THE "ROSE BUG" PEST.

A Troublesome Insect to the Florist and Gardener.
(Prepared by United States department of agriculture.)

The rose chafer, or "rose bug" as it is often called, is one of the most troublesome insects with which the florist and the gardener has to contend. This insect, which is widely distributed, appears as a long legged beetle of a yellowish brown color usually in the month of June. It strips all kinds of vegetables, fruits and flowers of their blossoms and foliage. Rose and grapes vines suffer especially from the attacks of the "rose bug," but fruit and trees also are injured. In certain sections of the country whole crops are destroyed by this pest.

The "rose bug" usually disappears in from four to six weeks. In this short interval, however, it can do so much damage that its control is a problem of the greatest importance. In a new farmers' bulletin, No. 721, of the department of agriculture it is pointed out that many so called "sure" remedies, including compounds of lime, copper, kerosene and tobacco, have failed to give satisfactory results when put to a rigid test. Hardly ornamental plants, the bulletin says, may possibly be protected by a heavy application of arsenate of lead, using four or five pounds to fifty gallons of either water or bordeaux mixture. Very thorough applications should be made when the insects first appear and repeated as often as necessary. The thorough use of arsenical sprays will afford a considerable degree of protection to vineyards, the amount of benefit varying with the abundance of the insects. The use of this poison is also desirable for the control of other grape pests, and, in consequence, vineyards in sandy regions should be sprayed regularly as a part of the routine vineyard work. The first application of the spray should be made just before the blossoms open and the treatment repeated if necessary as soon as the blossoms fall.

For the destruction of beetles on fruit trees arsenate of lead should be used, preferably in some such fungicide as bordeaux mixture, when the beetles first appear. The strength of the solution should be from four to five pounds of arsenate of lead to fifty gallons of spray. For peaches and other stone fruits the arsenical should be used in the self boiled lime-sulphur wash or in fifty gallons of water which contains lime wash made from slaking three or four pounds of good stone lime. Repeated applications may be necessary.

Another method of control is to stir the breeding grounds of the insect to a depth of three or more inches. This should be done when the insect is in the pupal stage in the soil, the exact time varying with the latitude. In northern Ohio the most favorable period is from May 25 to June 10. In the south the work should be commenced earlier. All ground which might serve as a breeding place should be plowed and harrowed and only the heaviest land left in grass. The "rose bug" prefers light, sandy regions for its breeding ground, and clay lands, unless they are near sandy soil, are seldom troubled.

FARM GARDEN POINTERS.

Making a good garden is a man's job. Do not leave the hard work to the women folks.

The first tomatoes to ripen that are oval and smooth contain the seed that should be saved.

It is fatal to some plants to fertilize them with rich manures when the ground is very dry.

Caulliflower can be grown more easily than cabbage. It is always in demand and at good prices.

The onion is akin to the turnip and cabbage. You must see that the roots are well in the ground, but need not be so particular about the bulb.

Profitable farming and gardening calls for more thought put into the business, but it also calls for considerable labor and that given at the right time.

One man can grow and care for four acres of strawberries, but it will take much extra help to pick them.
