

BRIEF NEWS OF OREGON

John Montag of Portland was nominated by the president to be United States marshal for the district of Oregon.

With a $30 drying plant and a cheap stove, Charles Bales of Dorena, has solved the problem of marketing loganberries.

Governor West commuted the sentence of death imposed upon Jackson F. Adams, convicted of killing Clinton Chamberlain, in Clatsop county, to life imprisonment.

The bodies of C. B. Smith and wife, who perished in a blizzard on Mount St. Helens, were both found after a long search, and were brought to Portland for interment.

Senator Lane, of Oregon, has the appointment of another cadet at Annapolis, and has asked President Kerr, of the Oregon agricultural college, if he will examine candidates for the place.

Portland's wheat exports for the fiscal year ended June 30 show an increase of more than 20 per cent over those of the preceding year, according to figures made public by the department of commerce.

Having exhausted the supply of cans that, before the season opened, was deemed amply sufficient, the Eugene fruit growers' cannery have started evaporating loganberries instead of putting them in syrup.

The Al Kader Temple, Shriners, of Portland, has advised Secretary Frank Meredith of the state fair board that the shriners will be glad to accept Saturday, October 4, as their special day at the state fair this year.

The most recent and approved mining apparatus, designed after the patterns now in use in the Massachusetts Institute of technology, will be installed in the Oregon agricultural college school of mines.

A piece of currency issued when the United States was young is in the possession of G. H. Thomas of Portland. It is a three dollar bill issued nearly a century ago by the Hudson State bank, at Hudson, N. Y.

A number of new courses in forestry and mining, as well as a reorganization of the work offered in animal husbandry, are announced in the new catalogue of the Oregon agricultural college.

The mayor, board of aldermen and police at Medford made a raid on every rooming house in that southern Oregon city, with the result that no evidence of wrongdoing was discovered.

Annual reports from the county school superintendents of five counties, just received by the state school superintendent, show that in all of them there are more boys attending the public schools than girls.

For the reason that he was a socialist, Police Sergeant Andrew Soran was reduced summarily to the ranks by Police Chief Clark at Portland, and was ordered to take an East Side territory until he becomes a patrolman, July 20.

Sealed proposals will be received at the office of the life saving service, Washington, D. C., for construction of ten 36-foot self righting and self bailing lifeboats with gasoline engines, three of which are to be delivered at Astoria.

A new machine for saving gold from the black sands of the beach is being tried out in a cove near the entrance of Coos Bay. It works on the centrifugal wheel principle, and is something on the order of a cream separator.

Harry Beard, formerly of Linn county, has been sentenced at Roseburg to ten years in the Oregon penitentiary. Beard had been paroled by Governor West and went to Douglas county where he was convicted of stealing a horse while employed as a ranch hand.

William L. Finley, state game warden of Oregon is one of 15 ornithologists and leaders in bird protection who have been designated by the secretary of agriculture to advise him in the framing regulations to make the new federal protection of game effective.

The petition of the squatters in the vicinity of Arrow, Lake county asking that the Portland business interests assist them in their effort to have the land in that section opened for homestead entry, has been taken up by the Portland commercial club, and every effort will be made to hasten the relief for which the settlers are asking.

Tassie Stewart, a director of the Milton Ditch company, was tried in Justice court and fined $10 and costs for unlawfully opening the headgate on his ditch to the detriment of the other water users in the community. This is the first time a conviction has been secured this year under the operation of the new water law of Oregon and much interest was shown in the case.

Expenditures in sight indicate that the state of Oregon will have a deficit of over $1,000,000 before any of the next year's taxes are paid in April, according to a statement issued by State Treasurer Kay at Salem. With less than a half million dollars in the general fund, this entire fund will be wiped out before August 10, and the state will have to begin paying 6 per cent interest.

Friday afternoon Mrs. C. W. Tidd was caught in a peculiar shower in the south part of town. Recovering her breath and dashing the moisture from her eyes, she found herself the recipient of at least a dozen pretty handkerchiefs from members of the Ladies Aid Society. The women served refreshments and a very enjoyable afternoon was spent. To the enjoyment of the ladies and contrary to the usual in such affairs, it was a genuine surprise. Those present besides Mrs. Tidd and Grandma Tidd, were Mesdames Foster, Reid, Little Crowe, Martha Crowe, Snyder, Wilson, Davis, Jackson, Heck and Hayes. Mrs. White was not present but her handkerchief fluttered down with the rest. Mr. and Mrs. Tidd are soon to leave for a home in the Santiam Valley. Mrs. Tidd assured the women that the handkerchiefs would all be wet with her tears before she disappeared over the mountain.

What Other Folks Think of You— That's the Question—

It doesn't make so very much material difference what you think of yourself, although no one should expect others to have a good opinion of him unless he has a good opinion of himself. The Sentinel naturally believes itself to be a good newspaper, but we are proud of the many high compliments received from others. Here's a dandy—

I want to compliment you on the newspaper work you are accomplishing at Cottage Grove. The Sentinel can, and will, do your city much good. The greatest advertisement a city can receive is from a good home newspaper. The man who expresses his ideas through the editorial column without fear or favor, with the interest of the community at heart, deserves success. He is invaluable to a growing section. The Sentinel seems to be thus possessed. No doubt the people of Cottage Grove appreciate the good work you are doing. Keep it up and you will accomplish more than is at present realized.
