A Little White Space

PROPERLY used white space adds more to a piece of printing than type and ornaments. There's nothing to it—but put in the wrong place it spoils the job. We know where to put it to add tone, grace and dignity. And we don't charge any more for that kind of a job than others do for the other kind ::

Mrs. C. F. Walker very pleasantly surprised Miss Elizabeth Ware with a handkerchief shower Wednesday afternoon, June 14. The surprise was very unique. The Ladies' Aid of the Christian church met to piece a quilt and the proposed shower was unknown to Miss Ware until she was presented with a large package in which she found a nice assortment of beautiful handkerchiefs. Refreshments of ice cream and cake were served.

A very pleasant surprise birthday party was tendered Miss Ruth Mackey at the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Walker Friday in honor of her sixteenth birthday anniversary. A number of games were indulged in by the young people on the lawn and several readings were given by Charles Drake, of Eugene, and Miss Ruth Jorgensen. Refreshments of ice cream and cake were served, after which music was indulged in until a late hour. Those invited were: Misses Fay Sams, Edna Hull, Ruth Jorgenson, Esther Jorgenson, Mabel Goodridge, Mary Wiseman, Ethel Rogers, Juliet Woodard, Elizabeth Ware, Lala Walker, Ruth Mackey, Mildred Walker; Messrs. Harold Sams, Roy Hands, Charlie Protzman, Wade Wiseman, Edwin Skilling, Leslie Hull, Max Wilson, Charles Drake, Albert Hull, Charles Gregory, James Ewing and Fred Anderson.

A very pretty wedding was solemnized at the farm home of Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Rasch, three miles east of Cottage Grove, Wednesday evening, June 14, 1916, when Truman Strong, of Moro, Oregon, led to the bridal altar Miss Ethel A. Rasch, Rev. Horace N. Aldrich conducting the impressive ring ceremony. The bride was attended by Miss Vivien Strong, sister of the groom, and the best man was a brother of the bride, Walter Rasch, of Tacoma. The wedding march was played by Mrs. A. B. Wolfard, of Walker. The bride was handsomely gowned in white messaline trimmed in pearls and carried a shower bouquet of white carnations and maidenhair ferns. Miss Strong, the bridesmaid, was gowned in blue silk with lace trimmings and carried a bouquet of pink roses and ferns. Following the ceremony a buffet luncheon was served, Misses Esther and Ruth Jorgensen, Mae Halladay and Margaret Strong assisting in serving. The happy couple will leave Saturday in Mr. Strong's automobile over the Pacific and Columbia River highways for their future home at Moro, Sherman county, where Mr. Strong has extensive land holdings. Guests present at the wedding were: Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Jorgensen and daughters Esther and Ruth, Nellie and Glen Linebaugh, Mae and John Halliday, of Cottage Grove; Mr. and Mrs. Slater, Mrs. Wolfard and Marwyn Wolfard, Orpha Huntsman and Harvey Strong, of Walker; Miss Margaret Strong, of Leland, and members of the families of the contracting parties.

Mrs. B. R. Job and Mrs. Charles Adams were hostesses Tuesday afternoon to about twenty-five in honor of Miss Lura Hefty and Miss Laura Kennon. A most delightful afternoon was spent in conversation and literary chess, which proved very entertaining. Delicious refreshments were served by the hostesses, assisted by Miss Currin, Miss Hefty and Miss Kennon. The house was attractively decorated with roses in pink and white. Mrs. Job and Mrs. Adams proved themselves, as usual, most charming entertainers.

Finds Farmers Using Land Plaster.

N. S. Robb, county agriculturist, visited a number of farms in the vicinity of Cottage Grove this week and found quite a number of the farmers using lime and land plaster for the sour lands. He also found that a good many silos are being erected. The use of land plaster, says Mr. Robb, is very beneficial for the lands of this valley, and more is used in western Oregon than in any other section of the country, he says.—Eugene Register.

