Treble Clef Club Entertains.

An unusually pleasing entertainment was that given by the Treble Clef Club at the Herbert Eakin residence Friday evening. The spacious home was barely able to accommodate the hundred or more invited guests present. The program, which was of unusual merit and very acceptably rendered, was as follows:

PART I.

- a—My Heart's in the Highlands.....Penschel
- b—The Little Dustman.....Brahms
- Little Gypsy Sweetheart.....Chorus
-From Opera The Fortune Teller
- Jessie McCord
- a—Mighty Lak's Rose.....Ethelbert Nevin
- b—The Cuckoo.....Carl Fetting
- Euterpean Quartet
- Little Bird Why Singest Thou?.....Veta Holderman
- Across the Still Lagoon.....Henri Loge
- Mesdames Adams, Nichols, Cruson, Griggs, Wampole, Miss Lockwood
- The Mermaids.....Pinsutti
- Miss Lockwood, Mrs. Short

PART II.

- O Lovely Night.....Offenbach
- Springtide.....Edwin Greene
- You Spotted Snakes.....Mac Farren
- Time of Youth.....Pinsutti
- To Sevilla.....Dessauer
- The Dusk Witch.....Ambrose
- All numbers were so well rendered that it would be hard to say that one was distinctly better than another. Patronesses: Mrs. Herbert Eakin, Mrs. Clara Burkholder, Mrs. Lee Roy Woods, Mrs. B. R. Job, Mrs. George Hall, Mrs. H. A. Miller, Mrs. E. R. Spencer, Mrs. Karl Mills. Club Members: Mrs. Adams, Mrs. Nichols, Mrs. Griggs, Mrs. Short, Mrs. Wampole, Mrs. Cruson, Miss Harms, Miss Silsby, Miss McCord, Miss Bartel, Miss Holderman, Miss Smith, Miss Lee, Miss Perkins, Miss Lockwood. Accompanist: Mrs. Griswold. Messrs. White, Edwards and Callison acted as ushers. Punch and wafers were served at the reception following the entertainment.

Men Serve Supper.

One of the most successful social functions of the season was the supper and entertainment given at the Methodist Church Wednesday evening. The supper was served by the men of the official board who did remarkably well, although some showed a little excitement when the demands of women patrons came too rapidly. The entertainment was given by the Monday Night Musical Club, which had completed its season's work. The following program was very acceptably rendered:

- Instrumental, "Barcarole".....Roberts
- Orchestra
- Song, "The Heavens Are Telling".....Hayden
- Chorus
- Duet, "All Things Are Beautiful".....Glover
- Misses Hooper and Lizar

- Song, "The Radiant Morn".....Woodard
- Chorus
- Trio, "Thy Glory Fills the Heavens".....Sudds
- Mrs. Leon DesLarzes, Messrs Aldrich and Umphey
- Ladies' Quartet, "Water Lilies".....Linders
- Mesdames DesLarzes, Beager, Brund, Miss Armstrong
- Piano Solo, "Overture to William Tell".....Donizetti
- Miss Isabel Boldon
- Chorus, "Carmenia".....Wilson
- Chorus
- Solo, "Tonight".....Zardo
- Mrs. Leon DesLarzes
- Quartet, "Bedouin Song".....Foote
- Mesdames DesLarzes, Beager, Messrs. Umphey and Aldrich
- Song, "Italia".....Donizetti
- Chorus
- Instrumental, "The Templars".....Beilstein
- Orchestra

The solos by Mrs. Leon DesLarzes were easily the feature of the program. The orchestra was in charge of Prof. Murphy. Misses Genevieve Jury and Isabel Boldon were accompanists. Miss Boldon's piano solo was very artistically rendered. Although the object of the entertainment was only to have a good social time, a tidy sum was netted.

The Women's Missionary Society of the Christian Church met with Mrs. A. W. Kime Thursday afternoon. Jamaica was the subject discussed. Special music and other forms of entertainment made the afternoon a most enjoyable one. At the close of the program Mrs. Leon DesLarzes favored the company with a delightful solo. A delicious two-course luncheon was served and a social hour enjoyed.

Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Boldon gave a neighborhood party Friday evening. Pedro formed the diversion of the evening. Dainty refreshments were served. The guests were: Mr. and Mrs. F. J. Ridings and family, Mr. and Mrs. Geo. McQueen and family, Mr. and Mrs. James Potts and family, Miss Bessie and Albert Griffin, Misses Ipha Widderheim and Mildred Pringle, Mr. and Mrs. Elbert Bede.

