The ladies of the Constellation club entertained the clubs of the city at the Masonic hall Thursday afternoon, the affair being one of the social events of the season. The main hall, under the supervision of Mrs. Will Hall, was tastefully decorated with pretty spring blossoms, with streamers of stars hung on the walls. The banquet room, in charge of Mrs. T. C. Wheeler, was a bower of beauty in lavender and white, bouquets of wisteria being used to carry out the color scheme. Mesdames K. K. Mills, president of the club, Clara Burkholder, but in building brain and body, often the daily diet lacks certain essential mineral elements.

These necessary factors are abundantly supplied by the field grains, but are lacking in many foods—especially white flour, from which they are thrown out in the milling process to make the flour white.

Grape-Nuts

FADS AND FANCIES.

Common mignonette grown in a pot is very disagreeable to flies.

If sandwiches are served with afternoon tea, they must be small and dainty and minus crust.

Pyrethrum powder burned in a room stupefies flies until they can be swept up and put where flies ought to be.

Before starting to can fruit, see that the tops of your fruit jars fit, and that you have a good supply of rubbers on hand.

A bit of fine mosquito netting placed under the hole in a stocking and used as a foundation for the darn is a great help.

In washing cotton crepes and crepons, have grease stains removed with naphtha or gasoline before putting the crepe into water.

A baby's bottle ought never to be washed with soap, but the moment it is empty it should be washed in cold water and immediately filled with a weak solution of boric acid.

The remnants of a chicken can be converted into delicious shortcake. Make the biscuit crust the same as for the old-fashioned shortcake. Spread the chicken between and pour the gravy on the whole.

Borax makes an excellent wash for the hair; a tablespoonful to a basin of water is a good proportion. A solution of it is also good as a mouth wash. The dry powder may be used as a dentifrice.

KINKS IN THE KITCHEN.

When frying steak, do not cook one side first, then turn over and fry the other side. Just harden for a second or two on one side, and then turn over and start frying the other, and find what a juicy steak you will have.

When next serving roast beef, save all the drippings in the pan. Spread evenly on toasted bread and put in the oven to brown. This is excellent for luncheon.

Never salt meat that has to be grilled as it helps to harden the fibers of the meat and tends to extract the juices. Salt on the platter before sending to the table. No meat should be salted uncooked, but after the surface has been seared and the meat partly cooked.

New potatoes are very much improved and have a delicious taste if boiled with a lump of two of sugar along with the mint. Two lumps of sugar to a pound of potatoes give excellent results, rendering them firmer and more appetizing.

TESTED RECIPES.

In the spring there is a certain piquancy and freshness about mint that appeals to the languishing winter appetite. There are many ways in which it can be served other than as the traditional accompaniment to lamb. Here are a few recipes:

Banana and Mint Salad—Peel and cut into cubes several bananas. Wash and detach a sufficient number of fresh mint leaves. Place a leaf on each cube and serve with French dressing. The mint leaves afford a delicate flavor to the otherwise insipid banana.

Snow Pudding—One pint of milk, one tablespoonful of cornstarch, a pinch of salt, two tablespoonfuls of sugar, the whites of two eggs. Boil the milk, stir in the cornstarch made smooth in a little cold milk, salt and sugar. When thickened, add the beaten whites of the eggs. Beat thoroughly, remove from the fire, turn into mold, and serve with the following custard: Yolks of the two eggs, two tablespoonfuls of sugar, a pinch of salt, one and one-half cups of sweet milk, flavoring. Cook until the right consistency is obtained.

White Muffins—Three cups of flour, one and one-half cups of sweet milk, one-third of a cup of sugar, two eggs, one-fourth of a teaspoonful of salt, two heaping teaspoonfuls of baking powder, butter the size of an egg. Sift sugar, salt and baking powder with the flour, melt the butter with four tablespoonfuls of boiling water. Beat the eggs and add to the milk, stir the mixture into the flour, and last, add the melted butter and beat well. Bake in a quick oven.

Fasten two thicknesses of muslin over the pantry window; keep the window open and the muslin wet with salt and water. This will keep the flies out as well as cooling the pantry.

Bean Goes to Washington.

