understanding in taking the item over the phone The Sentinel last week announced this meeting to have taken place the Friday before instead of announcing it for the approaching Friday.

FADS AND FANCIES.

If the little girl's petticoat is too short and there are no tucks to let out, open the seams on the shoulders and set in a piece of muslin.

When your satin slippers wear across the toe, a medallion can be knit and sewed on the worn part.

Root vegetables should be boiled gently with the lid on the vessel.

All vegetables, except old potatoes, should be put in plenty of fast boiling, salted water.

The popularity of the sweater usually is accounted for in its usefulness and comfort, but it often loses its attractiveness by becoming shapeless after washing. If properly washed a sweater should keep its shape until it wears out. Wash it carefully with some good white soap, rinse well, and add some blueing to the last water if the garment is white. Then place it in a clean pillow case and pin the case to the clothes line. When the sweater is nearly dry put it on a coat hanger in the sunshine.

A cheap substitute for knobs for drawers and doors which have lost their original handles, is made by sawing a common spool in two. Turn the small end of the half-spool inward and fasten with nail or screw. It can be dyed any color to harmonize with the furniture.

In polishing up shell or celluloid hair combs or barrettes, wash first in lukewarm water and ivory or castile soap; afterward polish with a manjeure buffer and a little nail powder. They will look like new.

To remove oil spots from fabrics that have been damaged in this manner at the sewing machine, brush the fabric with talcum powder. Put it on both sides. Let it stand for awhile, and then brush it off again. After two or three applications the spot will disappear. The powder should be used on the fresh oil. It is not so effective on an old spot.

A stone pot is preferable to a tin cake box for cakes—fruit or nuts—which improve with age and want to "ripen" a week or two. A fresh apple placed in the pot with the cake will prevent the cake from drying out while ripening.

TESTED RECIPES.

Cream Chicken and Peas.
Melt four tablespoonsful of butter, add five tablespoonsful of flour mixed with one-quarter teaspoonful of salt and one-eighth teaspoonful of pepper. Pour in gradually one and three-quarters cups of milk. When sauce thickens, add one and one-half cups of cold boiled fowl cut into dice and two thirds of a cupful of canned peas, drained and rinsed.

Sugar Sauce for Pudding.
One cupful of granulated sugar, half a cupful of water, a piece of butter the size of a walnut. Boil all together until it becomes the consistency of syrup. Flavor with lemon or vanilla extract. A tablespoonful of lemon juice is an improvement.

A Beautiful Tomato Salad.
Salad that not only tastes well, but looks as well as it tastes, is called tomato flower salad, and is made as follows: Select smooth tomatoes and draw a star on the top of each with a sharp knife. Cut this star away and turn back the upstanding points that remain, so that it will resemble a scarlet tulip. Put a spot of mayonnaise in the heart of each tulip and serve them upon beds of water cress, with leaves cut out of cucumbers.

Saw Pines Brain; May Recover.
Although his skull was pierced in two places by a circular gang saw at the Booth-Kelly mill at Springfield Friday afternoon, W. G. Hill, trimmer tender at the mill, did not lose consciousness until the anesthetic was administered at the Eugene Hospital some time later. The saw cut through the skull at the back of the head, tearing the tissue and bruising the brain in one place, and throughout the first layer of the skull in the other. The injury is an unusually dangerous one, but it is thought the man will recover.

Work for 5000 Men.
Salem Statesman: That there is work in the Blue River mining district for 5000 men is the declaration of F. G. Hamilton, who has just arrived in the city from Southern Oregon. He asserts that there is unlimited mineral wealth in the mountains of Linn and Lane Counties and that if it were located in some of the more exploited mining districts of the country it would cause a gold rush. Mr. Hamilton has been a miner for over 30 years, having followed the business in some of the best known gold sections of the United States.

Spray for Codling Moth.
Fruit Inspector Stewart states that second spraying for codling moth must be done before June 15 to be effective. He gives the following formula for the spray: Sulphur solution at rate of one gallon to 35 or 40 gallons of water. Add to this at rate of 1 pound of dry arsenite of lead or 2 pounds of paste arsenite to each 50 gallons. Keep well agitated and apply with fine mist spray under high pressure.

Secretary Bryan Resigns.
Dispatches from Washington state that W. J. Bryan has resigned as secretary of state owing to lack of harmony between himself and President Wilson over the German situation. It is understood that harmonious relations exist between the president and Mr. Bryan despite the action of the secretary. The resignation was immediately accepted.

THE WORLD'S PRAISE.

Does some bubble of fame torment you? Then fix your gaze on swift oblivion, on the gulf of infinity this way and that, on the empty rattle of plaudits and the undeciphering fickleness of professional applause, on the narrow range within which you are circumscribed. The whole earth is but a point, your habitation but a tiny nook thereon, and of all those on the earth how many are there who will praise you?—Marcus Aurelius.

