Society

Mrs. J. A. Wright entertained a company of friends last Friday evening incidentally in honor of the fourteenth wedding anniversary of herself and husband.

Mrs. Robinson served refreshments of cream cookies and berry punch. Those present were Rev. and Mrs. Gardner, Wm. Gardner, wife and little son, Mrs. Salsman, Mr. and Mrs. Ansel Woods and two children, Mr. and Mrs. Phelps, Miss Morgan and Mrs. Robinson.

PADS AND FANCIES.

If a lamp bowl is loose in the standard mend it with sifted plaster of paris, mixed into a very thin paste with beaten white of egg.

Before wetting any species of china bric-a-brac carefully remove all the dust.

Never sweep a sick room while the patient is in it as the dust is exceedingly dangerous, both to the sufferer and the sweeper.

Crockery is made very brittle with great changes in temperature. Wash the good things in tepid water without soap.

Rub vaseline over the strings of your tennis racket and you will find that they have not broken in the spring as they so frequently do.

Clean a very soiled bathtub with a little kerosene on a rag.

In order to insure a good gloss on starched collars, first mix the starch with cold water, add a tiny lump of butter about the size of a small marble, then pour on the boiling water.

Some of the new dresses are 12 yards wide at the hem.

The short bolero coats, with flare and ripple at the bottom, are most becoming when worn with the very wide skirts.

One of the new neck effects is a simple standing frill of tulle, with a black velvet band where it is joined to the bodice.

Some of the new sleeves are in three parts; others are just loose chiffon draperies, caught here and there in the sleeve lining.

The fad for fanciful coat linings does not abate—and some of the prettiest are the colored brocades used inside of white bagardines.

A charming frock has simply three deep accordion-pleated flounces for the skirt, a full white blouse and over it a little embroidered bolero.

Buttoned all the way down the front, halfway down from the shoulder and from wrist to elbow on the sleeve is the manner of trimming some of the new blouses.

TESTED RECIPES.

Stuffed Tomatoes.—To one cupful of chopped cooked veal or chicken add one cupful of crumbs, one tablespoonful each of minced ham and parsley, a small onion grated, one egg well beaten, salt and cayenne to taste.

Berry Shortcake.—Strawberries, raspberries or blackberries may be used. Take one quart of flour, one-half teaspoonful of salt, two teaspoonfuls of baking powder, two tablespoonfuls of butter, one pint of milk.

Sauce Piquant.—This is a good sauce to use with any cold fish salad. A half cup of tomato ketchup, a teaspoon of Worcestershire sauce, a teaspoon of mushroom ketchup, the juice of an onion, a half teaspoon of hot southern sauce, a tablespoon of chutney syrup; blend thoroughly and add a tablespoon of tarragon vinegar.

Beet and Onion Salad.—Boil a large Spanish onion, drain, and leave till cold; then cut into thin slices, also slice a large cooked beet. Mix onion and beet together, add a teaspoonful finely chopped tarragon and parsley, salt and pepper to taste, two tablespoonfuls olive oil and one tablespoonful of vinegar. Mix thoroughly. A little grated horseradish is an improvement to this salad if the flavor is liked.

SIX MEN BLAMED FOR STEAMER DISASTER.

Strong Verdict Is Returned by Coroner's Jury.

Chicago, Aug. 7.—A coroner's jury has returned a verdict placing the blame for the loss of over a thousand lives by the capsizing of the steamer Eastland in the Chicago river, on six men. These are:

William H. Hull, general manager of the Chicago-St. Joseph Steamship Co., owner of the Eastland.

Captain Harry Pedersen, of the Eastland.

J. M. Erickson, engineer.

Robert Reed, federal inspector of steamships, who gave the Eastland license to carry 2500 passengers July 2.

J. C. Eckliff, federal inspector of steamships.

W. K. Greenbaum, general manager of the Indiana Transportation company, lessee of the Eastland.

The jury recommended that these men be held to a grand jury for indictment on charges of manslaughter.

The jury found the passengers were not in any way to blame for the capsizing of the ship. It recommends further investigation by the coroner and other officers to determine whether the men named and others may be guilty of negligence or of contributing in any way to the cause of the disaster.

