Geranium Luncheon.

The most stunning dinner or luncheon table imaginable is achieved when red geraniums are used exclusively as decoration. Nearly every one can obtain these brilliant flowers, and they are usually at their brightest when other blossoms in the window garden are on the wane.

Fill a large glass bowl with the scarlet petals, using their own rich leaves for the green. Red candles in holders of glass, scarlet paper bouillon and nut boxes, with ribbons of the same hue leading to the place cards, which should be white with a red geranium thrust through the corner should be adopted.

The hostess should be gowned in white, with red sash, flowers and slippers, or the dress may be of red muslin with white accessories.

First serve a cherry cocktail, then tomato bouillon, salmon croquettes with Julienne potatoes, beet salad and raspberry sherbet. The cakes may be iced in red, as there are harmless fruit confections. A confectioner will make cream patties to match in coloring if the order is given a few days ahead.

Smart Stationery.

Pure white is the most elegant style of stationery, especially for an elderly woman. For the debutante a tinted paper is in very good taste. This comes in pale salmon, oyster blue and dresden. Well in from the edge of the sheet and envelope runs a fine hair line in a darker shade to harmonize with the lighter tint. For instance, the salmon paper has a dull rose line and the oyster blue a cadet blue hair line.

Formerly a monogram was engraved in a corresponding shade in the corner of the sheet, but fashion no longer decrees this.

The correspondence paper for an older woman is more than ever elaborate this year. One style in pale French gray, with a heavy monogram in silver and black, is decidedly distinctive. Likewise a natural colored one with a dull brown and gold monogram, or perhaps the shaded tints of lavender and violet, with a two tone silver monogram, are in good taste for a woman who wishes something that will truly bespeak her personality.

Restaurant Etiquette.

There should be no conspicuous conduct in a dining room of a hotel or a public restaurant. Do not talk or laugh in a loud tone. Do not dispute with the waiter. Do not look around at other guests in an impertinent manner. Eat slowly, act with refinement and remember that you are in a public place. The restaurant is indeed a great test of the true lady and gentleman.

The end of the meal should be followed by your exit from the dining room. The lady precedes the gentleman on leaving the restaurant. At the door the gentleman will receive his hat, which has been taken from him on entering. Here there is a call for a tip of 10 cents if it be a restaurant of a large hotel and if the stay be just for one meal. There is much protest against this and the converted action of men is doing much toward minimizing this "holdup."

Privacy for Guests.

When the guest room has an occupant the children of the household should consider it sacred and should never be allowed to enter or even to knock at its door without first consulting an older head.

Even a hostess sometimes spoils the pleasure of the loveliest of guest chambers by entering it too frequently with inquiries, etc.

Over entertainment is really worse than none at all. One may assume that a guest may perhaps want to be alone when she seeks her room.

When Women Call.

Ceremonious calls are not made between women in the morning, evening or on Sunday afternoons. A man, owing to the exactions of business, may call in the evening and on Sunday afternoon.

A woman should never call on a man socially. A business errand is the only occasion for a call from a woman to a man, and in such a case the lady calls during his business hours and sends in her name, not her visiting card.

Taking French Leave.

If you are unexpectedly obliged to leave a town where you have been entertained without returning any calls send back a card to those to whom you are indebted. Take your visiting card and write "P. P. C." on it, which is the French for "Pour prendre congé" and means "to take leave." Send these cards by post to all those to whom you owe calls. This will show that you are not unmindful of them and were prevented from calling.

Matching Partners.

A good way to match partners at any social affair is the following: Get two kinds of a variety of candies—say two caramels, two chocolate drops, two peppermint sticks, two gumdrops, two butter scotchies, etc. Pass one plate to the men and one to the women, and when candies are matched partners will be found. Another good way is to match flowers or animal crackers.

EARTH'S NEW KING

"They Knew Not the Time of Their Visitation."

