NO SLACKERS AMONG GROVE'S YOUNG MEN

COTTAGE GROVE is one city which has no slackers among its young men, and none will be affected by the order of the war department that marriages since the war began will not be considered as exempting from military duty. Not one of Cottage Grove's young men has asked a girl to marry him to save him from military duty, and it is probable that no Cottage Grove girl would listen to an appeal of that kind. Cottage Grove's young men and young women are equally patriotic.

CANYON MUD SPOILS PLANS OF YOUNG ELOPERS

Springfield Couple Is Overtaken Here as About to Dispose of Another's Car

For a second time the mud in Pass creek canyon has resulted in the capture of those wanted by the law. The victims this time were Herbert Moore, nephew of a former minister of this city, and Miss Eunice Parker, both of Springfield, who were attempting to elope. Both are minors, being 16 years of age. They intended getting a marriage license in another county. The car, which was the property of Miss Margaret Morris, of Eugene, could not negotiate the mud of Pass creek canyon. After spending an uncomfortable night, the young folks returned to Cottage Grove Saturday morning. Leaving the young woman in another part of the city, young Moore took the car to Woodson brothers' garage and completed a deal to sell it for $195. He intended using the money to buy tickets for California. The sale could not be completed, however, until the arrival of Oscar Woodson to sign the check. Meanwhile the girls' father, who had heard that the young couple had bought tickets for here, arrived and brought the elopement to an end. Deputy Sheriff Pitcher took the couple to Eugene, where the girl was turned over to her parents. Mr. Moore was arraigned on a charge of "doing an act manifestly intended to cause a child to become delinquent." He was bound over to the juvenile court and bailed fixed at $500. Young Moore formerly lived here with his uncle.

ADAMS AND SPENCE TO DEBATE HERE MAY 19

It is now practically certain that the date for the debate upon the road bond issue between E. J. Adams, member of the state highway commission, and C. E. Spence, master of the state grange, will be held here Saturday afternoon, May 19. Both men have signified their willingness and desire to meet each other upon this question and a lively meeting is anticipated.

GROVE BOY GETS COMMISSION

Lee Roy Woods, Jr., Given Lieutenantcy in Coast Artillery Regulars.

Lee Roy Woods, Jr., who has been taking post graduate work the past year at O. A. C., returned home Monday evening for a short visit before entering the service as a second lieutenant of coast artillery regulars.

He was recommended for a commission by the regular army instructor in military science at O. A. C., and by Major Metcalf and Colonel Hammond, of the Oregon Coast Artillery, and expects his commission within a few days.

Alleged Delinquents Run Away.

Eugene Guard: Fred and Charlie Reames, minors, of Cottage Grove, who were alleged delinquents in the county court Monday, and whose parent was directed to bring them to court Wednesday morning at 11 o'clock, ran away yesterday and did not appear. George Robinson, also ordered to appear in connection with the same case as the other boys, made his appearance. The court placed him under charge of his parents and all three boys will be given a hearing by Judge Bown when the Reames brothers are apprehended.

Thursday, Friday and Saturday Are for Clean Up

Thursday, Friday and Saturday of this week have been designated by Health Officer Oglesby as clean-up days. The order states that all premises, streets and alleys must be put in sanitary condition on these days. All rubbish put in boxes, barrels or sacks will be picked up by the city teams and carted away free of charge.

RED HAND CARDS UPSET VALLEY MILL MEN

Enterprising, Audacious Advertiser Doesn't Make Much of a Hit With Customers

Cottage Grove mill men were not as much perturbed by the receipt of "red hand" postal cards as were the mill men of other parts of the valley. When the first card, on which was crudely printed a blood red hand and the words "Three days more, we mean business," arrived, no guards were asked for the mill properties as was done in other parts of the valley. At the Brown Lumber company, Manager L. S. Hill being in Portland, Duke Knox, office man, gently shipped the dangerous looking warning to a quiet resting place in the waste basket, thinking little of it except that it was the production of some advertising man with a crude and perverted sense of humor. J. H. Chambers was not particularly alarmed as to his property but the scorching he would have given the perpetrator of the joke, had he been able to talk to him, would have made the "red hand" postal card look a crayon sketch of some pastoral scene in comparison.