FADS AND FANCIES

The fireless cooker is becoming as indispensable in homes these days as bathtubs, furnaces and enamel sinks. There are many good fireless cookers on the market, but the housekeeper who can't afford one will find explicit directions for making one in a bulletin issued by the Cornell Reading Course. (Farmhouse Series, No. 9, New York State College of Agriculture, Ithaca, N. Y.) The fireless cooker has been thoroughly tested at Cornell University.

If one is troubled with a leaky fountain pen the application of a little soap to the threads of the screw will work magic. If the pen is emptied, thoroughly cleaned, filled, and the soap applied there will be no more trouble until the pen needs filling again.

To keep a sponge in good condition it should be washed occasionally in warm water to which has been added a little tartaric acid; afterwards rinse in clear water.

The importance of a thorough airing of clothes after ironing cannot be overemphasized. Clothes put away damp do not look smooth and well-finished when taken out for use, and there is danger of their becoming damaged by mildew.

To clean bottles fill them with scraps of torn newspaper and a little soapsuds, shake vigorously until the paper is dissolved to a pulpy mass and rinse thoroughly. You will be surprised how the dirtiest bottle will become clear and shining.

Every mother should study her child's foot and buy shoes that will fit it. Watch the barefooted child at play and notice the space the toes require when the muscles are free. Forty per cent of high school children have flat foot; and weak arches and spines are common among school girls of this age simply because the proper care has not been given to dressing their feet. There are several makes of shoes that are especially adapted to the needs of the child. They have wide toes and the heels are built out under the instep so as to form a support for the arch of the foot. It would be well to get this kind next time you buy shoes for your boy or girl.

I had a piece of thin silk to stitch on an old sewing machine which did not do the best of work, and found it almost impossible to do anything with it, so I decided to try using parafffin paper on the under side of the goods and the result was entirely satisfactory, writes a contributor to Mothers Magazine. The paper served to regulate the feed and kept the tension correct, the work was not stretched in the least, and the paper was easy to remove.

TESTED RECIPES

Here are a few foreign recipes, all comparatively simple and each one delicious:

Eggs, Marcella Sembrich—Take as many English muffins as are needed, remove the inside, leaving only the shells; butter well and put in the oven; chop up a very little onion and fry in butter, add some sliced mushrooms and continue the frying for a minute or two, then add some cream sauce and a few drops of lemon juice with some roughly chopped calf's brains and set on range; season well, and fill the muffin shells, placing a poached egg on each; cover it again with the preparation, sprinkling over some grated cheese, brown it lightly and serve.

• • •

Risotto, Napolitaine—Cut a medium-sized onion in dice and fry lightly in butter; when it begins to color, add one pound of rice, well cleaned without washing and let it fry with the onion for a minute, and add sufficient bouillon to equal twice the height. Season with salt, pepper and nutmeg, and let boil for 20 minutes. When ready to serve add some grated Parmesan cheese and if too thick, add a little bouillon and mix well. Serve separately some Parmesan cheese and light meat gravy.

A variation from the above may be had by adding shrimps, mushrooms and oysters or tongue, truffles, sweetbreads and mushrooms, as desired.

• • •

Apple Roll, Viennoise—For six persons take about one-half pound of flour, a tablespoonful of hot butter and mix thoroughly together, adding two eggs, a pinch of salt and a little tepid water. Make a soft dough, knead and work well, cover and set aside in a warm place. Peel and thin-slice some apples, Sultana raisins and Malaga grapes. Cover table with cloth and prepare some lukewarm butter to dip hands in when pulling the dough (a hot temperature is necessary to avoid breaking the dough); roll thin as paper, the thinner the better, and place the sliced apples on this with the raisins, grapes, powdered sugar and cinnamon. Take one side of the tablecloth, after rolling all together to desired size, place in pan, removing the tablecloth, and add some butter. Bake slowly.

An easy way to make mayonnaise that will never go wrong is as follows: To each yolk of an egg which is slightly stirred, beat in one teaspoonful of boiling water (water must be boiling—not merely hot), then add the quantity of olive oil desired (it need not be dropped in drop by drop, but by the teaspoonful), add salt and pepper to taste, then thin with either lemon juice or vinegar. Beat with dover egg beater. You will be surprised how quickly this salad dressing can be made.

