Oregon's Hops of Great Value.
Hop growers in Oregon this year are enjoying the unusual combination of big crops and high prices, the yield being one of the finest the state has ever had and the market is advancing at the rate of one to two cents per day. The demand at the present time is largely from Europe, English buyers, especially, being eager to stock up while the price is within reason. So far, American buyers are making little effort to buy, although it is known that many of them have contracted hops to the brewer at prices considerably below the present market. Ore-gon's crop is probably the best of any hop growing section in the world, and as it is conceded that the total world crop for this year will fall many millions of pounds below the average annual consumption, the only worry of the Oregon farmer is that he may be induced to sell too soon. It is freely predicted that the price will go above 30 cents within the next few weeks.

BRIEF NEWS OF OREGON

The Oregon State fair at Salem will open September 29.

Crook county and the forest service have united in the effort to improve roads in Crook county reserves.

The Josephine county fair opened on Wednesday, September 24, to continue for three days.

Farmers of eastern Oregon are planning to pasture sheep on the wheat fields for the purpose of destroying the weeds.

All gas and electric meters will be tested by the Oregon state railroad commission before they are used by the public service corporations, if plans of the commission carry.

The attorney general has rendered an opinion that an osteopath cannot practice optometry without securing a license from the state board of optometry.

There were 362 accidents in the state during the month of August, of which eight were fatal, according to the monthly report just issued by Labor Commissioner O. P. Hoff.

Wilson Bros. of Astoria have been awarded the contract to build a cruiser launch for the United States government. The boat will have a length of 82 feet and beam of 47 feet, with 175 horse-power engines.

Lane county potato growers report a stiffening of the price for tubers of late, $1 ruling now, where 75 cents was the prevailing price a short time ago. Shortage in California is given here as the cause of the increase.

Salem will vote on a tentative commission form of government plan at the primary election to be held November 3. A committee will be named to make a tentative draft of the charter.

Two Portland men, F. and A. Winans, have discovered a subterranean reservoir on their place in Barren valley. They expect to irrigate 40 acres of land from the new supply.

Prof. P. G. Holden will make a tour of Oregon with his "alfalfa special" train to educate the farmers in diversified farming and dairying on cultivated lands, in spite of the previous announcement that he would be unable to arrange his itinerary.

Canneries of the lower Columbia were blocked by the receipts of fall fish within 24 hours after the season opened. Enormous loss of fish will result if the big run continues, as canners will be unable to handle all the fish offered.

An electric pumping plant to cost $1,000,000 and to furnish water to irrigate 27,964 acres of the high bench lands of Dead Ox flat, in the eastern part of Malheur county, is the latest of the big irrigation enterprises projected in eastern Oregon.

The tariff conferees have agreed to Senator Lane's proposal to make more liberal the regulations concerning the manufacture of denatured alcohol, with a view to facilitate its manufacture by farmers from their waste products.

A recent investigation by the state department of education has disclosed the fact that certain text books used in the schools of the state have been sold by booksellers at a price in excess of what is charged for the same book in Chicago.

On the eve of his departure for Washington, Will R. King, chief counsel for the United States reclamation service, said that, in his opinion, Secretary of the Interior Lane will order work started on the first 10,000-acre unit of the West Umatilla extension before January 1.

The new paper pulp mill which has been in course of construction for the past year adjoining the sawmill of the C. A. Smith Lumber and Manufacturing company in Marshfield, is now completed and it is announced that the plant will begin operations about October 1.

are enjoying the rare combination of big crops and high prices. The yield is one of the heaviest the state has ever had, and the market is going up at the rate of a cent a day. Figures compiled show the yield will be 130, 000 bales, the biggest since 1907.

A great deal of interest is being taken by sportsmen in various parts of the state in organizing clubs and game protection. A general convention of sportsmen will be held in Portland in November by delegates from a number of counties to form a state association.

Corporation Commissioner Watson announces that only a few stockbrokers had complied with the provisions of the blue sky law and that he would take legal action immediately against the delinquents. The law provides that all brokers must obtain permits to sell stock, and file lists of the stocks they sell.

In his annual report to the secretary of state, W. A. Bell, district attorney of The Dalles, recommends that the legislature should enact a law providing for a secret bureau for the ferreting out of crime. He says that regular officers do not accomplish the results that could be secured with secret service men, because the officers are too well known and haven't the time to follow up cases as they should be followed.

MILLIONS OF DOLLARS MADE ON LITTLE THINGS

History of Patent Office Hold Many Incidents to Encourage Inventions.

Every time you remove the tin cap from a beer bottle you add a fraction of a cent to the fortune of William H.
Painter of Baltimore. Before Painter patented this little invention, De-Quillfeldt and his associates had piled up $15,000,000 obtained from the bottle stopper consisting of a piece of rubber held in place by a bent wire lever.
Would you like the income of the man who patented the little piece of pasteboard fitted into the neck of a milk bottle?

How do you suppose DeLong invented "See-that-hump" on the hook that retains its position in the eye?
Has he more inventive talent than you possess? A kind husband heard his wife complain of the loss of her hair pins which would not stay in place.
On studying the situation, he invented the crinkly hairpin now so popular and money making.

If you run an automobile, you have heard of the George E. Selden patent which yielded its inventor $2,000,000 before it was declared invalid. Thaddeus Fairbanks was a New England farmer with long whiskers and patient Yankee ingenuity. The Fairbanks scales, used the world over, are the result of his study and experiments.

Hyman L. Lippman, although of Philadelphia, was wide awake enough to invent the universally used rubber eraser on the end of lead pencils.

Suppose you had thought of the trifle known as the copper toe-tips for boys' shoes. The invention of a tin can to hold food products necessitated a tin-can opener. Several openers were patented and much money was corralled by their makers. A can opener is not difficult to work but the public will pay for easier methods of doing things.

To save the use of a can opener, an inventor has patented a seam just below the can's top which breaks on a light blow and the top is off. One Chicago packer has ordered 10,000,000 of these improved cans as an experiment, and the business has scarcely begun.

Charles Edward McCarthy was a blind man who lived in South Carolina.
He devised a method of attaching mule power to a cotton gin and enjoyed a life of ease while the mules did the work.

On a Sunday morning in Troy, New York, Henry Burden disturbed church worship by loudly exclaiming, "I've got it." He had thought out the machine made horseshoe. Among Burden's inventions was the celebrated little machine for making rail spikes which was in litigation above forty years.

A cast-iron tombstone is a patented article that covers the graves of many departed Americans and furnishes a generous income for its inventor. B.
R. Catlin of Washington, produced a pattern cat that needs only to be stuffed with hay and sewed up to add to the children's joy and Catlin's pocketbook. The young sculptress who formed the fearful figure called "Billiken" has gathered many shekels is the result of her fantastic imagination. Have you heard how many millions the Hartshorn curtain roller produced?

It is remarkable that most improvements have been made by farmers and mercantile people. The Berliner inventions in phonographs were made by a clerk in a Washington retail store.
A Chicago taxidermist devised the so-called Cement Gun, which has much improved and cheapened cement work.

If you saw it first—you saw it in The Sentinel.
