Betty Nansen to Be Seen at Arcade Again Next Wednesday

The royal actress, Betty Nansen, who made such a "hit" in her first appearance here in "The Celebrated Scandal," will be with us again at The Arcade next Wednesday, Oct. 20, in Count Leo Tolstoi's "Anna Karenina." This play of the ill-fated passion of the beautiful Anna is an absorbing one. Married without love to a man old enough to be her father, falling under the fascination of one to whom, under better auspices, she might have been wed with happiness and honor, she is driven to desperation. Clashing climax succeeds climax till the suspense is almost too great to bear. At last, driven to bay, she takes the law into her own hands, in a scene that for sheer drama has never been equaled on stage or screen.

All that were fortunate enough to see Betty Nansen before will want to see her again this time.

Famous Wallingford Stories to Be Filmed

Who doesn't know of "The Get-Rich-Quick Wallingford" stories that ran in The Saturday Evening Post? It will be good news to theater goers that they will soon be able to see these pictures on the screen as Manager Blackford has made arrangements to show them in The Arcade but as yet the date has not been set.

There will be many notable characters in the production, including Max Figman as "Blackie," Burr McIntosh as "Wallingford," and Lolita Robertson as "Violet." The play will be directed by Leopold Wharton, who directed "Elaine." These stories will appear every week in the Sunday Oregonian and will be shown every week at The Arcade. This is not a continued serial but short stories.

Theda Bara and Nance O'Neil in "Kreutzer Sonata"

"The Kreutzer Sonata," which is to be shown at The Arcade tonight, deals in an unflinching way with a social problem of the day. Miriam and Celia, two foster sisters, become involved, through Celia's passion for Miriam's husband, in a skein of fate that has a tragic unravelling. The play reveals a woman's great soul and at the same time shows that self-sacrifice and noble immolation of a life's desire may not necessarily lead to happiness. In this play the nobility of an old man's love for his ungrateful children is shown with a vividness that appeals and enralls.

60,000,000 Said to See Movies Weekly

New York, Sept. 25.—Returning to New York on his first trip back east in more than a year, Cecil B. De Mille, director general of the Lasky company, stated his belief that the photo-play, which he described as picarization of a dramatic theme, was developing into one of the great branches of world literature.

"It is stated on good authority that 60,000,000 persons in the United States and Canada attend photo-plays and motion pictures every week," said Mr. De Mille. "How many others in different parts of the world also obtain entertainment and instruction from this universal medium is difficult to say. The photo-play appeals to almost as many persons as newspapers. The very nature of the appeal is swiftly developing a new world of literature; namely, a narrative which reaches the mind and heart through the eye."

"The principles of sound and dramatic photo-play construction and production are different from those of any other universal form of reflective expression. The appeal is to the eye and we all know that sight is the most sensitive of all the senses, the quickest to grasp and understand."

Robert B. Mantell has been engaged by William Fox to pose in moving pictures during the coming theatrical season. Genevieve Hamper, who in private life is Mrs. Robert B. Mantell, will also forsake the speaking stage and appear in pictures under the same management as her husband. He will appear in modern drama. Mr. Fox is credited with saying: "Artists appearing under my management in photo-plays in future will not be permitted to appear on the speaking stage during the current season of their picture performances. The moving picture stage today has reached a magnitude, artistic and commercial, sufficient for us to assure the patrons of the silent drama the exclusive services of the greatest dramatic artists."

Robert B. Mantell will be seen at The Arcade at some future date.

The Fox Film Corporation announces that Claire Whitney, the distinguished artist, who has appeared in many of its most successful screen offerings, will have a prominent role in support of Robert B. Mantell, who is to make his photo-dramatic debut in a feature entitled, "The Husband."

"Polly Pathe" Off on Tour of Country With Picture Camera

Millions of people from coast to coast will be given an opportunity to see all the historic and other points of interest in their country when Polly Pathe returns from an extended "Seeing America First" tour of the country which she is making for Pathe.

Polly Pathe began in New York last week when she was received in special audience by George McAneny, acting mayor in the absence of Mayor Mitchell. Mr. McAneny gave Polly Pathe a letter to Mayor Rolph of San Francisco and had a kind word to say about Pathe's latest patriotic venture in the motion picture field.

On her trip, Polly Pathe will be accompanied by Mrs. Frances Fisher Byers, who will have charge of the arrangements, and an expert camera man. It is expected they will take about 150,000 feet of film before they return. The present plan, as announced by Pathe, is to release the pictures in weekly series, beginning about Dec. 15. The pictures will be called "Seeing America

First." Every city of importance in the United States will be visited by the Pathe representatives.