Mrs. Elbert Bede entertained the Emanuel Club Thursday afternoon. The time was spent over the sewing of the guests and in conversation. Light refreshments were served. Mrs. F. J. Ridings and Mrs. James Potts were guests.

The Social Twelve Club met Thursday afternoon with Mrs. Geo. M. Hall for its annual meeting. Reports of the year's work were received and the following officers elected: President, Mrs. N. E. Compton; vice-president, Mrs. A. L. Monroe; secretary, Mrs. Clara Burkholder. A vote of thanks was extended the retiring officers for their work during the year. Refreshments were served. The table decorations were hollyhocks. The membership of this club is composed as follows: Mrs. N. E. Compton, Mrs. Herbert Eakin, Mrs. Geo. Hall, Mrs. Will Hall, Mrs. L. S. Hill, Mrs. Ben Larch, Mrs. J. S. Medley, Mrs. H. A. Miller, Mrs. A. L. Monroe, Mrs. Clara Burkholder, Mrs. B. R. Job, Mrs. Geo. Kerr, Mrs. H. H. Vench, Mrs. W. H. Abrams of Eugene, and Mrs. F. W. Robbins of California are honorary members.

The Constellation Club meets Thursday in Masonic Hall.

Chapter No. 2 of the Epworth League met at the Methodist parsonage last night with the president, Fred Aldrich. The decorations were Ireland green. The evening was spent in games and amusements. Refreshments were served. About 60 were present.

The Royal Neighbors Club met yesterday afternoon with Mrs. A. W. Kime. The afternoon was spent by the guests over their fancy work. A two-course luncheon was served. Guests in addition to club members were as follows: Mrs. Compton, Mrs. Alice Knox, Mrs. H. J. Shins, Mrs. Geo. Hall, Mrs. Van Denburg, Mrs. J. M. Durham, Mrs. Fishburn, Mrs. J. V. Stewart, Mrs. D. H. Hemenway.

The W. C. T. U. will meet at three o'clock Friday afternoon with Mrs. L. A. DeSpain. All members requested to be present.

The M. P. G. Club met yesterday afternoon with Mrs. Roy Smith. The afternoon was spent in the usual manner. The decorations and service carried out the St. Patrick's Day idea. Invited guests in addition to club members were as follows: Mrs. Herbert Eakin, Mrs. Howe, Miss Howe, Mrs. Chas. Beidler, Mrs. Geo. M. Scott.

FADS AND FANCIES.

Handsome isn't always handsome as he thinks he is. Many a man wakes up and finds himself infamous. The less a woman means it the louder she can laugh. Marriage is responsible for the loss of many a vacation. Better be up and doing before the other chap beats us to it.

The United Railway Bulletin says the jitney buses are a craze, which makes us wonder why we never were suspected of lunacy before.

In heating the oven, the drafts should be closed when the coal is well started. In a word, to save fuel plan ahead and then watch draft.

When washing glassware do not put it in hot water bottom first. Slip it in sideways and turn quickly in the water and it will not snap.

If the turkey is not very fat, avoid its being dry after roasting by spreading butter over the outside, and baste it frequently, while it is roasting.

A pretty salad is made of lettuce leaves shredded, sliced red radishes and young onions sliced thin. Mix together with a good French dressing.

Tin is a great saving of the expense of equipping a kitchen, if one wishes the outlay to be as small as possible. But it should be the thickly coated kind.

Cold soft water and soda will remove machine grease from washable goods.

Soften pitch, wheel grease or tar stains with lard and soak in turpentine. Scrape off all the loose surface dirt with a knife, sponge clean with turpentine and rub gently until dry.

To renovate an alpaca skirt dampen a cloth and lay it on the wrong side of the material and press with a moderately warm iron until the cloth is dry; continue in the same way all around the skirt.

Fig Turnovers.

Sift together three cupfuls of whole wheat flour, two teaspoonfuls of baking powder and a scant half teaspoonful of salt. Rub in a tablespoonful of shortening; add gradually one cup of milk to which one beaten egg has been added. The dough must be soft so that it may be rolled out readily to half an inch in thickness. Cut with a large, round biscuit cutter. Dip a knife in flour and make a dent in each round of the dough; turn over and put in the pocket a tablespoonful of finely chopped figs; brush with white of egg and fold the two halves together as you would in making Parkerhouse roll. Brush with milk and bake in a quick oven. Serve hot with top milk or cream.

