ADVERTISING Costs Money

But so does clerk hire, so does rent in a good location, so does window dressing, so do price cards and show cards, so do show cases, so does light, so does everything else that will help you make sales. All put together, the items of expense just mentioned, all of which are more or less made to help sales, cost many times as much as good newspaper advertising. Of course you cannot very well dispense with them, even though they reach only those people who either pass your store or enter it, but you can make this expense return you more money, and the way to do it is to do newspaper advertising.
