TROUBLE WITH GERMANY

WHILE it is yet too early to say what may follow as a result of the torpedoing of the Arabic, the fact that Germany has made no effort to explain things, would indicate that she is not much concerned about the outcome. If such is the feeling, there can be no doubt that there shortly will be a break in friendly relations with this country.

Even if there is a possibility of explaining the Arabic incident so that it shall appear not deliberately unfriendly, unless there is a sincere attempt on the part of Germany to act in such a manner as to show that she desires our friendship, that friendship can not long continue. Germany's position in this matter must be positive, not passive.

If there are no changes later in the details of the sinking of the Arabic, we as a nation can not longer maintain our self respect and at the same time maintain friendly relations with Germany.

The early news reports say that the Arabic was sunk without warning and no attempt made to save passengers and crew. A small part of the passengers, including several Americans, were drowned. The ship was bound for the U. S. on a peaceful mission. The act under these conditions would be what the administration has laid down as deliberately unfriendly. If the details shall not be changed, the least that can result is a cessation of friendly relations.

The question to be determined is whether the Arabic was torpedoed without warning or whether it received a summons to stop and refused to heed it. If the latter cannot be proved, there is little hope for a continuance of friendly relations.

To an unprejudiced person it appears that retaining the friendship of the United States is less important to Germany than striking terror into the hearts of its enemies. Such being the case, and a continuation of friendly relations being impossible under such conditions, it might save Germany a lot of diplomatic dickering to come out and declare war upon the United States. Then it could not be brought to account-ability for its acts until it is whipped by the United States or by allies of the United States. That would save a lot of time now wasted in receiving and answering notes from your Uncle Samuel.

INCONGRUITY AT EUGENE

ONE admires a city for being a hustler, but sometimes the thing may be carried too far.

Eugene is the home of the University, which brings to that city to spend every winter a thousand or more of the best young people of the state. Eugene has many artists in all lines who help to make it an agreeable place in which to live. With Eugene are associated many of the higher things of life.

But a few days ago a news item told that a serious attempt was to be made to get a large circus to winter there. This circus is as good as any. We all like to go to see it. But few of us would take into our homes all its employees and followers. As far as we know no inquiry has been made as to the class of people which would be brought into the city. Would they fit into the University atmosphere and the artistic atmosphere? Would parents who send their children to Eugene from distant points be satisfied to send them to a circus town?

We admire Eugene's go-out-and-get 'em way, but to us it seems to be rather incongruous for a university town to offer itself as winter headquarters for a circus. The two don't blend well.

GETTING THE DOLLAR

PORTLAND merchants are to have a dollar day next month. There will be a gigantic demonstration of what a dollar will do. Many thousands are expected to visit the stores participating in the special day.

The idea of showing what a dollar will buy is a splendid one. The demonstration will show many a mail order buyer her folly. It will result in many a dollar being spent at home that otherwise would go to help build a palace for some merchant prince of Chicago or elsewhere.

The fact that letting the buyer know what a dollar will buy will keep a lot of money at home, will show the merchant his folly in not letting the buyer know the year round what a dollar will do when spent at home.

Profits on the goods bought away from home would pay many times over for the advertising necessary to let the buyer know it is profitable to buy them at home.

Merchants who expect the buyer to come in and go over his stock is almost forcing money away from home. The Cottage Grove buyer knows that his Chicago store sells everything. He can find the price in a second or two. The buyer wants information and accommodation. If the local store doesn't give these it shouldn't kick if the buyer's patriotism is not sufficient to induce him to ask if the articles he is sending away for can not be purchased at home and as cheaply.

The buyer who sends away from home without inquiry has as much patriotism as the merchant who makes no attempt to overcome catalog buying with proper publicity.

The merchant can place himself in the position of the catalog buyer by asking himself how much he would buy from the wholesale house that waited for him to come to it.

M. J. Duryea, formerly of Eugene but now promotion manager for Ashland, is keeping that city in the line light. He had a lengthy article in a recent edition of the Grange Bulletin telling of Ashland's unique plan for civic development.

RIGHT AND WRONG

THERE should be little difficulty in telling the difference between right and wrong. But let's see. Besides the general difference which we all know, which seems reasonable and is easily understood, there is another difference which is not so reasonable and which many have overlooked. Here it is:

While right and wrong both begin with the same sound of "r," wrong begins with a "w." How is a foreigner to learn our language when there are such inconsistencies as this in words used in conjunction so frequently?

