New Year Party.

Mrs. Harvey Armstrong and Mrs. R. M. Broadbooks entertained for the young people of the Presbyterian church with an "animal party" given at the home of Mrs. Armstrong Friday evening. In both invitations and entertainment the idea was cleverly carried out. The amusement for the evening was the writing of animal stories, the one voted the most successful author receiving a box of animal cookies. Later in the evening a short program consisting of solos by Mr. Broadbooks and Mr. Curran, a reading by Miss Elsie Short and a piano and violin duet by Miss Mabel Veatch and Edwin Redford, was given. The hostesses, assisted by Mrs. A. C. Kinter, served dainty refreshments. The list of invited guests included: Misses Veatch, Curran, Perkins, Leah Perkins, Holderman, Smith, Harms, Magee and Edith Magee, Shay, Elsie and Margaret Short, Russ, Burkholder, Borgeson, Silsby, Emilie Holderman, Brown, Lockwood, Richmond, Fern and Ivy Holcomb, Ella and Esther Anderson; and Messrs. Curran, McCargar, Matthews, Harvey, Stratton, Ernest and Dale Wyatt, Bert Trask, Smith, Edwards, Groves, Coffman, Gowdy, Redford, Martin Anderson, Albert Anderson, Martin, White, Holderman and King; and Mesdames and Messrs. Chas. Beidler, Roy Short, Roy Smith, A. C. Kinter, Ralph Vinson, Chas. Adams, Armes, Griswold, and Beals.

Euterpean Club Meets.

The Euterpean Club met at the home of Mrs. Chas. Adams Thursday evening, about forty being present. After the usual business meeting was held the program was rendered: "Those Evening Bells," high school octette; reading, "Padreowski," Miss Jessie Smith; song, "Love Is a Rose," Miss Jessie McCord; duet, "Calm As the Night," Miss Leah Perkins and Lloyd Stratton; song, "Somewhere a Voice Is Calling," Miss Marian Hooper; synopsis of "The Courtship of Miles Standish," Lester Barnhart; piano number, Mrs. Griswold. The program was followed by a short practice for "Pricilla" following which Mrs. Adams served a rarebit.

The Caldwell home was the scene of a gay watch party given New Year's Eve by Cecil Caldwell. The evening was spent in lively conversation and games, and just before the stroke of twelve ushered in the New Year, a dainty two course supper was served. Those present were: Misses Loretta Burnett, Idalia and Rydall King, Ina Valentine, Flora and Helen Longfellow and Messrs. Victor Kem, Dale Haskins, Donald VanBoskirk, Ogle Young, and Cecil Caldwell. Amid the wishing of "Happy New Year" the guests took their leave just after the midnight bells began to ring.

Mr. and Mrs. J. I. Jones entertained Thursday with a charming New Year's dinner at their home in honor of Mr. and Mrs. G. H. Tyson. Twelve intimate friends circled the board.

The Ladies' Missionary Society of the Christian Church will meet at the home of Mrs. Orville Spear Thursday afternoon.

Many Prizes at Mask Ball.

About sixty couples were present at the successful prize mask ball given by the Military club New Year's Eve. The long list of prizes were awarded with much difficulty, as in many cases it was difficult to make a decision as to the winners.

Miss Eunice Vandenburg won the jewel case offered by D. J. Scholl for the best sustained female character; Mrs. Geo. O. Knowles, the hand-painted pillow top offered by J. C. Smoot for the best costume; P. Smoot the hat offered by the Oregon Woolen Mills for the best sustained male character; Joe Landess, shoes offered by Powell & Co. for the best costume; Billy Hixon, silk scarf offered by C. H. Burkholder for the most original woman; Cliff Widdersheim, tobacco jar offered by the Metsan Shop for the most original man; Mrs. Smoot, silk hose offered by Rees-Wallace for the best waltzer; Miss Atha Widdersheim, box candy offered by the Bon Ton for the best two stepper; Earl Garoutte, metal tie rack offered by the Modern Pharmacy for the best two stepper Elsie Baker, soap tray offered by the Swengel Hardware Co. for the most comic woman; Guy Van Ripper, shaving set offered by Lurch's for most comic man; Mrs. Ora Warner, box candy offered by James Potts for the best three stepper; Earl Hill, oyster supper offered by the Elite confectionery for the best three stepper; Red Heckart and his dummy, pocket knife offered by Knowles & Graber and hand hammered brass candle holder offered by Wynne & Woods for the most awkward couple; Mrs. Geo. McQueen, picture offered by Kinter Bros. for most graceful woman; Miss Myrtle Brewer, box of candy offered by Barker & Coffman for the bells of the ball.

Mrs. C. W. Wallace entertained a few members of the Royal Neighbors last night. After 500, refreshments were served. Those present were Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Monroe, Mr. and Mrs. Geo. M. Hall, Mr. and Mrs. A. S. Powell, Mrs. Minnie Price and J. B. Protzman.

Old Man Puts Bold Burglars to Rout.