When Rome Began to Fall.
The climax of the period of Roman grandeur was reached about sixty years before Caesar overthrew the republic. During the sixty years in question fell the Social war, the Civil War of Marius and Sulla and the wholesale proscription of the latter. The cause of the Roman downfall was owing mainly to the absorption of the old stock and the decline of civic virtue. Swamped by the inflow of non-Roman races, the grand old ideals of the fathers were forgotten, and the end was inevitable.—New York American.

Old Folks in Mexico.
Mexicans, if they escape the ill chances of war and revolution, are a long lived race. Humboldt wrote: "It is by no means uncommon in Mexico to reach 100 years of age," and his statement has been corroborated by more recent travelers. The president of an American life assurance company told the author of "Mexico Today" that he had met and conversed with a Mexican woman in her one hundred and thirty-fourth year and that her age was attested by church register.

The Handshakes of Youth.
Cultivate kindly those friendships of your youth. It is only in that generous time they are formed. How different the intimacies of after years are and how much weaker the grasp of your hand after it has been shaken about in twenty years' commerce with the world and has squeezed and dropped a thousand equally careless palms.—Tennyson.

VIRTUE.

Cultivate virtue because it is the perfect good which is the complement of a happy life. It is the knowledge both of others and of itself; it is an invincible greatness of mind not to be elevated or dejected with good or ill fortune.—Seneca.

EUROPEAN WAR SHATTERS KING COTTON'S THRONE

PLEECY STAPLE MUST PAY RANSOM INTO THE COFFERS OF WAR.

Nation Rings With Cries of Stricken Industry.

By Peter Radford
Lecturer National Farmers' Union.

King Cotton has suffered more from the European war than any other agricultural product on the American continent. The shells of the belligerents have burst over his throne, frightening his subjects and shattering his markets, and, panic-stricken, the nation cries out "God save the king!"

People from every walk of life have contributed their mite toward rescue work. Society has danced before the king; mildays has decreed that the family wardrobe shall contain only cotton goods; the press has gleefully taken the public to "buy a bale"; bankers have been formulating holding plans; congress and legislative bodies have deliberated over relief measures; statesmen and writers have grown eloquent expounding the inalienable rights of "His Majesty" and presenting schemes for preserving the financial integrity of the stricken staple, but the sword of Europe has proved mightier than the pen of America in fixing value upon this product of the sunny south. Prices have been bayoneted, values riddled and markets decimated by the battling hosts of the eastern hemisphere until the American farmer has suffered a war loss of $400,000,000, and a bale of cotton brave enough to enter a European port must pay a ransom of half its value or go to prison until the war is over.

Hope of the Future Lies in Co-operation.

The Farmers' Union, through the columns of the press, wants to thank the American people for the friendship, sympathy and assistance given the cotton farmers in the hour of distress and to direct attention to co-operative methods necessary to permanently assist the marketing of all farm products.

The present emergency presents as grave a situation as ever confronted the American farmer and from the viewpoint of the producer, would seem to justify extraordinary relief measures, even to the point of bending the constitution and straining business rules in order to lift a portion of the burden off the backs of the farmer, or unless something is done to check the invasion of the war forces upon the cotton fields, the pathway of the European pestilence on this continent will be strewn with mortgaged homes and famine and poverty will stalk over the southland, filling the highways of industry with refugees and the bankruptcy court with prisoners.

All calamities teach us lessons and the present crisis serves to illuminate the frailties of our marketing methods and the weakness of our credit system, and out of the financial anguish and travail of the cotton farmer will come a volume of discussion and a mass of suggestions and finally a solution of this, the biggest problem in the economic life of America, if, indeed, we have not already laid the foundation for at least temporary relief.

More Pharaohs Needed in Agriculture.
Farm products have no credit and perhaps can never have on a permanent and satisfactory basis unless we build warehouses, cold storage plants, elevators, etc., for without storage and credit facilities, the south is compelled to dump its crop on the market at harvest time. The Farmers' Unions in the cotton producing states have for the past ten years persistently advocated the construction of storage facilities. We have built during this period 2,000 warehouses with a capacity of approximately 4,000,000 bales and looking backward the results would seem encouraging, but looking forward, we are able to house less than one-third of the crop and warehouses without a credit system lose 90 per cent of their usefulness. The problem is a gigantic one—too great for the farmer to solve unaided. He must have the assistance of the banker, the merchant and the government.

In production we have reached the high water mark of perfection in the world's history, but our marketing methods are most primitive. In the dawn of history we find agriculture plowing with a forked stick but with a system of warehouses under governmental supervision that made the Egyptians the marvel of civilization, for who has not admired the vision of Joseph and applauded the wisdom of Pharaoh for storing the surplus until demanded by the consumer, but in this age we have too many Josephs who dream and not enough Pharaohs who build.