SUMMARY OF CONDITION OF CROPS IN OREGON

Report by District Forecaster Beals Completed from Special Correspondence.

Following is a summary of the crop conditions in Oregon for the week ending June 13, 1916, as reported to the Roseburg office of the weather bureau by special correspondence throughout the state:

Although the days were moderately warm and there was plenty of sunshine, the nights were abnormally cool and on the morning of the 10th a heavy frost formed in many places throughout the state. It did no damage in the western counties other than to potatoes, beans, tomatoes and tender garden truck which was nipped severely in several places. In the eastern counties the cold nights destroyed much of the vegetation in gardens and held back the growth of both fall and spring sown wheat, barley, oats and rye.

Many farmers had finished cutting their first crop of alfalfa, which did not turn out so well as expected, due to the preceding cold and cloudy weather. Pasturage and meadows have made fairly good growth and stock is in fine condition. There are more than the usual number of missing hills in the hop yards and the condition of this crop is, on the whole, unsatisfactory.

Apples and prunes continue to do well and fungus and blight are less troublesome than usual. Home grown cherries are being marketed but the crop is short. Strawberries continue to ripen slowly. The few peaches that escaped the May frosts are making good advancement.

The weather during the week was favorable to outdoor work and the farmers have cleared the weeds from their cultivated crops. Some of them have also begun haying, while others are setting out kale and other root crops for stock feed. The snow is melting slowly in the mountains. It is still packed hard in the gulches and has not all melted yet on the north slopes, although the south slopes are mostly bare. There will be plenty of water for late irrigation.

MAY MOVE SUGAR BEET FACTORY TO SUTHERLIN

Mormon Elders Claim There Is Not Enough Territory Adjacent to Grants Pass.

G. O. Elliot and L. R. Yeppsen, Mormon elders who have been in this valley for a short time, express themselves favorably on the sugar beet activities, says the Medford Mail Tribune.

"This valley," said Mr. Elliot, "is the only logical site for a sugar beet factory south of the Sutherlin valley. It has acreage enough to support one, and the soil to grow the beets. Ten thousand acres, including Sams valley could be secured and would be ample to run a large factory.

When the sugar beet company was formed Bishop Nibley allowed his name to be used to finance the company, as the others had no standing in the eastern markets, on condition that he be not required to give any actual time.

The factory at Grants Pass is sure to be moved, probably north to Sutherlin or the Willamette valley. There is insufficient sugar beet land around Grants Pass for seventy miles except this valley. The Sutherlin proposition can support a small factory.

Too much has been said on profits on sugar beets and not enough on growing. It means hard work but a fair profit.

Some of the land accepted is not good for sugar beets and some signed whose owners do not intend to grow beets.

A sugar factory runs only three months and is idle nine. It brings money not only to the employes, but to the farmer.

A factory in Medford is almost a certainty in 1917. It is logical. It is necessary.

Former Grove Boy Condemns Eggs.

The following item from a San Francisco newspaper is of interest to Cottage Grove people, as it concerns a son of Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Lea of this city:

Twenty thousand pounds of condemned eggs, originally valued at $10,000, were burned in a huge bonfire at the foot of Sansome street yesterday. The destruction was upon the order of Professor Erwin J. Lea, head of the state food and drug laboratory at the University of California, who declared the eggs, which were imported from China eight months ago, were unfit for consumption. The cooked remnants will be used in Golden Gate Park as fertilizer.

Cornucopia People Making Tests.

The Cornucopia Mining company, which recently secured a six months' lease on the Black Butte quicksilver mines, is making a scientific test of the ore to determine whether or not the mines will pay, according to Master Mechanic Orr, a Eugene visitor last week. "If the report at the end of the lease period is favorable," said Mr. Orr, "the company expects to take over the property and conduct extensive mining operations there.—Eugene Register.