How is a foreigner to learn our moral code when "wright" is wrong and "wrong" is right, or when "rong" and "rite" are both wrong?

How is a foreigner to understand that when he writes "wrong" he is writing right. It may be pretty hard to explain to him that when he writes "rite" he writes wrong.

We apparently have a double moral code, for sometimes "rite" is wrong and "wrong" is always right, orthographically.

It is said that two wrongs never make a right. No one has before ever disputed this, so far as we know, but it is possible for two wrongs to make a rite. Orthographically speaking again, why can't two wrongs make a right when both are right?

Laying all joking aside, can anyone give a satisfactory explanation of why "write" and "wright" begin with "wr" while "rite" and "right" do not?

The man honest enough to admit in an argument that his opponent has made a point, falls an easy prey to the book agent.

What's the use of man being good when woman will be called his better half anyway.

The man whose dying request was that all of the money he left be spent on his funeral, tried to beat the oft-made remark that you can't take your money with you when you leave this old world.

A knocker usually makes enough noise to be heard above most any uproar.

"There is no place like home" applies just as forcibly to the man who finds it impossible to stay there.

One reason the wise keep their mouths shut is so they will get paid for imparting what they know.

For Scorched Linen.

For scorched linen try the following: From four peeled onions extract the juice, mix this with four ounces of fuller's earth, one ounce of soap and a pint of vinegar. Boil well together. When nearly cold put on the scorched places and let dry in the air. Wash in cold water.

Simple Home Remedies.

A bag of hot sand with a tablespoonful of vinegar sprinkled on will relieve neuralgia.

A severe coughing paroxysm can be relieved by taking a teaspoonful of glycerin in a swallow of hot milk.

SOUP WISDOM.

In making cream of tomato, corn, spinach or any other vegetable cream soup it is a good plan to thicken the soup before straining the vegetable. Then one straining will remove the thick parts of the vegetable unsuitable for soup and will remove any lumps from the thickening.

Remember in mixing a cream soup to pour the meat or vegetable liquid on the milk to avoid curdling. Always pour the tomato mixture in the milk in cream tomato soup. Many cooks do not use soda in mixing tomato soup, for they say that when the tomato is poured on the milk there is no danger of curdling. However, a pinch of soda is a safeguard.

To give an amber color to stock add finely grated carrot to it. Tomato juice gives a red tone. Spinach leaves pounded until the juice is pressed out give a green color. Add enough of the green juice to gain the desired tint. A little burned sugar or flour gives a deep brown color to soup.

CROWNS OF GLORY RICHES OF GRACE

God's New Creation Purposed
Before the World Began.

The Lord Jesus the First Member of the New Creation—Steps to the Glory Plane—The Church Called to Follow Him—Real and Imitation Christians—Preparations For Appearing in Jehovah's Presence.

San Francisco, Cal., May 30.—Pastor Russell spoke here today from the text, "All things are yours; and ye are Christ's, and Christ is God's."—1 Cor.inthians 3:22, 23. The Pastor demonstrated from St. Paul's writings that before the creation of our planet God had purposed a Church class. The terms and conditions for membership in this New Creation were also arranged. As the Father wished that in all things His Son, the Logos, should have pre-eminence, the first offer was made to Him. To gain this prize of a new nature on the highest plane, the Logos must demonstrate His love and loyalty by implicit obedience to the Father's will. So He left the Heavenly glory and humbled Himself to become a man—not a sinful man, but perfect human nature.—Philippians 2:7-11.

Then He humbled Himself still further, even unto the ignominious death of the Cross, on the charge of blasphemy against God. After His death and resurrection He ascended into the Father's presence, where He did a work for the Church. (Hebrews 9:24.) Then the Father gave Him the Holy Spirit to shed forth upon the faithful little band of disciples. (Acts 2:33.) This indicated that Christ is God's—that God had glorified Him, and that begetting to the Divine nature would be granted to all who follow His steps.—2 Corinthians 5:17; 2 Peter 1:4.

For eighteen hundred years the Gospel Message has gone forth, to call from amongst mankind those who will follow Jesus and become members of the Body of Christ—the New Creation. These are to be His joint-heirs in the Heavenly inheritance. We are now living in "the last time," the end of the Gospel Age, when this special salvation of the Church is to be revealed.—1 Peter 1:4, 5.

