Some things happen once a year—others once in a lifetime. Christmas and New Year, for instance, come once a year, but only once in your life will you be able to get a picture that shows you just as you are now. Just a suggestion: Photos make the most acceptable Christmas present where you wish to give something that will be treasured and still not cost a large amount. Armstrong's quality photos are the best for the purpose. Get them at 24-26 North Sixth Street.

POPULAR BURTONS ARE HERE

Well Selected Troupe Assists Leading Man and Woman in Adding Another to Their Many Successes Here.—Appear Tonight and Tomorrow Night.

Florence and Steve Burton, well known and popular here where they have appeared many times, are in the city with their own troupe playing a three nights' engagement at The Arcade. The opening entertainment, "The Morality of Marriage," a comedy-drama of unusual interest in three acts, was given Monday night before a good-sized audience. Applause and laughter were frequent, interest was keen and intense. The popular players added another to their long list of successes here. Not only have the leading performers greatly improved since their last appearance here, but they have an unusually well selected company of players.

"The Morality of Marriage" is just what the name suggests. A poor telephone operator meets and marries a millionaire. There is little love on either side. The millionaire is busy accumulating riches and the girl is too dazzled with jewels to care for much of anything but to be of help to her sister. She later learns to love her husband deeply but this is killed when he becomes intoxicated. In the last act the couple reunite and live happily ever afterwards.

Miss Florence Burton, as the poor telephone girl and millionaire's wife, was a revelation in depicting a sweet and winsome girl and won the audience completely. Miss Burton is, without question, the most versatile actress that has ever appeared in Cottage Grove.

Steve Burton in the millionaire, probably not an easy part to act in these depressed times, was as natural as if that was the part he played in every day life. Clifford Lancaster, as the $15-a-week shipping clerk, made more of the most of his opportunity. Miss Emma Oblasser, as Jimmy's wife, was an exceedingly sweet and domesticated young woman who knew how to keep house on a small salary. The Japanese Oku, played by M. C. Athey, also well known here, was very acceptably performed.

The specialties between acts were pleasing and enjoyable.

Tonight the company puts on the three-act farce-comedy, "What Happened to Brown." Thursday night the drama, "East Lynne," will be played.

ELOPE NOT KNOWING THAT PARENTS APPROVE

High School Student and Girl, Both in Teens, Flee to Eureka, Cal., to Wed Are Soon Welcomed Home.

Marshfield, Ore., Nov. 24.—A Coquille high school romance culminated in an elopement by sea and a marriage at Eureka, Calif., today. Reuben H. Mast, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Mast of Coquille, and Miss Verna Phillips, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Phillips, ranchers on the Lower Coquille, are the couple.

The couple, aged 19 and 17, came to Marshfield yesterday afternoon without leaving word of their mission. Arriving here at noon, they sailed at 4 o'clock on the George W. Elder and telegraphed home to their parents this morning of their elopement and marriage.

R. H. Mast, the man's father, telegraphed an immediate welcome back home. The newlyweds will pass a part of their honeymoon on the sea, returning to Coos Bay next Thursday.

The joke is really on the young folks, as their parents had "wind" of their plans.

Young Mast is a member of the Coquille high school football team and the bride is one of the belles of the valley.

R. H. Mast, Sr., cashier of the Farmers' & Merchants' Bank of Coquille, and treasurer of the Coquille River Transportation Co., laughed over the elopement when relating the needlessness of the sea voyage taken by the couple.

"THE MAN WHO CAME BACK"

Additional Reel at Royal Theater Will Show Treatment of Tubercular Patients.

A show of unusual educational value will be given at the Royal Theater Saturday evening, when there will be a reel showing in every detail the treatment of patients at the tuberculosis sanatorium conducted by the Modern Woodmen of America, where all beneficiary members are treated free. The title of the reel is, "The Man Who Came Back."

As the sanatorium has during the four years of its existence saved the lives of 1102 members carrying policies aggregating $1,723,000, the order finds the free treatment of members a paying investment.

In addition to this special reel there will be four of the regular reels. Admission is 5c and 10c as usual.

Free treatment for tuberculosis is only one of the benefits offered by the Modern Woodmen. Now is the time to join. Send or hand your application to A. L. Monroe, Consul or Harry Short, Clerk.

WOULD HAVE STATE OR COUNTY CARE FOR THE SICK.

Cottage Grove, Ore., Nov. 20, 1914.—Ed. Sentinel: Recognizing The Sentinel as a means of education and communication with fellow citizens, I ask space for a few thoughts.

Why not make some provision for those in need of medical help? Every neighborhood has to care for the sick and maimed more or less anyway. Why not have a medical corps equipped with the best modern facilities and supported by a county or state tax where the sufferer can have better treatment than any common home can give. I am sure that many a precious life would be saved that is lost by our present method and it will be cheaper than sitting up nights, often exposing many.

There is much that can be said on this subject. I would be glad to hear from others and see something done. UNCLE C. L. A.

BOHEMIA AGAIN HAS MAIL SERVICE

The contract calls for a service of three times a week from May 1 to November 30 and once a week from December 1 to April 30. The miners and farmers along the route have been greatly inconvenienced during the time the route has been temporarily without service.

CALL SPECIAL CONFERENCE

Unemployment, Simpler Government of State; Water Power Projects, Some of Subjects.

To discuss three definite legislative problems, a special session of the state Commonwealth Conference will be held in Villard Hall at the University of Oregon, Eugene, on Thursday, Friday and Saturday, December 10, 11 and 12. Governor-elect James Withycombe is to open the conference.

The three main topics will be: 1.—Unemployment. 2.—Greater economy and efficiency in state administration. 3.—Hydro-electric districts, made up of a city, as a nucleus, and its tributary watershed area.

The three days of consideration are to culminate in appointment of committees, each of which is to draft the recommendations to the proper committee in the Oregon legislature. The presumption is that the recommendations in each case will reach the legislature of next January in the form of a bill.

Making Many Happy.

Several Cottage Grove families will be made happy Thanksgiving Day through the efforts of Rev. H. N. Aldrich, who has made an effort to locate all those to whom help would be acceptable. Mr. Aldrich thinks there is no need of suffering here if everyone enters into the holiday spirit. There are comparatively few cases of real need, but several cases have been found where real distress would have soon followed but for the assistance rendered. Mr. Aldrich reports that he can still make use of a large amount of provisions. Clothing is also acceptable and those having anything that they would like to give can leave it at the church and it will be distributed where it will do good. Cash donations will also be welcomed. Clothing for men is the most needed at present.

Card of Thanks.

We wish to thank those who were so kind to us and who so greatly assisted us during our recent bereavement. The flowers furnished were especially appreciated.

Farmers' Week at the Agricultural College has been postponed to February 1 to 6, 1915. The changed and enlarged character of the exercises have made this change necessary. Many conventions of leaders of the various agricultural interests of the state will be held at that time in addition to the special technical instruction and demonstration commonly given. Leaders of national reputation from various parts of the country and from the U. S. Department of Agriculture will be present to address these conventions.

In the spelling contest last year in the Lane County schools cash prizes were awarded. Since that time teachers have complained that the money smacked too much of commercialism and have requested Superintendent E. J. Moore to change the prizes for this year and make them something of intrinsic and permanent value. In order to get a vote upon the matter Superintendent Moore is mailing circular letters to the schools of the county asking for an expression of opinion.
