

The New Baby

Only a few times in an entire life does a father and mother have the opportunity of announcing the arrival of a baby. Those few times are the proudest in their lives and they should take some pride in the manner of that announcement. Neatly printed announcements cost but little and are the real thing for such an occasion. Below we submit a suggestion for an announcement. Try it next time and see how well it takes.

STEP LIVELY NEWLYWED wishes to announce that he is now at home with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Newlywed, Cottage Grove, Oregon, where he will be pleased to entertain interested relatives and friends.

S. B. Nixon Celebrates Eighty-seventh Birthday Anniversary

The beautiful country home of W. E. and Lee Nixon was the scene of a pleasant dinner party and social gathering Sunday to celebrate the birthday of "grandfather" S. B. Nixon. At ten o'clock the cars and buggies began to arrive and by noon two dozen were present. The dining room was arranged with two long tables decorated with a birthday cake. One had the word "Father" on the top. This cake was made by Mrs. Geo. Hall, daughter of Mr. Nixon. The other was a mammoth angel cake baked and presented by Mr. Baker of the Baker Bros. Bakery. This cake was beautifully decorated in scroll work and bore the words "S. B. Nixon, Born 1828, Age 87." Mr. Nixon came to Oregon about a year ago from Kansas. He has been a member of the Methodist Episcopal Church almost his entire life. He has two children, W. E. Nixon and Mrs. Geo. Hall, both of Cottage Grove, also several grandchildren. He is in splendid health despite his advanced age. Many tokens of remembrance were tendered Mr. Nixon. The following were present: Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Nixon, Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Hall, son and daughter; Mr. and Mrs. W. P. Hall and son, Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Baker, Mr. and Mrs. John Baker, Mr. and Mrs. N. E. Compton and daughters, Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Nixon, Mr. and Mrs. Lee Nixon and daughter. All extended the Nixons hearty congratulations as royal entertainers.

Mrs. Scovell is a past matron.

The M. P. G. Club gave a farewell party Monday at the home of Mrs. Orville Spear for Mrs. Merle Scovell. The guest of honor was presented with a souvenir spoon bearing the club initials.

The Social Twelve Club met Thursday at the home of Mrs. Geo. Kerr. The afternoon was spent in the usual manner and refreshments served. Mrs. Helen Silsby and Miss Esther Silsby were guests.

The following interesting account of a society function appeared in a recent issue of the Mohalla Pioneer:

"The Needlecraft met at the home of W. H. Yoder Thursday, April 1. Of course that was April fool day, had to do something to fool them, so water and tooth picks were served. That started quite an excitement among the crowd to think they wasn't going to get any more to eat. We all said we were just starved to death, so the lady of the house saw plainly that she had to rattle something for them to eat to keep them from starving to death. We all said we were weak and pale, so she went out and found a large pan of doughnuts and two big plates of sandwiches and some coffee. So when we all got through we said 'I feel sorry for our husbands.' So we were all too full of lunch to go home right after lunch so we stayed until the lunch settled a little. So we said 'We must go home and get our husbands something to eat so we can go again.' So we all reported it was the best time we had at the Needlecraft for a long time."

OBSCURE MAID RISES TO PROMINENCE

Miss Whiteley's life should prove an inspiration to the growing generation. At the request of The Sentinel she has written a story of her life, of her accomplishments, her aims and her ambitions. Let her speak in her own remarkable English for one of her age and in her own buoyant way tell of how she is going about her Father's business.

"I was born in Whitman County, Wash., December 11, 1897. When nearly five years of age we moved to Lane County, Oregon, and when nearly six years of age we moved from near Wendling to my grandfather's farm at Walden station, about three miles from either clipped out of the papers and pasted in a little book I kept especially for that purpose or was copied in this book. Though now I feel that my work lies with the girls and boys of America, yet through my letters I am going to write to the juniors and through the books I am planning to write for them I hope that some day some of my juniors will go to far away India and carry to the boys and girls there the message of God's love as I planned and looked forward to doing when a child. Now my life work will be with the boys and girls of our own dear homeland, for though the mission work in the foreign lands is one of the noblest missions on earth and one in which we all should have some part, yet the homeland needs and is calling for teachers and leaders with ideals firm and true, ready with joy and gladness to take up the work with our boys and girls.

SIMPLE METHOD FOR MAKING OF JOURNALIST

Lamented Bill Nye's Spirit Brought Back From the Tomb to Dilate Upon Modern Methods for Development of Newspaper Men.

cessity for a thorough training upon it. We meet almost everywhere newspaper men who are totally unfitted for the high office of public educators through the all-powerful press. The woods is full of them. We know that not one out of a thousand of those who are today classed as journalists is fit for the position.

"I know that to be the case because people tell me so. I cannot call to mind today, in all my wide journalistic acquaintance, a solitary man who has not been pronounced an ass by one or more of my fellowmen. This is indeed a terrible state of affairs.

