. S. E. McGavran, Mrs. Nellie Johnson, in degree work. An elaborate banquet closed the exercises.

Mrs. Ed Handy was pleasantly surprised with a birthday party Tuesday afternoon. The guests served delicious refreshments and the afternoon was spent in conversation and needlework. Those present were Mesdames Al Hamloth, G. Graber, Chas. Fahrenwald, Mrs. Fahrenwald's niece, Mrs. Lawson Slagle, Mesdames Clara Taylor Young, C. G. Gray, Gray, Sr., Emma Awbrey, Sam McKernan, C. W. Caldwell.

Miss Grace Phelps, soon to become the bride of the Rev. C. C. Van Gorkum, formerly pastor of the Baptist Church here, was the motif for an attractive miscellaneous white shower given by Mrs. F. L. Ingram and Mrs. C. E. Frost Friday afternoon. Miss Phelps was the recipient of many lovely gifts which unexpectedly showered upon her from a gaily decorated parasol. The amusement for the afternoon was the making of useful little gifts for the bride-to-be, the materials for which were supplied to the guests by the hostesses. The luncheon places were marked by dainty place cards which bore toasts to the bride. Those present were: Misses Hazel Ostrander, Lyndalle Gibler, Alpha Morgan, Pearl and Ruby Demorest, Flora Eddy, Veta Hickey, Cora, May and Myrtle Witcher, Edith Brown, Grace Watts, Rydal King, Idalia King, Ruth Phelps, Bertha Stevens, Florence Protzman and Mrs. C. M. Cobb and Mrs. Karl Kent Mills.

Mrs. F. W. Robbins was hostess at an unusually clever rag party Tuesday afternoon. The "rag" idea was clearly carried out in every particular from invitations to decorations. The party was held under the trees at the Robbins home, the yard being screened with burlap. Favors for the guests consisted of charming little blue and white checked paper sunbonnets. All the guests came in the raggedest attire possible and prizes were awarded to the tackiest. Miss Esther Silsby won the first prize, a large kitchen apron and Mrs. A. C. Kinter the second prize, a cone vase. After the thimbles and needles were laid aside Mrs. Robbins, assisted by Mrs. Morgan and Mrs. and Miss Baker, served a delightful luncheon. There were about fifty invited guests.

Mrs. A. W. Kime and Mrs. Al Hamloth were hostesses at an unusually pleasant meeting of the Royal Neighbors Wednesday evening. The lodge rooms were prettily decorated for the occasion in pink roses and Shasta daisies.

COTTAGE GROVE WALLOPS CRESWELL AGAIN

By 4 to 1 Score Local Team Downs Neighbor Team for Second Time This Season.

What promised to be a closely contested game between the locals and the Creswell team Sunday proved another easy victory for the home team, which has not lost a game at home this season. Creswell looked stronger in the field and played snappy ball, but luck was against them and the locals got away with the silver horseshoe on several occasions.

Creswell broke into the run column in the very first stanza, getting a counter on a single, steal and a double. This was also the total of their final count and at no time during the entire remainder of the game did they threaten to do any great damage. The Grovers scored one in their half of the first and as both pitchers were going in good shape hits were few and runs were fewer. In the fourth three Creswell batters faced Earl, going down on two sky hits to the outfield and a fan. In the Grove's half Brund started a rally by getting on safely and was followed by safe hits by the next four swatsmen, three of whom registered at home plate before the smoke cleared away. This ended the run getting, both teams settled down and in the next three innings the locals collected but two safe clouts.

Both pitchers had nine strikeouts. Earl for the locals had something on his opponent in this department and Creswell gathered in seven hits while Rankin allowed ten. Final score 4 to 1.