A 74-year-old man, giving his name as C. Stuart, living on Fourteenth Avenue east between Alder and Hilyard streets, Eugene, put to rout two holdup men who ordered him to throw up his hands shortly after 8:30 o'clock Monday evening on High street between Fourth and Fifth avenues east not far from the Southern Pacific tracks, according to the story he related to the police afterward.

"I shan't do it," he retorted to the command of one of the holdup men, and he swung his umbrella across the face of his assailant. "Get out or the cops will get you within an hour."

The steel umbrella rod was bent, and the men "got." They fled in the direction of the bridge, and the police spent some time afterward looking for them, but found no trace.

Stuart and his wife were returning home after a call on friends in the northeast part of town.—Register.

LaFrance Goes to Pen.

James LaFrance, the swindler who planted a body on the Clackamas river and defrauded the Modern Woodmen of America and other insurance organizations out of $15,000, was committed to the state penitentiary at Salem, on December 31. Mrs. LaFrance, who was the accomplice of her husband, has been released, although the indictment against her is still on record.

Since LaFrance's arrest he has steadfastly refused to give any information as to where he procured the body which he used in his operations. In confessions made he implicated others in framing the deal and providing the body, but the officers believe his stories to be purely mythological.

Must Provide Recommendation Blanks.

In order that the pupils who have completed the eighth grade work and wish to take the uniform examinations on January 15 and 16 may do so, all clerks of school boards must provide the teachers with the recommendation blanks upon which the pupils who are eligible to take the examinations may be registered, according to a statement made by Supervisor Stahlman. The districts which do not send in their recommendation blanks will not receive the uniform questions, as pupils who have not been properly recommended are not permitted to write upon the examination.

Eugene Outgenerals Portland.

Outvoting Portland only four votes, Eugene secured the 1914 meeting of the Oregon State Teachers' meeting at the session in Salem last week. Portland was prepared to carry off the honors but was surprised by Eugene which had sent more delegates to the convention than any other city in the state.

The victory means that Eugene and the University will be the hosts of over 1000 teachers. Plans are already under way for one of the largest teachers' meetings ever held in the state.

Notice to Hunters and Trappers.

We are anxious to secure the skulls and skins of our different furbearing animals, as we are trying to make a complete collection of birds and animals of the state. We are also carrying on certain scientific investigations.

For perfect, unbroken skulls sent to this office we are willing to pay from 25c to $1.00 each. The following prices will be paid according to size: Mink, Marten, etc., to Badger and Raccoon, 25c; Coyotes, Bobcats, Lynx, 50c; Wolves, Cougar, Bear, $1.00.

For such skins or hides as would be needed by this department we should be willing to pay the market price or perhaps a little above, if they are in suitable condition for our use.

If you desire to furnish any skulls to this department, they must be prepared in the following way: Remove the tongue, eyes and brain. The brain can be cleaned out thoroughly by using a crooked wire. The skull must then be labeled with the date of capture, the locality where taken and the sex of the animal. When it is cleaned it should be hung up to dry for a few days before mailing to this office.

If you are interested in collecting for this department, kindly write us and we shall be glad to send you further information and instructions for preparing scientific specimens.

WILLIAM L. FINLEY, adv State Game Warden, Portland.

Sports Enrich State Offers.

Hunters and anglers put $117,592 into the state coffers during the year 1913.

Of this sum, $48,020 was for hunting licenses alone, $44,748 for angling licenses and $24,824 for the combination licenses at $2 each.

In addition hunters from outside the state paid $1,520 as non-resident fees. Another big item was $6,775 for fines imposed by the various courts for violations of the game laws.

Of the last item, half in each case went to the general fund of the county and the other half was turned over to the fish and game commission.

This, in a measure, explains why hunters say that 1913 was the poorest hunting season they ever had, for there were almost 25 per cent more hunters in the field in 1913 than in any previous season.

Springfield Now Dry.

Springfield went dry legally and in reality at 11:30 p. m. Wednesday amid a general celebration on the part of the citizens of one city and at least a part of two or three others. The devotees of the cup that inebriates took advantage of the reduced prices to stock up for several months to come. The crowds were fairly orderly considering the state of affairs, according to a statement made by the chief of police.

But few of the saloon men are quitting Springfield entirely, most of them retaining their leases in the hope that the higher court may grant a decision favorable to them.

plan being considered by Governor West. The establishment of a tented city on this land, using the tents of the state militia, is being investigated and tentative plans worked out.

But one problem, that of providing food, is causing any considerable difficulty of solution. Teams for the work can be secured, says the governor, as also tents for housing the men, but to date no satisfactory method of providing food has been found.

The project will be above all an undertaking for men who really want to work, for no others will be likely to join the stomp pulling gangs. This will also take single men away from the cities and out of competition with men of family who cannot leave because of their family connections. It is possible that a means will be found for offering employment to men out of work on the various roads, but this is a matter that has not yet been fully worked out.