Following His Steps.

The speaker then discussed membership in this New Creation. Those who desire to become members must first turn heartily away from sin and toward God. This must be a thorough change of disposition; they must see that sin is injurious. The Divine Court of the Universe has attached to sin the penalty of death, bringing degradation, sickness, sorrow, pain and dying. Those who turn to God should fear lest sin contaminate them and jeopardize their future life.

But they were born under the death penalty which Adam's disobedience entailed upon all his posterity. God has made an arrangement, however, by which they may get back into His family. Our Lord Jesus Christ has by His death redeemed Adam and all his race; and those desirous of turning from sin may have their sins forgiven, if they avail themselves of the opportunity and become followers of Jesus. (Matthew 16:24.) Those who take these steps are begotten of the Holy Spirit and become probationary members of the Body of Christ.

Not many see clearly what it is to be a Christian, the Pastor declared. This is why several hundred million so-called Christians in Europe are killing each other. Not knowing what Christianity is, they do not manifest its spirit. But God knows who are wheat and who are tares. When the wheat class are all changed in the First Resurrection, the tares will be burned—destroyed as tares, not as human beings. All should know that there are but two classes, real Christians and the world of mankind.

Honesty the Fundamental Quality.

According to the Bible God desires only 144,000 members in the Body of Christ. All others will have their opportunity during the Millennial Kingdom, when the Christ will restore and uplift all the willing and obedient of Adam's race to the perfection lost in Eden and redeemed at Calvary. Wherever the Truth goes, it touches the honest hearts of those not too much blinded by the Adversary. Gradually these realize that God has purposed a New Creation, of which Jesus will be the Head and the Church the Body. When we see this, our minds open; for God begets us with His Holy Spirit, which enables us to understand the deep things of God's Word.—1 Corinthians 2:14.

But only those who make a Covenant of Sacrifice with God receive this blessing. (Psalm 50:5.) However, it is one thing to enter into a covenant and another thing to keep it. But God is not proving the flesh; He is trying the spirit. What counts with Him is the real desire of the heart. Only those who are not sufficiently loyal and who fail to develop the right character will be rejected. The New Creature must keep unspotted from the world. There is only one kind of cleansing fluid which will remove spots of anger, impatience, evil speaking, injustice, etc.—the blood of Jesus Christ.—1 John 1:7.

A Call for Trained Workers

Business calls continually for trained young men and women. Trained workers are always in demand. It is they who receive the choice positions—who get the premium salaries. It is the young people who enter business trained for better service who become the department heads, the executives and proprietors.

Prepare for Success

A few months' training made time separates you from success. Decide now to be one of the successful business people of tomorrow. Be one of the dozens of young men and women that go forth from this school in the next year, trained for success. We can start you just as we have hundreds of others in a splendid paying position.

Let us tell you more about our courses. Call, phone or write today for more information.

A SCENE FROM "THE SEA WOLF," THE GREAT SHIP STORY BY JACK LONDON, SHOWN AT THE ARCADE, WEDNESDAY, SEPTEMBER 1.

Somehow or another we do not have any great respect for the man who makes a profession of reforming people. It seems like that should be a side line.

Some folks think luck is against them just because they have to work for what they get.

A woman who is killing quite frequently stabs a man in the heart.

An Oregon merchant went to a hospital to have his appendix removed and upon leaving the hospital married his nurse. With this thorn in his side he should not miss his other appendix.

You can flatter a man or woman in five minutes into doing something that you couldn't drive him or her into doing in five hours.

The Empty Bowl Tells the Story

The highest compliment that can be paid any food is to eat it heartily to the last portion.

Every day there are hundreds of thousands of such compliments paid to Post Toasties.

This wide appreciation encouraged the bettering of this delightful food. And the result is

New Post Toasties

Crisper, more appetizing and better than ever before.

The inner sweet meats of choicest Indian Corn are skilfully cooked, daintily seasoned, and toasted by a new process that brings out a wonderful "toastie" corn flavour.

These flakes do not mush down when cream or milk is added, but retain their body and crispness. They come to you ready to eat from the FRESH-SEALED, dust-proof, germ-proof package—as sweet and delicious as when they leave the ovens.
