Short, Miss Ursula Lockwood and Messrs. Lloyd Stratton, Lloyd Biaby, Worth Harvey and Seldon Powell, and Miss Hazel Hemenway and Mrs. Ora Read Hemenway, occupied the first part of the evening. Later Miss Smith and Mr. Beidler were unceremoniously arrested by "Chief of Police" Martin Anderson and brought before "Justice of the Peace," Ren Sanford, who sentenced the prisoners to "life" in the bonds of matrimony and forthwith said the ceremony binding them over to the life. Miss Burkholder served, assisted by Miss Fern Holcomb.

Mrs. Markley entertained the Royal Neighbors Club at her home Tuesday afternoon, fifteen being present. The afternoon was very pleasantly spent in work. Refreshments were served, consisting of sandwiches, salad, cake and coffee. Arrangements were made for a Christmas tree which the club is going to have at the home of Mrs. C. W. Wallace, on the afternoon of December 23.

A most delightful social gathering was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Wilson Thanksgiving Day, being in the nature of a reunion of old friends from Antigo, Wis., meeting for the first time since coming to Oregon. The guests were Mr. and Mrs. E. S. Brooks of Eugene, Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Daskam and daughter of this city, and Mrs. Daskam's father, John McCloskey of Sutherlin. A bountiful Thanksgiving dinner was served at one o'clock after which the afternoon was spent in talking over old times. The party was joined later by the following young people: Mrs. Beager, Misses Lena Holcomb, Buell, Purvance, Messrs. Kinter, Godard, Barshart, Rose, Woodard and Anderson, who spent the evening playing Rook. At a late hour the party sang "Oregon, My Oregon."

The wedding of Miss Mamie Kime and Roy Romaine of Portland occurs this evening at 7:30 o'clock at the home of the bride's parents, D. and Mrs. A. W. Kime. Only immediate relatives and friends will be present at the ceremony, but a large number have been invited to the reception later.

Society

Unique Season Party.

Unusually successful was the party given in Phillips Hall Friday afternoon by the Mesdames Ingram and Mills and Misses Currin and Perkins. The affair took the form of a season party. Each of the guests was dressed to represent a season, and the four seasons were divided among the hostesses. The hall was an artistic bower of beauty. Summer was represented by an arbor hung with spruce and ivy, with nasturtiums creeping around the doorway. Spring was a brook uniquely represented and beautifully decorated with ferns. Cupids peeped from behind the foliage. Winter was a Christmas tree daintily decorated with candy and bells, mounted on a base of snow. Beside it stood a snow man. Fall was represented with a booth of pumpkins decorated with autumn leaves. A cider keg was suggestive. Beautiful bouquets of crysanthemums and potted plants were everywhere. Some of the more attractive costumes were those of Mrs. Ray Trask, dressed as a school girl in white sweater, eiderdown skirt and cap and leggings, with skates hanging over her shoulder, Mrs. Roy Smith representing the same season but dressed in red, the hostesses in crepe paper dresses suggestive of the different seasons, Mrs. J. H. Chambers representing spring house cleaning with apron, cap, dustpan, broom and can of cleanser and Mrs. Broadbooks in her Santa Claus suit.

After a grand march the guests threw at the snow man in an attempt to knock his pipe out of his mouth. After a flower contest in which Miss Hooper won, the following program was rendered:
 Violin ..... Helen Kenst
 Vocal ..... Miss Greta Bristow
 Instrumental ..... Miss Myrtle Kem
 Duet ..... Misses Perkins and Anderson
 After the program each guest tried her luck in the fishing pond, where fish were represented by souvenirs. Luncheon was served in a very unique manner. Baskets had been hung about the room, names of the guests being pinned thereto. Each guest found her basket and passed to the different booths to have it filled. Miss Howie presided at the sandwich tray, Mrs. Ingram at the olives and pickles, Miss Currin at the Christmas tree with her token of candy and nuts, Mrs. Mills at the cider keg, Miss Bristow at the ginger cookie tray and Miss Perkins in the summer arbor with ice cream cones.

