Aged Pioneer Celebrates Birthday Anniversary.

J. H. Shortridge, a well known character of the Cottage Grove country, and a pioneer of 1851, celebrated his eighty-fourth birthday anniversary on Sunday, July 18, at the family home in West Cottage Grove. Mr. Shortridge, who is still hale and hearty, took part in the festivities and enjoyed the day as much as any of the guests.

The day was pleasantly spent in conversation, after which a splendid dinner was served to the twenty-one guests

The guests were Mrs. J. H. Harris, Dr. M. U. Harris and family, Mrs. S. L. Dillard, all of Eugene; J. W. Weeden and family of Coast Fork, Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Shortridge of London, Miss Arlie Langdon and F. B. Shortridge.

Mrs. A. W. Kime charmingly entertained the Royal Neighbors Club at the hospitable Kime home Tuesday after-Needlework was enjoyed and cakes and saute in butter. Mrs. Ora Read Hemenway gave a reading in her usual pleasing manner. Mrs. Ralph Robinson of Portland, a vocalist of rare ability, entertained the company with a splendid solo. Mrs. Robinson was formerly Miss Anna Rhoda of this city. Mrs. Kime was assisted in serving a two course luncheon by Misses Leah Perkins, Hildred Hall and Anna Green, at tables in the dining room and on the front veranda. The rooms were gaily festooned with sweet peas. Invited guests were Mesdames George and Will Hall, Mrs. B. S. Swengel, Mrs. Jennie Fishburn, Mrs. C. H. Van Denburg, Mrs. H. J. One woman has found that an aid to quick work in cooking with a gas stove is to have the materials common ly used close at hand. For this end. she uses the extension on the right side of her gas range. On this she has a circular asbestos mat, which holds three elly glasses with metal covers, one for flour, one for sugar, one for salt, each labeled. There is also a tin shaker filled with parpika. These serve for the flavorings for cream sauce, or gravy thickening and flavoring.

If a cake cracks open while baking, there is too much flour in it.

It is believed that Broom and Wiliams have made their moonshine whiskey from corn meal shipped up the river in sacks. They may have also used some barley. There is evidence that large quantities of the meal were taken to the scene of their operations and much of the mash was strewn about the ground around the plant. It is known that the still has had four Preaching services the first and third different settings in that locality. That many have been found during the past few years. At each place it could plainly be seen where the still had been set and where the liquor had teen made.

Deputy Revenue Collector Smith acompanied Sheriff Parker to the plant on the Lieberg place Friday and after an examination declared that these noonshiners knew their business.

Williams is a man of about 45 years and has a wife and child. Broom has lived at Springfield during a greater part of the time since coming to this ountry and has worked as a logger for The Peterson & Vierra's Hawaiian the Booth-Kelly company. NO FIRE BLIGHT, SAYS BARSS. Rickreall Orchard Not Infected Reported by Inspector Stewart.

H. P. Barss, of the Oregon Agricultural College, after having made a thorough examination of specimens from the orchard of Mr. White at Rickreall, in which C. E. Stewart, county fruit inspector of Lane County, claims to have found fire blight, says he finds no evidence of bacteria, and that certainly no fire blight exists. County Fruit Inspector J. S. Parker went to Salem on Monday and there met Mr. Barss, who took the suspicious specimens to Corvallis for microscopic examinations. The apple specimens given consideration, showed fire blight, but from where taken is not known to The Observer, it not being able to locate Mr. Parker, who is busy with his work in the county. It has a copy of Mr. Barss' letter to the fruit inspector, which is given as follows:

"Corvallis, July 13: I have made mi croscopical examinations of the quince and apple branches which you gave me and find no evidence of bacteria. In both cases a fungus was present, but certainly the Rickreall specimen of yours is not fire blight. The pear specimens appear to be affected by a fungus, very likely dry rot, but not by bacteria. I would watch such trees however, and have examinations made of any cases which seem to show new for it is hard to identify positively s disease in parts that have been dead long. Compton, the prison physician, announced that he was hopeful of Frank's recovery, though blood poison ng from infection was a danger.

Creen, questioned further by prison officials today, said he believed he had been "called from on high to kill whose death sentence for Frank." Mary Phagan's murder recently was ommuted by Governor Slaton, now re tired. He indicated no remorse for what he had done.

"I only wish that I had had more strength," Creen said; "I think I have done my duty in this matter as well as my strength allowed. I believe that God has helped me. I don't think that I ever did a wrong in my life.'