Follow-up postal cards brought the information that the "red hand" card was the advance notice for a machinery catalog that would soon be received. Upon the receipt of the "red hand" card, which was written in red ink, mill men along the entire coast hired guards to protect their property and called upon the civil authorities for assistance. Sheriff Parker, of this county, was called upon in regard to the matter by a number of the mill men of the county. The receipt of subsequent cards explaining the "joke" was a great relief to many.

It is probable, however, that while the card got the notoriety that was sought, the pecuniary results are likely to be minus.

Lane County Boy Killed in Battle.

Eugene Register: The first real meaning of war was brought home to people of Lane county late last night when a telegraphic notice was received of the death of Charles Vivian Knox in action April 9. The message came to F. V. and Eva Martha Knox, his parents, who reside in Fox Hollow, on Eugene R. F. D. 3.

The message was sent from Ottawa, Canada, was signed by the "keeper of records," and in official language told that young Knox had fallen while in battle under Canadian colors.

Charles Vivian Knox was 29 years of age and enlisted in the Canadian army in April, 1916.

FIVE MORE NAMES ADDED TO THE ROLL OF HONOR

Five more young men added their names to the Honor Roll this week by joining Sixth company, Oregon Coast Artillery. Their names are: Robert C. Shields, Drain; John O. Avery and Lorin E. Hannaford, Cottage Grove; Harry L. Allen, Creswell, and Kelly B. Moody, Seaside.

Elsie Sterling Dies.

Elsie Sterling, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David Sterling, died yesterday afternoon. The cause of death was cerebro spinal meningitis. She had been sick for several weeks and had been unconscious for several days before death.

She was 6 years of age. The funeral will be held Friday, but the hour has not yet been set.

Visit Cottage Grove Roads.

County Commissioners E. R. Spencer and M. H. Harlow and County Road Superintendent J. R. McKay, made a trip last week over the roads between here and Bohemia. Mr. Spencer remained over Sunday with his family here. The party found the roads in fairly good condition. They also found that during the past winter over a hundred trees, overweighed with snow, fell between Red Bridge and Lundpark.

Poison Is Killing Squirrels.

Grangers report that they are having complete success with their squirrel poison which they themselves mixed, and which they are selling to grangers and farmers at cost. They have put out over 200 quarts up to date and they believe they have gotten a squirrel for every taste.

Receive Red Cross Training.

The Red Cross division of the Honor Guard girls had a meeting at the Cottage hotel Thursday night. They were addressed by Mrs. Ray Trask, a trained nurse, on the ethics of nursing, and by Dr. Kime on first aid to the wounded. They will meet again in two weeks.

Has First Potatoes of Season.

PASTEURIZING LAW IS MISUNDERSTOOD RIFLE CLUB WILL BE ORGANIZED

Only Milk Sold at Retail to Be Treated, and Not Then Provided Cows Are Healthy.

There has been considerable misunderstanding as to the provisions of an act passed by the recent legislature requiring the pasteurizing of milk. The Sentinel has a copy of the law and the pasteurizing applies only to milk which is to be retailed, and then only when from cows that have not passed the tuberculin test. Milk to be sold in bulk at wholesale, or to creameries, shall not be pasteurized. The tuberculin test will be made by the state livestock sanitary board, and after a farmer or retailer of milk has made application for such test he shall be exempt from the provisions of the act until the test is made, that is, he may go ahead selling milk just as if the test had been made.

The act does not state that the person shall pay any fee, so that the test is probably made at the expense of the state. If the test is successful, the milk from such cows may be sold without being pasteurized.

The law goes into effect September 1.

