Neal of the Navy Fully Up to Expectations of All.

According to the advance information about "Neal of the Navy" much was expected of it by the large crowd last Wednesday and none were disappointed for it was probably the best of its kind ever seen here. The volcano scenes were wonderful as were also the scenes on board the ship and the crowds running from the volcano and into the sea. Money has been spent lavishly in producing this picture and a splendid foundation was laid for the story surrounding Neal and the lost island.

The Spender at the Rex.

For Monday and Tuesday next a Pathe Gold Rooster picture will hold the screen. "The Spender," by Geo. Buckett Seitz, is a five-reel production of a young man with rich parents but he, unable to control himself, plunges heavily into debt once too often and is sent away by his indignant father to seek his fortune for himself.

Bagley, the faithful old family servant, casts his lot with his young master. He (Peter Lobert by name) decides to go to America, masquerade as a prince, and win the hand of a Yankee newly-rich. As a prince he makes a great hit and soon wins the love of Nellie McCabe. They are married much against the wishes of Pat McCabe, her father, who tells Peter, now that he has her, to take care of her. This hasn't been Peter's idea at all, but, since it has come to a showdown he tells her of his poverty, but she sticks with him and he and Bagley get work in McCabe's factory, unknown to McCabe. Here are some tremendous scenes, and the way Peter works his way into the graces of Pat McCabe is quite novel and very exciting.

The performance of Miss Emmy Whelen, at the Rex theater last Thursday and Friday in "When a Woman Loves," which was her first appearance here, met the approval of most of the picture fans, but the story of the play was not up to the usual Metro standard. The settings and scenery were rich and beautiful.

Arnold Daly to Appear at the Rex.

Arnold Daly, as Ashton-Kirk, Investigator, will appear at the Rex theater Jan. 31, in "An Affair of Three Nations." This is a detective story and with that famous detective, well known for his work in "Elsaine," it should be the one big hit of the season in this line of picture.

a very interesting plot and a well harmonized play. You will like this story of today for its very human appeal, for vivid delineation of the lights and shadows of human nature, and for the fascinating personalities of its leading characters.

This Investment Pays Health Dividends

—And it's handy at your Grocer's.

The average man or woman seldom considers health value seriously until doctor bills have to be paid.

If asked the cause of most physical ills, the majority of doctors would likely say, "wrong living," which includes wrong eating—food that is lacking in certain elements essential to health.

Grape-Nuts

is made of whole wheat and malted barley, and supplies all the rich nutriment of the grains, scientifically processed to retain their mineral values—phosphate of potash, etc.—so necessary in the balanced upkeep of every part of the body.

Grape-Nuts is ready to eat direct from the package; is easy to digest; has delicious flavor, and with cream or good milk is a well balanced food.

Health from right living is the finest possible dividend, and to those who have it all things are possible.

Mme. Petrova in "The Vampire."

Mme. Petrova, the magnificent emotional actress, will appear here in an intense, powerful and realistic photoplay Thursday and Friday, Jan. 20-21. This is a drama in which the regeneration of a woman, more sinned against than sinning, is beautifully depicted. A story of a pure, unsuspecting woman who had been accidentally injured while touring in an automobile, when in her convalescence she meets a married man who realizes he can only win her by offering marriage. An illegal marriage is performed and later the man abandons her and she becomes an outcast and a man-hater. After a short time she meets two men, also outcasts, and they conspire against the world and she becomes a notorious scheming woman and soon the epithet "Vampire" is applied to her. It would be only natural for most of us, when we only see part of the life of such a woman, to condemn her, but if you want to be fair and see her side of the story, you will find it fully told in this picture.

Special for Saturday at the Rex.

"Up From the Depths" will be the Saturday offering at the Rex and it is a four-reel Mutual Master Picture which is enough to tell us it should be good. The triumph of good over evil in the lives of a mercenary revivalist and his innocent victim. Courtney Foot, in the star role, is afforded an opportunity to display those talents which have made him a favorite. His portrayal of the grafting evangelist is a wonderful characterization. Delightful Gladys Brockwell plays, with winning sweetness and dramatic intensity, the part of the young girl who comes "up from the depths" into her true birthright as a wife and mother. It is
