SOME SIGNS OF QUICKENING IN INDUSTRY

Wagon Manufacturer Receives $15,000,000 Order from Europe.—Packing Co. Sells 5,000,000 Tins of Canned Meat.

(Editorial in Portland Telegram) You are in doubt about there being any tangible evidence of an awakening industry? You should wake up! Even in your own immediate locality there is indubitable evidence of better trade and industrial revival. You can note this in the increased exports of staples from this port. You may note it in the improved prices of the principal products of the section; and reflected therefrom there is a steadily increasing hum in industrial circles.

But it is at the centers of big activity that we get a tabulation of the tangible facts. We can gather these, if we choose to look for them, and even if we do not choose, they stare at us from the pages of almost any of the papers published in the larger cities. For instance: The Studebaker company has orders from England to the total of $15,000,000, calling for wagons, sleds, harness and all sorts of army equipment it is able to furnish.

The Cudahy Packing Company received a contract for 5,000,000 tins of corned beef, for British army consumption. The South Omaha plant, closed for several years, will be opened to fill this contract.

The Steel Corporation has increased its force at the South Chicago plant by 2000 workmen, making the operation of that plant come up to 70 per cent of its capacity, in contrast with 30 per cent last September, which was the time of lowest ebb.

The same corporation has ordered its mines in West Virginia—closed since last spring—put upon full time and full capacity.

Shipments of cotton are increasing rapidly. Stock exchanges are opening; shippers of the East have orders that will work them to their full capacity for an indefinite period; inquiries are pouring into this country from neutral nations as well as from those at war; and the world attitude toward the U. S. is, that it is the storehouse from which supplies may be drawn.

Verily, brethren, we are on the eve, if not in the very midst, of better things.

STATE TROOPS ADVISED TO BE IN READINESS

The Eugene Register this morning says: "Engine military men have received information that there is great activity in Portland and at Vancouver barracks on the part of the United States army authorities in the way of preparations for movement of troops, the supposition being that the government is getting ready for 'eventualities' in the Mexican situation."

"According to reports from Portland, military headquarters at Vancouver barracks have obtained from the Northern Pacific Terminal Company and from the operating heads of the railroads centered in Portland, complete and detailed information regarding the amount of passenger and freight equipment and motive power that would be available for use for immediate mobilization and dispatch of troops to the southward should such emergency measures be deemed advisable. The Southern Pacific Company has been notified to be in readiness to move not only large forces of troops of the three branches of the service, with complete equipment but the railroads have been notified that they should be ready to handle, on a few hours' notice, large numbers of volunteer forces, national guardsmen, marines, coast artillery troops and their necessary impediments."

There is no need of purchasing printed matter outside of the city. The Sentinel can duplicate any job done anywhere and its prices on the regular run of commercial work are the same as those paid for cheaper and inferior work.