Oregon and the adjacent parts of Washington and Idaho have already furnished their quota of boys for the navy and have been congratulated by the navy department for their promptness, according to word received by Postmistress Veatch.

Honor Guard Girls Learn to Take Down and Set Up Cars

A class of 25 Honor Guard girls are taking lessons twice a week in the mechanism of automobiles. The school of instruction is held at the Cottage Grove garage on Pacific highway. Oscar Woodson furnishes the garage and lights free of charge, and Earl Harklerod, Mr. Woodson's mechanic, acts as instructor free of charge. In each lesson the mechanism of a different part of the car is taken up. When the lessons are completed the girls will be able to take a car to pieces and put it together again. The general public is invited to be present at these lessons, which are given on Tuesday and Thursday evenings.

Portland Will Set Clocks Ahead.

Portland, Ore., April 27.—Municipal clocks in Portland will be set ahead one hour immediately to give city employees more daylight in which to cultivate their gardens, the city commission today having passed a "daylight saving" resolution ordering city clocks set ahead and urging all citizens to do likewise.

COTTAGE GROVE IS READY TO DO ITS BIT

Food Preparedness Special Meets Enthusiastic Reception by Both Young and Old

Live Committee Is Appointed to Conduct Follow Up Work and to See That All Agricultural Resources Are Utilized.

That Cottage Grove is alive to the needs of the times and is ready to do its bit, or a little bit more, was evidenced by the keen interest displayed during the visit of the Southern Pacific-Oregon Agricultural college food preparedness train here Tuesday. School children were as deeply interested as their elders and attended the lectures with note pads and pencils, making memoranda of the important points of the lectures.

At 10 o'clock the meetings began at the high school building, where addresses were delivered by Professors Brown and Lamb and Misses Cowgill and Turley. As soon as the high school meeting adjourned all of the members of the party went to the parlors of the commercial club and soon a follow-up committee was formed, the following persons being members: M. H. Anderson, president of the commercial club, chairman; W. G. Beattie, superintendent of city schools; J. B. Protzman, C. E. Stewart, county fruit inspector; Mrs. B. R. Job, Mrs. Clara Burkholder and Mrs. A. B. Wood.

The work of this committee is to list all vacant pieces of property, endeavor to arrange for its cultivation, to generally supervise the work of making every foot of ground do its duty and in general to organize the resources of production, looking after the preparation of the ground, the seed, cultivation of the crop, harvesting, storage and marketing, and to stimulate interest in the elimination of waste, conservation of food and its preservation for future use.

The afternoon program was given in the two lecture cars, and in all seven audiences were addressed, the cars being as a rule filled to overflowing. Miss Cowgill gave two canning demonstrations, Miss Turley talked twice on food values and saving. Professor Brown spoke once on gardening and Professor Lamb gave two poultry lectures.

Miss Cowgill's demonstration of cold-pack canning attracted audiences that taxed the seating capacity of the car in which she spoke. She warned against trying to can too great quantities at a time. Less work better done was better for many reasons.

By way of demonstration she canned a pint jar of rhubarb by use of a spirit lamp. Leaving the skin on the rhubarb made it a prettier looking jar, Miss Cowgill said.

Professor Lamb spoke on "The Hen in Town," although his suggestions were equally fitting for the hen who is sticking to the farm. He explained the best methods for getting the largest egg production at a time when it is almost a crime to feed hens a greater amount of food than they return in the nests.

Professor W. S. Brown talked on "Vegetable Growing." He spoke of planning and planting gardens and of the best seeds and fertilizers to use. His address was of great value to those who intend to raise gardens this summer.

Miss Turley spoke on food conservation and explained that a balanced ration was as important for humans as for animals. She said that such food was wasted because of indigestion in balancing the ration. As an example she said that potatoes, rice and cereals, often served at the same meal, were all producers of heat and energy and lacked the tissue building qualities. Meat, eggs, cheese and milk were spoken of as tissue building foods, which should be proportioned with the heat producing foods. Miss Turley said the greatest need was food economy that would not weaken physical endurance. She advocated plenty of plain food properly proportioned.

