USEFUL SUIT.

This Boy's Outfit May Be Easily Transformed Into a Bathing Suit.

BOY'S SUIT.

The little boy's suit illustrated here is made of blue flannel, with turned over linen collar and cuffs. The garment is presentable anywhere with collars and cuffs. With these removed it makes a neat little bathing suit. Lightweight mohair and wool is a material which may be adopted for the making of the suit if flannel is not liked. It may also be carried out in any of the lightweight or washable fabrics suitable for boys' suits at this season.

COAT COLLARS.

Most of Them Are Attached to Little Chemisettes.

No coat is without its bit of white turning over at the collar. Most of these becoming white coat collars are attached to chemisettes, which are donned under the blouse of silk, lace or chiffon, or the collar may be part of a tub silk or handkerchief linen blouse worn under the coat.
Sheer white organdie is the popular collar material, and the smartest collars are cut double, seamed at the edge and without a hem.
If a single layer of organdie is used the hem is very narrow and is set in with hand stitches or a line of fine hemstitching.
Lace and embroidery collars are not as smart as these sheer organdie collars, though occasionally collars of very fine machine embroidery, mitered at the corners, are seen.

EMBROIDERED CRAPE.

Makes an Elegant Costume For Summer Afternoon Entertainments.

The gown shown here is of light crape combined with a darker shade. The latter is adopted for the collar, cuffs and the deep emplacement for the draped tunic. The coat is of the basqued style. The very novel high crowned straw hat worn with the costume is trimmed with an embroidered band.

Colored Glove Tips.
The tips of many gloves are colored. Occasionally the inside sections of the fingers are of a different color. Gray or champagne colors are worn to the exclusion of the white gloves so long popular.

Society

Celebrates Eighty-third Birthday.
The eighty-third birthday anniversary of "Uncle Jim" Shortridge was celebrated Saturday at the family home in West Cottage Grove. Fifteen members of the family were present, partook of the old fashioned dinner at one o'clock and enjoyed the afternoon together. Those who assembled with "Uncle Jim" and "Aunt Milly" were: F. B. Shortridge, of Azalea; Miss Audrey Langdon, of Eugene; Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Weeden and children, Everette, Dale, Eva and Gordon; Mrs. Olive Lacey, of Portland; Mrs. Orville Spear, Mrs. Clyde Langdon, Miss Arlie Langdon, of this city and Mrs. Rebecca Rodgers, of Turner.

A party of 25 held an all day picnic Sunday on the Finneran place near the Coast Fork east of the city. In the party were Geo. McQueen and family, Wm. Ostrander and family, James Ostrander, James Potts and family, Robert Griffin, Bessie and Albert Griffin, Mrs. C. A. Nelson and children of Warren, Minn., Mrs. Layng, Clarence Spencer and Elbert Bede and family. Both dinner and supper was eaten and an hour or so spent bathing in the Coast Fork.

The C. W. B. M. of the Christian church met at the home of Mrs. Sarah Knox, Thursday afternoon, July 16. The topic for study, which was led by Mrs. Knox, was, "Our Indian Work in Northern Canada." After the business session a social hour was enjoyed and Mrs. Knox served light refreshments.
Mrs. W. C. Wilkins gave a delightful party Monday afternoon in honor of her little daughter Adria's seventh birthday. Ten guests were present and spent the afternoon playing games. Mrs. Wilkins served refreshments of sandwiches, cake, berries, lemonade and candy. Adria received a number of pretty gifts. The guests were: Gladys Hockett, Ruth McKibben, Mabel Spray, Ida McKibben, Bertha McKibben, Ollie Flower, Ethel Flower, Viola Flower, Flossie Cox and Almeda Larson.

The W. C. T. U. will hold its annual Flower Mission day at the Christian church, Friday afternoon at three o'clock. The flowers contributed will be sent to the sick and shut-ins. Those who wish to contribute flowers should send them, together with the names of any invalids they may know. To the church some time before three o'clock. The W. C. T. U. extends an invitation to all to take part in the affair.
It pays to read the ads. in the Sentinel.

FADS AND FANCIES.

By Harriette
An excellent and helpful thing to know is that peroxide will remove ink and fruit stains like magic.

In answer to the question "what does cooking mean?" the great philosopher Ruskin answers,
"Cooking means the knowledge of Medea and Circe, and of Calypso and Helen, and of Rebecca and of the Queen of Sheba."
"It means the knowledge of all fruits and balms and spices, and of all that is healing and sweet in fields and groves, and savory in meats. It means carefulness and inventiveness and watchfulness and willingness and readiness of appliance. It means the economy of your great-grandmother, and the science of modern chemists. It means much tasting and no wasting. It means English thoroughness and French art and Arabian hospitality. It means, in fine, that you are to be perfect and always ladies (loafgivers), and to see that every one has something to eat."
And now, having read this, don't you feel that your occupation as housewife which includes the art of cookery, also, is somewhat glorified, since so great a man as Ruskin saw so much in it!

Now that the apples are becoming plentiful a new way of preparing them that is sure to find favor is given here:
SCALLOPED APPLES.
Three cups chopped apples, 3 cups buttered crumbs, ½ cup brown sugar, ¼ cup water, ¼ teaspoon nutmeg, ¼ teaspoon cinnamon, ¼ lemon, juice and rind.

Prepare the buttered bread crumbs as follows, take one cup crumbs, 1 tablespoon butter pouring the crumbs of the stale bread onto the melted butter and stir lightly on the stove with a fork until brown.
Pare, core and chop the apples. Mix together the sugar, spices, and grated lemon rind. Arrange the food in the baking dish which has been well buttered putting one-half the spice mixture on each of the two layers of apples. Add the lemon juice and water before you put on the top covering of crumbs. Cover and bake in a moderate oven ¾ to one hour or until apples are soft, then uncover and cook until the crumbs are brown.