Palm Sunday Portends Momentous Events—Jesus' Triumphant Entry into Jerusalem—Rejected by the Nation. He Rejected the Nation—Correspondences Between Messiah's First and Second Advents—Jewish Nation and Christendom Dealt With as Type and Antitype—Christendom Now Undergoing Test—Weighed In the Balance.

PASTOR RUSSELL

New York City, March 25th.—Pastor Russell spoke today at the New York City Temple, W. 63d St., near Broadway. His text was, "Hosanna; Blessed is He that cometh in the name of the Lord."—Mark 11:9. The momentous importance of the event which Christians commemorate on Palm Sunday was not understood by the Jews at the time of our Lord's First Advent.

The Jewish Sabbath had been spent in rest at Bethany. It was the next morning, corresponding to our Sunday, that Jesus made his triumphal entry into the city of Jerusalem as the Jewish King.

The incident had been foretold by the Prophet in detail, saying, "Rejoice greatly, O daughter of Zion; shout, O daughter of Jerusalem; behold, thy King cometh unto thee; He is just, and having salvation; lowly, and riding upon an ass."—Zechariah 9:9.

The awakening of Lazarus from death had brought a large concourse of people from Jerusalem to see Jesus. They were filled with enthusiasm and, after the custom of the time, many strewed palm branches in the way, while others spread their garments.

Prophecy Must Be Fulfilled.

The people shouted as the Prophet had foretold. They hailed Jesus as their long-promised King, the Messiah. On other occasions, when attempts were made to hail the Master thus, He withdrew Himself, because the Father's time was not yet due.

But now the appointed time had come, and hence, instead of hindering, He encouraged their enthusiasm. Prominent sectarian Jews were present, who, although unable to account for Jesus' raising of Lazarus, were loath to accept Him as the true Messiah; and when they heard the shouts of the multitude, they sent word requesting that He restrain them.

But instead of forbidding them, Jesus intimated that it was proper for them to do so. The Prophet had said, "Shout, O daughter of Jerusalem!" and there must be a shout.

Enroute to Jerusalem the Master halted the procession on the summit of the Mount of Olives, which overlooks the Holy City, and wept, while pronouncing His sentence.

Knew Not the Time of Their Visitation.

Apparently the nation was as unprepared as at first for the Messiah; hence the familiar words, "Behold, your House is left unto you desolate! For I say unto you, Ye shall not see Me henceforth till ye shall say, Blessed is He that cometh in the name of the Lord!" That Day is almost here! Meantime the nation has been cast off.

If thus we have before our minds the origin of Palm Sunday and what it signified, as the climax of the test of Natural Israel in respect to the acceptance of their Messiah, we are prepared to go further and to note that in God's providence there is a similar test for us Christians.

The Pastor called attention to the fact that while Israel as a nation was rejected, there was a small, faithful remnant who accepted Christ and thus became the nucleus or foundation of Spiritual Israel on the Day of Pentecost. Thus, so far as respects the Spiritual part of God's great promise to Abraham, it passed forever from the reach of the Jewish nation; but there still remains for them a glorious earthly portion, to which they will be introduced at Jesus' Second coming.

The Time of Our Visitation.

Apparently very few of Spiritual Israel, until recently, noticed that it had a history parallel to that of Natural Israel. Few indeed have seen that these two Israels have been dealt with as Type and Antitype. Small has been the number who have noticed that from the death of Jacob to the death of Jesus finds its exact parallel of 1845½ years between the death of Jesus and our day.

Few have noticed that in both Natural Israel and in Spiritual Israel there have been both a nominal and a real Israel. The nominal Jewish system was tried and all but the "Israelites indeed" failed. Likewise will be the experience of Spiritual Israel. The nominal Christian systems will be tried, and all in them will fall except the faithful spirit-begotten.

The Lord through the Prophet foretold that Messiah would be "for a stone of stumbling to both the Houses of Israel"—to Natural Israel and to Spiritual Israel. Many things indicate that we are living in a time corresponding to that Palm Sunday! Ours is Palm Sunday in the highest sense of all! How are we receiving the great blessings which betoken the parousia (presence) of the Master?
