VanDenburgs Entertain.

Mrs. Chas. VanDenburg and her daughter, Miss Eunice VanDenburg, entertained a number of their friends Wednesday and Friday afternoons. The rooms were decorated with streamers of red hearts. The invitations and entertainment were suggestive of a birthday party. The ladies had been requested to represent the months of their birth. Some of the costumes caused much mirth and comment. Mesdames Compton and Eakin won honors in the word guessing contest.

The invited guests for Wednesday were Mesdames Geo. Hall, Wm. Hall, J. I. Jones, Joe Porter, John Silsby, Chas. Burkholder, Chas. Shinn, H. J. Shinn, Edward Jones, J. H. Chambers, N. E. Compton, J. E. Dunton, Wm. Johnson, J. C. Johnson, Alfred Powell, I. M. Harvey, Chas. Caldwell, C. E. Umphrey, W. C. Conner, Ilma Benger, S. L. Mackin, Miss Belle Burkholder.

The guests for Friday were Mesdames H. A. Miller, W. W. McFarland, C. Cruson, H. H. Veatch, B. S. Swengel, Jennie Fishburne, O. L. Nichols, Elbert Bede, Herbert Eakin, C. E. Frost, A. W. Kime, W. B. Cooper, A. C. Kinter, Helen Silsby, George Kerr, Ben Groff, Amos Wampole, D. H. Hemenway, Misses Esther Silsby, Lulu Currin and Neva Perkins.

The Dozen or More Club met with Mrs. Merryman Saturday afternoon. Fancy work and games were the diversion of the afternoon. Refreshments were served, consisting of sandwiches, pickles, cake oranges, pineapples and bananas. Those present were: Helen Rodolph, Eva Hartung, Ermine Violette, Clara Milne, Enid Veatch, Susie Witherwax, Rousma Armstrong, Marie Veatch, Fay Cooley, Elva Cox, Delia Medley, Grace Harding and Myrtle Potts.

The Constellation Club was pleasantly entertained in the banquet room at Masonic hall Thursday afternoon by Mesdames Herbert Eakin and Henry Veatch. At the next meeting Mesdames Gleason and Hall will be the hostesses.

Friday evening was social night at the Eastern Star. At conclusion of the regular communication of the Chapter, a social time was enjoyed by the members and refreshments were served. Mesdames Allison, Atkinson and Aldrich and Misses Della Atkinson and Helen Banta were the hostesses. These socials will be given at the first meeting in every month indefinitely.

Dorena, Ore., Feb. 15.—The Christian Endeavor Society held its annual business meeting at the home of Mrs. Kirk Friday evening. After the business session the remainder of the evening was spent in a social time. The valentine idea was carried out in the decorations and in the amusements of the evening. The game of "travel" served as a delightful pastime until a late hour, Mrs. Thomason carrying off the highest honors. Light refreshments were served to about forty.

Mrs. Ben Groff and Mrs. C. E. Frost entertained Tuesday evening at the Frost apartments. The rooms were prettily trimmed with red hearts and the valentine idea was carried out throughout the evening. Five hundred was the diversion of the evening and dainty refreshments were served. The invited guests were: Mr. and Mrs. C. Cruson, Mr. and Mrs. K. K. Mills, Mr. and Mrs. D. J. Scholl, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Grant, Mrs. Burkholder and Miss Belle Burkholder, Mr. and Mrs. Van Allison, Mr. Ren Sanford, Miss Robinson, Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Cooper, Mr. and Mrs. D. H. Hemenway, Mr. and Mrs. M. L. Scovell, Mr. and Mrs. Elbert Bede.

The Rebekah Social Club met in Odd Fellows Hall Friday afternoon. The time was spent in needlework and social chat. Refreshments were served. The hostesses were Mrs. Caldwell, Mrs. Fullmer and Alma Teeters. The following officers were elected: President, Mrs. Cad Wallace; secretary, Mrs. Sterling.

The supper given at the Christian Church Saturday in honor of the schools and teachers of the city was splendidly attended and satisfactory in every way. Besides the splendid supper a volunteer program was given, consisting of solos, school songs, readings, etc. Most of those who attended lingered to enjoy these and to meet one another in a social way. These suppers are deservedly popular and will probably be renewed in the near future.