Banana Salad.

Take off one section of banana skin, remove the fruit and cut in dice. Mix with equal quantities of celery, cut fine and half as much minced pimento. Mix with cream mayonnaise and fill the banana skins. Sprinkle a little mayonnaise on top and decorate it with pimento cut in fancy shapes. Serve one banana to each person.

Another Reason Why.

I wish I could make all housekeepers understand the value that abides in slow cookery. The ignorant kitchen worker seems to think tough meat shall be saved by its much boiling. In the chance it gets for slow cookery and for preserving all the zest of the meat lies the chief value of the fireless cooker. Its other merits are great—it is an economy of fuel, a promoter of comfort in that it retains odors which would otherwise fill the house, it saves a great deal of work and watching to cook—but perhaps the end it accomplishes of making meat tender and good to the taste by slow cookery and the wholesomeness of the product thus prepared puts it in the front rank of household helps. I wish I could preach the gospel of deliberate cookery as exemplified in a low fire or a turned down flame and in the fireless cooker from one end of the country to the other. With the conversion to this belief would go banishment of the theory that rapid cooking is good for anything on earth except a few articles, such as certain vegetables, sauces, gravies, etc. But these are few in comparison to the others and there are not many even of these that would be injured by leisurely methods, whereas, there are many of the others that are hopelessly impaired by the "galloping boil," to which I have already referred.—Marian Harland.

Rev. Frank Wheeler of Marshalltown, Iowa, visited over Sunday at the W. P. Cooper and I. A. Randall homes while on his way home from the fair.
E. R. Spencer was in Sutherlin, Oregon last week on a business trip.
Mrs. N. H. Martin leaves today for a week's visit with her mother in Portland.
Joe Burnett and son are building a house on East Main St.
F. J. Ridings was in Marquam on business a couple days of the past week.

Onion Chowder.
This is another simple but tasty dish, especially when carefully prepared. Two cupfuls of onions are cooked very slowly, say for half an hour, they must not be brown, in three tablespoonfuls of butter. Then pour in three quarts of boiling water, one quart of potatoes cut into dice, salt and pepper to taste, and one tablespoonful of fine herbs.
Cook for an hour, when the chowder is freely to serve. It is said that eating freely of onion chowder will break up a bad cold.

Embroidered Neck Ribbons.
Embroidered or beaded neck ribbons, broad enough to support the new ruffles as serve as a foundation for turnover collars, are among the imported novelties which can easily be copied by any one with skill at fancy work.
While the length and width of these neck ribbons must be more or less dependent upon the proportions of the wearer, a ribbon from two to two and one-half inches in width can if necessary be sloped a little at the front if its full width is not suited to the wearer's neck. A length of two yards will, when adjusted, fall below the waist line in front.
The center of the ribbon is placed at the front of the neck. The ends are carried to the back, crossed flat as in an old-fashioned stock, and brought forward to the bust, where the ends are thrown over each other and allowed to hang. One of the new high-neck frills may be basted along the top of the ribbon where it encircles the neck, or two half-length frills may be basted one at each side of the front leaving an open space just under the chin. A fine turnover collar may be basted entirely around the neck space, or two points of lace or embroidery may be placed on either side of the front. Satin, taffeta, moire and velvet ribbons are all used.
The decoration of the neck ribbon appears in five places, the all-important ornamentation coming at the middle, which is at the front of the neck. The other designs are in pairs, one set just above the bust, so that the embroidery shows conspicuously when the ribbon ends are thrown over each other; the other two designs appearing at each end above the deep fringe, which is the usual finish. The fringe weights the ends, and keeps them from becoming displaced. In order to arrive at the exact places for the two designs near the crossing of the ribbons, it is best to adjust the ribbon and run in two sets of basting to indicate the extent of the ornamentation at these points.

Designs copied from jeweled neckbands are appropriate for the beautiful-ness of these ribbons, especially in the center, where the design is more elaborate. Several sprigings of beads with festooned loops of beads between are effective carried out in steel beads on a black ribbon, and the same design can be adapted for use at the other ornamented spaces on the ribbon. Brilliant colored beads are much used on dark background, the long bugle beads being used for petals of bright, geometrical flowers and leaves. The various colorings. Smaller colored beads are used in connection with embroidery, for the veining of leaves and center of flowers.

