FADS AND FANCIES

Cabbages should never be boiled longer than 30 minutes, for when the time is lengthened, the leaves lose their tenderness and become soft and dark colored.

In making griddle cakes of any kind, do not add the baking powder until just as you cook them. The cakes will be much lighter if this plan is followed.

An easy way to peel apples is to pour scalding water over them, and then the skins may be easily removed, and much labor and waste saved.

By rubbing the bathtub with crumpled newspaper as soon as it is thoroughly dry, every bit of grease, soap, lint and the marks from the water will be easily and quickly removed. It is not necessary to do any scouring if the tub is smooth, but it is quite necessary that it be dry.

Lettuce leaves teach a lesson in economy. Large leaves which Americans throw away are saved by the French and if there are a sufficient they are braised in some good gravy as a vegetable, tossed with bacon fat and vinegar in a covered frying pan and served as wilted lettuce, or cooked in broth with cream added for cream of lettuce soup. A few lettuce leaves and a spoonful of sugar added to green peas, or even tinned peas, give them a delicious flavor, and lettuce leaves are also added to pea soup with good results.

Outside cabbage leaves are never thrown away by the French but are saved, chopped and cooked with a piece of salt pork to give them an incomparable flavor. Then a little cream is added and perhaps a few croutons of dried bread. The result is a delicious vegetable.

If the French housewife peels peaches or apples, does she throw away the parings? Never—She drops them into little porcelain saucepans with the requisite amount of sugar and water and presently there is a tumbler full of delicious jelly.

Every scrap of meat, gristle, sinew and bone goes into the stock pot and every bit of drippings is saved for frying purposes. Every scrap of cheese is carefully grated and forms the basis of a dish of cheese soufflé, made with some bread crumbs and a little milk and an egg or put into an omelet or dish of scrambled eggs.

Now Eaton Against Selling.

The contest for the speakership of the house of representatives in the next session of the state legislature has narrowed down to Allen H. Eaton of Eugene, and Ben Selling of Portland, according to advices from Portland, the seat of political activities just before the convening of all sessions of the legislature. The entire Multnomah delegation in the house has declared itself for Selling and now Eaton will have to depend upon his strength outside of Portland for support.

It is said that it was the fear of the strength of Mr. Eaton that brought the Multnomah speakership to a crisis.

Quickest Dance in the World.

The Godavari dance of the malayers, or drummers, of Malabar is a very popular function when the native farmers are taking their ease after the hard work of harvest. The principal character is a weird figure supposed to represent the sacred cow of the gods, Kamachenu. A small boy carries this about while the other performers, decked out in primitive fashion with painted bodies and hideous masks, go through a weird dance, accompanied by much drum beating and singing. Wherever it goes the cow is supposed to shower blessings and prosperity, and so, ostensibly to please the animal, but in reality to satisfy the dancers, presents of money, paddy or rice are given to the performers. This custom has been in existence from time immemorial and is likely to continue as long as agriculture endures among the Hindus of Malabar.—Wide World Magazine

Lots of Places.

"What's the matter?" asked the policeman of the tramp. "Haven't you any place to go?" "Any place ter go?" was the contemptuous reply. "I've got the whole United States before me. I've got so many places ter go dat it's worryin' me dizzy makin' up my mind which way ter start."

Does Man's Responsibility to Those Dependent Upon Him End at Death?

THE LOVE and care that do not extend both sides of the grave, are short at one end. Statistics show that less than five in a hundred save a competence for dependent old age. Every family has an intention to save, but seldom is the intention carried into practice. Sicknes, additional family, temporary loss of employment, are the obstacles. But do you know of any renter who escapes paying rent? No! Then you admit that every renter could save his rent by applying it on a home purchase, and every such home-buyer would extend his responsibility to his family both sides of the grave. Apply at Sentinel office for particulars of home that can be purchased by merely paying rent.