"In many instances these harsh criticisms are made by those who do not know, without submitting themselves to a tremendous mental strain, the difference between a lower case 'q' and the old Calvinistic doctrine of unanimous damnation, but that makes no difference; the true journalist should strive to please the masses. He should make his whole life a study of human nature and an earnest effort to serve the great reading world collectively and individually.

"This requires a man of course, with similar characteristics and the same general information possessed by the Almighty, but who would be willing to work at a much more moderate salary.

"You will observe how difficult it is to obtain this class of men. Outside of the sepulchral mental giant who supplies a gasping public with this information, and two or three others, perhaps—

"But never mind. I leave a grateful world to say that, while I map out a plan for the ambitious young journalist who might be entering upon the broad arena of newspaperdom, and preparing himself at a regularly established school for that purpose.

"Let the first two years be devoted to meditation and prayer. This will prepare the young editor for the surprise and consequent profanity which in a few years he may experience when he finds in his boss editorial that God is spelled with a little 'g.' and the preparation of the article has been taken out and carefully locked up between a death notice and the announcement of the birth of a cross-eyed infant.

"The ensuing five years should be spent in becoming familiar with the surprising and mirth-provoking orthography of the English language.

"Then would follow three years devoted to practice with dumb bells, sand bags and slung shots, in order to become an athlete. I have found in my own journalistic history more cause for regret over my neglect of this branch than any other. I am a pretty good runner, but aside from that I regret to say that as an athlete I am not a dazzling success.

"The above course of intermediate training would fit the student to enter upon the regular curriculum.

"Then set aside ten years for learning the typographical art perfectly, so that when visitors wish to look at the composing room, and ask the editor to explain the use of the 'hell box,' he will not have to blush and tell a gaudy lie about its being a composing stick. Let the young journalist study the mysteries of type setting, distributing, press work, galleys, italic, shooting sticks, type lines, and other mechanical implements of the printer's department.

"Five years should be spent in learning to properly read and correct proof as well as how to mark it on the margin like a Chinese map of the Gannison country.

"At least fifteen years should then be devoted to the study of American politics and the whole civil service. This time could be extended five years with great profit to the careful student who wishes, of course, to know thoroughly the names and records of all public men, together with the relative political strength of each party.

"He should then take a medical course and learn how to bind up contusions, apply arnica, courtplaster or bandages, plug up bullet holes and prospect through the human system for buckshot. The reason of this course, which should embrace five years of close study, is apparent to the thinking mind.

"Ten years should then be devoted to the study of law. No thorough metropolitan editor wants to enter upon his profession without knowing the difference between a writ of mandamus and other styles of profanity. He should thoroughly understand the entire system of American jurisprudence, and be as familiar with the more recent decisions of the supreme courts as New York people are with the semi-annual letter of Governor Seymour declining the presidency.

"The student will be by this time begin to see what is required of him and will enter with great zeal upon his adopted profession.

"He will now enter upon a theological course of ten years. He can then write a telling editorial on the great question of 'What We Shall Do to Be Saved' without mixing up Calvin and

"The closing ten years of the regular course might be profitably used in learning a practical knowledge of cutting cord wood, baking beans, making shirts, lecturing, turning double hand-springs, preaching the gospel, learning how to make a good adhesive paste that will not sour in hot weather, learning the art of scissors grinding, punctuation, capitalization, prosody, eticquette, sex, the ten commandments, every man his own teacher on the violin, croquet, rules of the prize ring, parlor magic, civil engineering, decorative art, kalsomining, bicycling, base ball, hydraulics, botany, poker, calisthenics, high low jack, international law, furo, rhetoric, fifteen-ball pool, drawing and painting, mule skinning, vocal music, horsemanship, plastering, bull whacking, etc., etc., etc."
"At the age of 95 the student will have lost that wild, reckless and impulsive style so common among younger and less experienced journalists. He will emerge from the school with a light heart and a knowledge box loaded up to the muzzle with the most useful information."
"The hey-day and springtime of life will, of course, be past, but the graduate will have nothing to worry him any more, except the horrible question which is ever rising up before the journalist, as to whether he shall put his money into government four per cents or purchase real estate in some growing town."

EFFECT OF GREAT KIDNEY REMEDY IS SOON REALIZED

I feel it my duty to let you know what Swamp-Root did for me. I was bothered with my back for over twenty years and at times I could hardly get out of bed. I read your advertisement and decided to try Swamp-Root. Used five bottles and it has been five years since I used it, and I have never been bothered a day since I took the last bottle of it. I am thoroughly convinced that Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root cured me and would recommend it to others suffering as I did.
My husband was troubled with kidney and bladder troubles and he took your Swamp-Root and it cured him. "his was about five years ago."
You may publish this letter if you choose.