FADS AND FANCIES.

I find that by taking a lemon and cutting it in two and squeezing the juice into the dishwater I need no soap, writes a contributor to Los Angeles Express. The lemon will cut all grease and in a few days' time the silver, such as knives, forks, and spoons, will become bright as new. All dark spots will also disappear from pitchers and cups. Use lemon over and over again.

If boiled frosting becomes rough and crumbly, beat a lump of butter into it. The frosting will become smooth and creamy again.

It should be a matter of common knowledge, since flour is always within convenient reach, that wheaten flour is the best extinguisher to throw over a fire caused by the spilling and igniting of kerosene.

* * *

Browned flour makes delicious brown gravies. Put in a pie plate and set it on top of the stove or in a very hot oven. When it begins to brown, it should be constantly stirred until brown all through.

Mice will not reopen any hole that has been filled with any mixture containing lye. Flour and lye make a good paste for the purpose.

To Clean White Furs: Mix one cup of Twenty Mule Team borax with two cups of flour. Rub this into the furs with a Turkish wash cloth or by handfuls. Rub well for twenty minutes or more, laying the fur out flat on a towel or white cloth. Roll up.

Lest the Ribbon Slip: Ribbon often slips out from beading in underwear, causing annoyance. To overcome this sew a small lace button on each end of the ribbon or tape; then the end cannot slip.

"Pennies make dollars," says the wise saw. And although a yeast cake costs only a couple of cents, and a half a yeast cake seems hardly worth saving, it is quite possible to save it. Often it is inconvenient to get a yeast cake at a moment's notice, so one kept on hand would prove convenient. This is the way to keep one—in whole or in part—simply immerse it in flour or salt until needed.

To clean windows satisfactorily a little turpentine dissolved in warm water is the best thing to use. Kerosene in a little warm water is also satisfactory.

Almost everyone who has tried to clean tatting by washing it knows it is almost impossible to restore the picots to their natural shape in this way. A better way is to soak the tatting in gasoline and while they are wet dust all the pieces with cornstarch. Wrap them in a clean towel and leave them for several hours. Beat the towel lightly, lift out the lace and shake it free of the starch. Press the picots into the correct shape and iron lightly on the wrong side.

Perspiration stains may be removed from white blouses without any trouble if they are soaked before washing in cold water, to which a little carbonate of soda has been added.

* * *

To remove old putty with little work and trouble, pass a hot soldering iron over it. This softens it and it is then easily removed.

* * *

The best way to warm up a roast of meat is to wrap it thickly in greased paper, and keep it covered while in the oven. By having it covered the steam will prevent the meat from becoming hard and dry, and it will become heated through in less time.

Venetian Eggs.

Bring to the boiling point two cans of the tomato pulp that is sold as soup, season with salt and pepper and add a good piece of butter. Grate half a pound of sharp cheese and mix with it three beaten eggs. When this mixture is quite smooth pour it into the tomato very slowly, stirring steadily. Heat it over the fire until it thickens like custard. Serve in a covered dish on toast.

Best Cookie Pans.

The best cookie pans for baking cookies are caramel tins obtained from the grocer. As the tins are usually discarded when empty, they cost little or nothing. The tins are seventeen by eleven inches and one inch high. From fifteen to two dozen cookies can be baked in one tin. The tins are easily handled and easily cleaned.

Home-Made Candies.

Walnut Creams—Ingredients are two cupfuls of sugar, one-half cupful of water, a pinch of cream tartar, one cupful of chopped black walnut meats, and one teaspoonful of vanilla extract. Without stirring the mixture, boil the sugar, water and cream tartar together until it forms a soft ball when tried in cold water. Beat until it becomes white and creamy. Take from the stove and set in a basin of cold water for three minutes. Then add the vanilla and the chopped nut meats. Pour into buttered pans and mark in squares.

Cocoanut Creams—Two pounds of granulated sugar, moistened with the milk of one medium sized cocoanut. Boil together until very heavy thread will spin from spoon to spoon. Take from the fire and beat until it begins to turn white. Put in grated cocoanut. Drop in little flat cakes on well buttered pan.