She surprised her audiences by the assertion that a quart of milk was equal to three-fourths of a pound of beefsteak, and that one pound of cheese was equal to two pounds of steak. Another statement that surprised was that the actual waste from kitchens of the country amounted to 700 million dollars annually.

All the information given by the lectures is contained in pamphlets issued by the college, and these pamphlets will be sent upon request. Mrs. Clara Burkholder has a quantity of these which she will be pleased to distribute to those desiring them. Many of these were distributed to those attending the lectures and their distribution is considered one of the most important features of the work.

Little Glen Fisher, of Leona, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Fisher, had a narrow escape from death last week when run down by a passenger train. He was severely injured but is improving. He is a grandson of Mr. and Mrs. August Lunan, of this city.

SON OF VETERAN TRUE TO SPIRIT OF FATHER

ONE SON of a veteran of the Civil war has demonstrated that he has the spirit of his forebears. Ray Kerr, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Kerr, who left here several months ago for California, has joined the aviation corps. He is now at Fort McDowell, but expects to be sent either to San Diego or to the east. The school at San Diego is pretty well crowded.

The preliminary training for an aviator takes from six months to two years, complete familiarity with machinery being necessary. Ray writes that he is anxious to get a chance to serve his country and that if a determination to make good will do it he will have the chance.

DOES NOT RECOVER FROM OPERATION

Mrs. H. J. Shinn, Prominent in Civic and Lodge Life, Passes Away at the Age of 55 Years.

Mrs. H. J. Shinn died at a Portland hospital Friday following one of a number of operations which she had undergone during the past few years. Although her condition was known to be serious, death came unexpectedly sudden. Her husband, her son, C. M. Shinn, and her daughter, Mrs. Ilma Beager, were all with her at time of death. Mrs. Beager had to leave her children here sick with the measles.

The funeral was held here Monday afternoon from the family residence, Rev. D. A. MacLeod officiating. The Rebekahs, of which Mrs. Shinn was a member, had charge of the services at the grave. Mr. Shinn is a member of the school board and in deference to this fact school children met the body at the train and the schools were closed the afternoon of the funeral.

Sarah Ann Sutton was born January 16, 1858, in Indiana. She was married to H. J. Shinn October 29, 1876, in Iowa. They came to Cottage Grove in 1911. Mrs. Shinn had been a Rebekah for more than a quarter of a century, and had gone through the chairs. She was a member of Cottage Grove's first library board and when able to was active in civic affairs.

Surviving children are C. M. Shinn and Mrs. Ilma Beager, of this city; Mrs. H. A. Watts, of Berkeley, Calif., and Mrs. J. K. Herman, of El Centro, Calif., all of whom were present at the funeral.

Male quartet.

This will be the final meeting of the association for the year.

LANE COUNTY HOGS BRING HIGHEST PRICE EVER PAID

The highest price ever paid for Lane county hogs was received in the Portland Union Stock yards Thursday when W. A. Ayres, marketing agent for the Pomona grange, sold a load of animals at $15.65 a hundred. Eighty-four hogs, three cows and one calf comprised the shipment.

Says It's Im-pass-able Canyon.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Gordon and daughter Elizabeth, of LaCrosse, Wash., visited Mr. and Mrs. Roy Smith Sunday while on their way home from California, where they spent the winter. Mrs. Gordon is a cousin of Mrs. Smith. They came through Pass creek canyon by automobile and Mr. Gordon says the canyon has been misnamed. He says the proper name is Im-pass-able canyon.

Says We Have Pretty City, Best Newspaper and Best Hotels

"Cottage Grove is one of the prettiest cities I have found on the coast and has the best hotels and the best newspaper of any city of its size I have visited."

That is the judgment of Miss Estella H. Kahn, special press agent for Al. G. Barnes wild animal circus, which will show here Saturday. This is the only circus employing women for advance agents.