The guests were Mesdames Beager, Banta, Purvance, Purvance, Wilson, Hooper, Dunton, Davidson, Durel, Smith, Russ, C. J. Kem, Griggs, Spriggs, Price, Protzman, Woodruff, Oglesby, Phelps, Burton, Atkinson, Ostrander, Morse, Shay, Walker, Jones, Gleason, Groff, Cooper, Demorest, Woods, Scott, King, Tyson, Helen Silsby, J. Kem, Misses Mamie Kime, Elsie Lea, Mabel Veatch, Esther Silsby, Lena Holcomb, Elsie Short, Myrtle Kem, Leah Perkins, Marguerite Johnson, Anderson, Smith, Holcomb; Miss Laura Kennon of Monmouth, Misses Lola Howe, Helen Kenst, McCloskey and Greta Bristow of Eugene.

Mrs. Elbert Bede entertains the Emanuel Club Thursday afternoon.

The boys' class of the Presbyterian Sabbath School had a most enjoyable time at the Manse Thursday evening. There was a feather blowing contest in which Roy Smith carried off honors for keeping his feather in the air the longest. The progressive sketching of the head, body and feet of animals furnished much fun. Refreshments consisting of apple salad, sandwiches, oatmeal cakes and a cereal beverage were served by Mrs. Broadbooks.

Large Family Gathers Together for First Time in Lives

Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Wilson and Eight Daughters.

The above picture is of a family of twelve, gathered together for the first time in their lives. The parents are J. S. and Louisa A. Wilson of Yoncalla. Eleven children have been born to them, and never before have all of them been at home at the same time, and in the picture the two boys are missing, although they had been at the reunion.

Mr. and Mrs. Elbert Bede entertained Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Robbins, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Abrams and J. W. Grant at Thanksgiving dinner.

Miss Elsie May Coffman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Coffman, and Alfred M. White were married last Wednesday evening at Eugene.

Thirty-five Surprise Pioneers.
 Thirty-five relatives of Alex and John Cooley gave them a complete surprise Thanksgiving Day and all ate Thanksgiving dinner together. The gathering was held at the John Cooley home. Both men are among the best known pioneers of this section, having come here in 1853. Alex is 79 years of age and John 77. Those present were Mrs. Harriet Cooley, Mr. and Mrs. Currin Cooley, Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Irwin, Mr.

and Mrs. J. B. Cooley and son Bryson, all of Brownville; Mr. and Mrs. Geo. W. Wright of Albany, Mr. and W. H. Deadman of Portland; Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Small and children Annabelle, Lois, Marjorie and Erwin, of London; Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Mann, Alex Cooley, John Cooley, Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Cooley, Mr. and Mrs. Currin Cooley and children Ireta, Fay, Dale and Clair, Mr. and Mrs. V. D. White and children Frank, George and John. A few other relatives and friends called during the afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Donaldson of Springfield and Mrs. Wagner, Misses Helen and Gladys Wagner, Clara Lea, Edgar Hum of Junction City, all former neighbors of Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Miller in the East, celebrated Thanksgiving Day with a reunion dinner at the Miller home. Mrs. Howard Hess and baby of Roseburg were also present and will remain for a week or ten days.

The M. P. G. Club were delightfully entertained Tuesday afternoon by Mrs. C. D. Brainard. The afternoon was spent in embroidering. The club members present were: Mesdames C. C. Cruson, C. J. Kem, A. C. Kinter, K. K. Mills, F. L. Ingram, Merle Seovell, Orville Spear, Harry Short, Roy Smith and C. E. Frost. Mrs. Ralph Vincent was an additional guest.

Miss Belle Burkholder was a hostess honoring Miss Jennie Smith and her fiancé, Charles Beidler, with a party at her home Tuesday evening. About fifty guests were assembled. A program of musical numbers by Miss Ada Matthews, Miss Anderson, Mrs. Roy