Some of the prettiest of the neck ribbons which are copied from the imported models are of bright colored velvet ribbon embroidered in cut jet beads. A latticework design is across the front of a mustard colored neck ribbon, with little pendants of jet swinging in each diamond shaped opening. The effect at the front is of an elaborate dog collar and the ornamented thrown over ends are the only garniture needed on a chiffon or lace blouse.

Gold, silver and dull metal threads are also much in vogue for this class of work and the sketchy embroidery done in darning stitch with tinsel threads and a few beads gives excellent results.

BLACK FOR EVENING.

Gowns For Festive Occasions
Fashioned of This Somber Color.

BLACK EVENING GOWN.

Never has the black evening gown been so popular for both old and young. Fashion, owing to the influence of Paris, continues her allegiance to somber shades. The fascinating evening frock here pictured is of black satin. Over the satin fall three tunics of accordion plaited net. A novel feature of the frock is the wide grille, simulating a basque. This grille is of dull gold net set with jet ornaments. The simple little bodice is of black velvet, a material that brings out to perfection the delicate tints of the skin.

AIRING BED CLOTHES.

Sunshine For Both Sides of the Mattress is Necessary.
Many housekeepers think they air beds by throwing the bedclothes over the foot of the bed and the mattress over them, but this is simply airing the underside of the mattress and smothering the bedclothes.
Some persons also think that to air a bed properly it must lie this way about half the day, giving a very untidy appearance to the room.
The proper way to air a bed, if bedclothes are not removed from the bed and placed on chairs, is to throw them over the footboard across a chair placed to keep them off the floor and then lift the mattress in the middle, tilting it up so that air passes under and over it. One half hour of this will thoroughly air a bed, the windows to be open all the time of course.

Air and sunshine are the best purifiers on the market, and they are also the cheapest. If sufficiently used they are enough to meet the need of a healthy family.
Air the closets and wardrobes just as you do the room. They are full of clothes that have been worn all day, which need airing.

Cleaning Pots and Pans.
Keep at hand a small quantity of coarse cornmeal or coarse wheat bran, and when cleaning greasy cooking utensils rub a handful in the pan, kettle or skillet. You will be surprised how clear of grease it will leave the utensil. Wash it then in good soapy water, scald and set to air before putting away. If one keeps chickens the meal thus used is excellent in their mash feed. If not, fold in a waste paper and burn. This way keeps the sink clean and saves much hard work.

FOR EVENING WEAR.
Coral is a favorite shade in gowns for evening.
Dance frocks for young girls are both short and trained.
A lovely evening gown is of green crystal net over white satin.
Narrow, clinging lines of the middle ages are most in favor for evening gowns.
Many evening gowns have no sleeves, narrow jeweled shoulder straps being the substitute.
Some evening models have apron drapery in the front, and an odd thing about it is that the apron section falls longer than the foundation. The apron is of metallic lace.
The pointed décolletage is a thing of the past. The square cut neck line is in high favor and it is severely plain, being seldom softened with trimming of any description.
A great many beads and sequins are used on evening dresses, especially on white satin and net. Black nets with blue sequins and all shades of red over cream laces are used.

WHEN the basic conditions are right—as they are today—business needs only the right kind of thoughts and the right kind of talk to make it good. Here is something to do today: Every hour—on the hour—say that business is good. Say it to the man next to you on the street car. Say it to the man at the next desk. Say it to your lunch partner—to your boss—to your stenographer—to your customer—to the man who waits on you.

Say it to yourself, if you are alone—but say it. Every hour—on the hour—say that business is good.

The effect of that little phrase, repeated eight times in one day by a million men and women—or more—will be enough to overcome months of pessimistic thoughts and pessimistic talk.

For business will be good now, today, next week, and right along, if we merely say that it is good and stick to it.

CONSTANT repetition of the powerful little phrase will generate the unanimous confidence which is what business needs—all that business needs. For your own sake, for the sake of the man you work for and the men who work for you, for the sake of your family and friends, for the sake of the employed and the unemployed—say that business is good.

Eight times today, every hour—on the hour—during the business day, say that business is good. Tomorrow and next week remember that you have said it and remember that you were justified in saying it—because there is every reason why business in the Northwest should be not only good but better than ever before.

We are the market place for the Golden West, and our territory has a better material basis for prosperity than ever before. Our business is bound to be good if we, all of us, make up our minds to the fact.

Thought for today: Say that business is good.—Adapted from The Chicago Tribune.
