Crack of a Bullet.

That bullets neither whine, hiss, howl, hum nor whisper, novelists to the contrary notwithstanding, is information given by Edward C. Crossman in Outing. With one possible exception—when in certain conditions of open country modern military bullets hiss to those standing back of the firing line—nothing is audible except a sharp crash of air closing around the bullet's base when it travels at high speed. At a velocity of 1,500 feet a second, or more, the noise is "like nothing so much as a long and very violently cracked blacksnake whip." Those who stand far enough from the rifle hear the bullet's crack and later the dull, thudding noise of the rifle itself, which has been outspeeded. Jack London makes a soldier hit at 900 yard range first hear the sound of the modern rifle and then feel the blow of the bullet. But the bullet would have killed him half a second before the sound from the rifle reached him.

Bacon on Sea Power.

It was Francis Bacon, after the ships of England had destroyed "the invincible armada," who in a chapter entitled "Of the True Greatness of Kingdoms and Estates," proclaimed his idea that sea power is world power. He said:

"We see the great Effects of Battalies by Sea. The Battalie of Actium decided the Empire of the World. The Battalie of Lepanto arrested the Greatnesse of the Turke. There be many Examples, where Sea-Fights have bene Finall to the Warre; But this is, when Princes or States, have set up their Rest, upon the Battalies. But thus much is certain: That he who Commands the Sea, is at great Liberty, and may take as much, and as little of the Warre, as he will. Whereas those, that be strongest by land, are many times nevertheless in great Straights."

Why Is the Sky Blue?

When a piece of iron is slowly heated in a flame it at first radiates heat, and as the frequency of the wave motions becomes greater it radiates light—first red rays, then yellow and finally, if the heat is very intense, a white light is emitted. The red rays are longer and of less frequency than the blue. When white light is passed through a prism the waves are acted upon and are separated. The red rays are diverted less from their previous direction than the violet. This is exemplified by light from a clear sky. Refracted by suspended particles in the air, the blue rays are diverted more than the others and give a blue appearance to the otherwise colorless clear sky.—Samuel S. Sadler, S. B., in "Chemistry of Familiar Things."

Domestic Diplomat.

Mrs. Crossdyke lived in the country. "Why do you insist on your new servants arriving Saturdays now?" a friend asked her one day. "Well, I have had some experience with these modern girls," replied Mrs. C. "Previously I used to engage them Mondays, but now I get them to come Saturdays."

"But why?" asked her neighbor. "There's no train back to the city until Monday afternoon," said Mrs. C. shrewdly, "and hubby is extremely partial to his Sunday dinner"—London Answers.

Timing the Laugh.

The old colored man had climbed into the dentist's chair of torture. "Shall I give you laughing gas, uncle?" queried the tooth carpenter. "Not till after de toof am out, boss," replied the old man. "Reckon mebbe Ah'll feel mo' lak laffin' den."

Beyond Him.

Miss Sweetthing—When we are married we must have no secret from each other. You must tell me everything. Mr. Sappedde—But—er—really, I don't know everything.—Puck.

Association.

"That newly rich family have such stiff manners." "Of course. Don't you know they made their money in starch?"—Baltimore American.

Shaving.

Shaving was introduced among the Romans about B. C. 300. The first shave was deemed the entrance to manhood and celebrated with great festivities.

Boys and Pencils.

Boys are like pencils. They need to be sharpened and pushed before they will make their mark.—Youth's Companion.

In using citron fry steaming it over the tea kettle a few minutes and see how much easier it cuts and how much less time it takes than the old way of chopping.