L. E. Bean, Eugene attorney and member of the state legislature, will leave this week for Washington, D. C., to represent the Oregon Coast Port federation in an effort to obtain an amendment to the bill for the disposal of the Oregon and California grant lands so that the ports will receive a fair and just portion of the proceeds of the sale of the lands for the improvement of the ports on the Oregon coast. This action was taken at a meeting of the federation in Eugene Monday.

VETERAN KILLED WHILE SEARCHING FOR WORK

John Duffy Steps in Front of a Train at Arlington.

John Duffy, whose funeral was held here yesterday forenoon under auspices of Appamattox post, G. A. R., had deposited transfer papers with the post just three days before departing for eastern Oregon, where he met death Saturday. He had previously been a member of the post at Corvallis and had joined that by transfer. He had been living here since last fall and was nearly 70 years of age. Mr. Duffy was a native of Clinton county, Iowa, and enlisted as a private with Co. M, First Iowa cavalry, June 30, 1864. He was mustered out January 16, 1866. He left here a short time ago for Arlington to accept a position as an engineer. He had bought a ticket from Arlington to Hood River, had got on the train, but discovered that he had taken the wrong train. In stepping off to go to the other train he stepped in front of still another train and was killed. G. W. Kelly of this city was a comrade of Mr. Duffy, serving in the same company. The wife and a 13-year-old daughter survive.

to do this. No doubt all other Lane county sheriffs have done likewise.

But that is no reason why the system should be permitted to continue. Lane county can get sheriffs who will be satisfied with the salary of the office. It will soon be time to make such a selection.

Lane county taxpayers, regardless of politics, should see that they nominate a sheriff who will collect his salary, and nothing else.

Lane county taxpayers are stirred up over extravagance in public office as they have never been stirred before.

But it will do no good to get stirred up unless action follows.

The most extravagantly conducted office in the courthouse, for the service rendered, is that of the county clerk.

Voters now have the opportunity to act and show how much they are stirred up.

We have been informed that Mr. Russell is laughing at the opposition that has come out against him, that he thinks the candidacy of A. C. Jennings a joke, that he is confident that no joke can pry him loose from his job which enables him to draw down $166.66 a month for doing little else than shaking hands and playing politics.

Mr. Russell may be a shrewd politician. He must be to have thus long fooled the hard working taxpayers of Lane county who toil and sweat to earn the money to pay an incompetent public servant $2,000 a year for doing little or nothing—but there is no shrewdness in making fun of the candidacy of a man of the standing of Mr. Jennings.

He must feel pretty certain that he has got his job nailed down when he has the temerity to laugh at a man of the caliber of Mr. Jennings and to talk of his candidacy as a huge joke.

The taxpayers of Lane county should vote for Mr. Jennings, not only as a rebuke against gross extravagance in public office, but as a rebuke to the man who would consider the candidacy of a highly respected citizen a joke.

Mr. Jennings may be no longer young in years. He could not be and have served his country in the Civil war. But he is a young man for one who offered his life for his country's sake. We do not think Mr. Jennings should be elected merely because he is a G. A. R. veteran, but his gray hairs should be respected and his service to his country should place him in a position above being laughed at.

Mr. Jennings' candidacy, however, is a sincere one. We do not know the names of those who are backing him, but we do know that he was approached several times before he consented to become a candidate. Each time he refused and suggested someone else. Finally he yielded to members of the Lane County Taxpayers' league, who insisted that he make the race. He is, therefore, backed by the very people who are anxious to see a genuine reduction of taxes. Not only that, but Mr. Jennings has previously served as clerk, his record was a good one, and at this time he promises that the office shall be conducted economically.

In his declaration of candidacy, Mr. Jennings says: "If nominated and elected I will work diligently to perform my full share of the duties of the office, employing no more deputy help than absolutely necessary. I will give the citizens and measures in all parts of the county equal recognition and privileges according to capacity and merit with the citizens of the county seat."

On the ballot Mr. Jennings desires the following to be printed with his name: "Most work for least possible expense with fairness and courtesy to all."

If the taxpayers do their duty, Mr. Russell will be rebuked for his gross extravagance in office, which has been shown up in The Sentinel and Eugene Register, and remains undisputed; he will be rebuked for ridiculing his opponent, and Mr. Jennings may prove to be the man who will start a new era of economy in public office in Lane county.

The taxpayers of Lane county have absolutely nothing to lose by retiring Mr. Russell and they have many chances of gain by making a change in the office. Vote for Mr. Jennings.