In the absence of evidence of undue acts on the part of the passengers or violent physical causes, such as explosion, fire or collision, the fact that this vessel overturned is proof either that it was improperly constructed for the service employed, or that it was improperly loaded, operated, maintained, or that all of these causes operated to bring about the serious result.

It is our judgment that the steamer Eastland was both improperly constructed and improperly loaded, operated and maintained, and that the parties named are responsible.

MELTING GLACIERS WASH OUT TRACK.

Copper River Line Loses Ten Miles of Roadbed in Flood With Novel Cause.

Seattle, Wash., Aug. 6.—The Copper River Railroad company received word today that ten miles of its track and roadbed in Alaska was washed out a few days ago by a great flood in the Copper River Valley following the hot weather of July. The washout occurred in the district about Mile 101. The heat caused abnormal melting of the glaciers, and small streams were converted into roaring torrents.

ELEVEN FLIES A MINUTE IS RECORD OF MASH BAIT.

A bait that in twenty minutes caught 220 flies demonstrated its superiority over four other kinds of bait in an experiment conducted by the University of Oregon extension division for the benefit of the many communities in Oregon that are conducting fly fighting campaigns this spring.

The mash put into a properly constructed wire fly trap so that the flies cannot get at it from the outside will attract the pests from almost any other food in the neighborhood.

In the experiment the following five baits were put into competition:

- 1. Ordinary table syrup.
2. Decayed banana.
3. Canned salmon that had been exposed to the sun until tainted.
4. Tainted crab.
5. The mash described above.

Each of these five preparations was put into a trap and the traps were set outside at a fly rendezvous near a slaughter house. At the end of twenty minutes the catches were as follows:

- Bait No. 1.—Four flies.
Bait No. 2.—Ten flies.
Bait No. 3.—Twelve flies.
Bait No. 4.—Thirty-nine flies.
Bait No. 5.—Two hundred and twenty flies.

"I think a properly constructed trap baited with the fermenting mash will catch every hungry fly within a block if the day is warm and sunny and the flies can get into the trap readily," said Dr. C. F. Hodge, professor of social biology at the University of Oregon. "Honey mixed with this bait adds to its cost and probably does not make it any better. There are baits that will draw flies even better than this mash but they are too offensive to describe and too dangerous to use. The discharges from open sores of animals are one type. The character of the foods that flies delight in show how great a menace to mankind the fly really is."

Flies love a variety. In a brewery a trap should be baited with milk; in a dairy with beer. The fermenting mash probably attracts a large number in competition with the tainted crab because the experiment was tried near a slaughter house where the flies had been glutted with animal food.

Soon a Starving World.

The calls of famine-stricken countries for food may soon be more numerous than the world's few remaining givers can supply. Little is said in the columns that daily come to The Guard over the Associated Press leased wire about Albania, for example. This obscure Ardiatic country has been outside the zone of actual fighting, but not outside the zone of war's baleful influence. In a few days a relief steamer will sail from New York bearing provisions to a stricken region in which, reports to the Committee of Mercy of New York say, 100,000 persons have already succumbed to famine and hundreds are daily dying.

The vast work of American relief is little grasped in the far west. On relief of Belgium and northern France, the Commission for Relief of Belgium is spending $10,000,000 a month, which is $7,000,000 more than was required to build the Panama Canal while construction was in active progress. The Commission for Relief in Belgium has built up what is described as the greatest commissariat the world has ever seen; it feeds 9,500,000 persons. It has its own flag, and it deals directly with seven governments. Its hundreds of canal boats reach every province in Belgium. The commission is the only medium by which food can go into Belgium. Seventy ships have sailed from U. S. ports with food for its vast pantry.

The $10,000,000 a month expense has been borne partly by the United States. Rich Belgians gave $13,000,000; three quarters of the Belgians who still have money, pay for their supplies; the rest eat on the world's charity.

Mexico City is only one of many Mexican cities where food relief is necessary. Like Belgium's starvation, that of Mexico has been unnecessary; human greed, fear, selfishness are responsible.

Persia, laid waste in the north by Kurds and Turks, has called upon America. Another unnecessary situation!

China's flood-swept districts, badly in need of food at the present moment, are the only districts where natural and unavoidable and not human agencies have been to blame.—Eugene Guard.

According to reports trains will be running to Coos Bay by January next. Oregon produced $143,556 worth of coal in 1914.