Brown Cream Taffy—To two pounds of brown sugar add one teaspoonful of vinegar, butter the size of an egg and one-half cup of water.

Boil all together until it is hard when a little is dropped in cold water. Add four drops of extract of orange, pour onto well greased pan; when cool enough to handle pull until creamy.

Chocolate Mints—Knead fondant until soft and smooth, adding either peppermint or wintergreen. Form into watershaped pieces and dip in melted chocolate.

Candy Don'ts.

Don't scrape the saucepan when turning out fudge or fondant. This will cause the candy to grain.

Don't use the gray granite pans to boil candy. Use white lined pans, as crystals as well as scorch show on the white surface much more readily.

Don't begin making fondant with an entire recipe. Use only a quarter or a half of the given amount until you are sure you can succeed.

Don't set candy in a refrigerator to cool. Put it in a cool dry place in a current of air.

Don't keep candy in an open receptacle. Air-tight boxes are the proper thing.

Don't throw away a syrup that has boiled past the desired stage; add a little water and boil up again.

Baked Meat Dumplings.

Make a dough as for shortcake, roll out and cut in squares. Take one cupful of boiled ham or other cold meat, one cupful of bread crumbs, one cupful hot mashed potatoes, two eggs, pepper, salt and butter to season. Beat all well together and place one large spoonful in the center of each square, bringing the corners all together in the center and pinch them so they will hold. Bake in a quick oven.—Mother's Magazine.

Where Minimum Wage Law Hurts.

(Chas. H. O'Neil in Walla Walla Spectator)

The minimum wage law is now a two-edged sword—it cuts both ways. Its practical application proves that it is a good thing for the girl who has a job; that is it makes her job possibly more remunerative, but it cuts down the number of jobs, and it is a mighty bad law for the girl who is thrown out of work by reason of its application. Understand me, I am strong for the ideal; I would like to see every man and every woman perfect morally and physically; I would like to see poverty and privation and suffering banished from the world; I would like to see social conditions where every man and woman would be awarded his or her full measure of the good things of life.

Here's the rub, though: if we depend upon man-made laws through legislative enactments to bring these good things to us we will get gloriously left. This minimum wage law is an example—it serves part of the people and works a grave injustice to another part; that is to say, it benefits, for the sake of figures, 100 girls, and absolutely injures 25. Now, the question is, what is going to become of those 25 girls? They have just as much right to live as the majority it will be conceded. Yet the law arbitrarily says that they must be sacrificed for the sake of the 100.

You see in passing a minimum wage law it was never contemplated that such a law would throw anybody out of work. The idea was that the employer would be compelled to pay higher wages to the same number of employes. But when the matter was passed up to a lot of employers they could not cut the mustard and in order to comply with the law they just reduced their forces.

Supposing some gink would get it into his head to have a law passed requiring this newspaper to pay $1000 a month to the foreman of this newspaper office. From one point of view it would be an excellent law; it would apparently raise the wages of the workingman to a comfortable sum; but when one examined the effect of such a law it would be found that its only effect was to throw the foreman out of a job. It's a case of driving a horse to water. You can pass any kind of a law you want, but the trouble is you can't always get the effect that you desire—the horse won't drink because his esophagus has been plugged and he can't drink if he would. You can pass minimum wage laws, but the results are you work a hardship upon the employer that he can not stand and is compelled to retire as an employer or curtail his force. There are a lot of working girls in the state of Washington today who are wishing the minimum wage law had never been passed, as there are a lot of employers who have been crippled in their business because of the law.

A Tongue Twister.

(This is said to be a certain cure for the hiccough if repeated in one breath)

When a twister a-twisting will twist him a twist,
For the twisting of his twist he three times doth untwist;
But if one of the twines of the twist do untwist,
The twine that untwisteth, untwisteth the twist,
Untwirling the twine that untwisteth between,
He twirls, with the twister, the two in a twine;
Then twice having twisted the twines of the twine,
He twisteth the twine he had twisted in twain.
The twain that, in twining, before in the twine,
As twines were untwisted, he now doth untwine;
'Twixt the twain intertwisting a twine more between,
He, twirling his twister, makes a twist of the twine. —Selected.
