

HINTS ON EYESIGHT

If you have frequent headaches, if you see distant objects clearly, but painfully, or need to hold printed matter nearer to or further from the eyes than formerly, or need more light; if you have observed these things, your eyes need the help of correctly made glasses to assist as well as preserve your sight for greater efficiency. Accurately fitted glasses are only possible when the sight has been scientifically tested. We have every facility and long years of experience and study for doing this and exercise the greatest care so that you may receive the utmost benefit from wearing glasses. All work guaranteed satisfactory.

Society

If you know of a society item and do not inform the newspaper, it is your own fault if it is not printed.

Mrs. C. E. Frost entertained the Joker club Tuesday evening, the time being spent in the usual manner. The decorations were irises and lilacs. A beautiful bouquet of irises was the centerpiece of the dining table. Refreshments of asparagus on toast and strawberry shortcake and cream were served. Mrs. Hugh Curran was a guest of the club.

The Constellation club meets this afternoon at Masonic hall.

The Social Twelve club was pleasantly entertained last Thursday by Mrs. B. R. Job.

Mrs. O. L. Nichols entertained the M. P. G. club Tuesday afternoon, the time being spent with fancy work and in conversation. Refreshments of potato salad, veal loaf, sandwiches, pickles and pineapple pie were served.

Mr. and Mrs. L. L. Harrel entertained Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Hamloth at dinner Sunday in honor of Mrs. Hamloth's birthday, Mr. Harrel's occurring at the same time.

Announcements have reached here of the marriage of Miss Grace E. Hemenway and Chester Hatfield, of Los Angeles.

The judicious advertiser not only takes the surest means of directly benefiting his own business but his support is a great aid to the newspaper in its work in upbuilding a community, and in its efforts to give the city a newspaper the quality and character of which advertises the city as a live one from which the merchant gets an indirect return.

GOOD HOUSE GREETINGS ANNUAL CLASS PLAY

"For One Night," the senior play, was very acceptably presented Monday night before a good-sized audience in the high school auditorium, being directed by Miss Lulu Curran. The best-acted part was that of Spartan Spurgis Spotts, a struggling producer of plays, by Carl Rodolf. The man afraid of his wife was well taken by Frank Wallace as Prof. Goldwhinney, and Miss Genevieve Jury took the part of the wife in a natural manner. Other parts quite acceptably taken were Mr. Charles Harkins, rather of a buttinsky, by Fred Brumbaugh; Jack Harkins, a spendthrift young man, Ernest Redford; Mrs. Newman, the wife who fears her husband is keeping secrets from her, by Ellamay Utterback; Dr. Newman, the husband driven to desperation by his wife's suspicious, by Marvel Randall; Paula, Prof. Goldwhinney's daughter, by Lenora Hohl, and Rose, the maid, by Ruth Powell.

Pleasing numbers rendered before the play and between acts were: Reading, "Laska," by Miss Hazel Loucks; piano solo, Miss Eva Hartung; vocal solo, Miss Lois Thomas, accompanied by Mrs. DesLarzes; vocal trio, Mrs. Roy Short, Miss Jessie Smith and Mrs. Bert Trask, accompanied by Miss Sisby; vocal solo by Miss Mae Armstrong, accompanied by Miss Genevieve Jury; vocal solo by George Matthews, accompanied by Miss Sisby; vocal solo by Miss Jessie McCord, accompanied by Miss Sisby; vocal music by quartet composed of Miss Mae Armstrong, Mrs. C. A. Lynch, Miss Carolyn Woods and Mrs. Ilma Beager, accompanied by Miss Sisby.

DOESN'T LIKE BACK DOOR MAIL DELIVERY.

Dorena, Ore., May 30.—(To the Editor.)—The patrons of the Row River mail route do not feel disposed to lose the full benefit from the delivery in order to accommodate a few on another road, the contractor and railroad company and desire the delivery to be made as petitioned for and established from public highway. No back-door delivery for us, which it would really be if made from the railroad right-of-way and the only one of its kind in America.

This change was made once and very promptly ordered back to public highway and if attempted again it will either be put back there or some very good reason will be made known why. History may repeat itself in this railroad vs. farmer test, but the right man may yet look into this and not depend on office reports and political pulls and settle this for good and later establish another route for our friends.

I wish to state that notice is misleading. The postoffice department has not ordered this change. I have a letter from the postoffice department myself. He has only been permitted to carry over the railroad while they gather information for decision later in the case. Got my notice in writing above or would not have made this statement but if anyone disputes it let them come and see my letter for themselves.

Now, patrons, judge and govern yourselves accordingly. This you see is not over by any means yet.

W. J. MESSENGER.

WILL NEED 8000 WORKMEN

American Lake Project to Rank First in Northwest.

Tacoma, Wash.—Mechanics will be brought to American Lake to construct the thousands of buildings needed there even if all work of this character has to be stopped in Tacoma, Portland, Seattle and other north-west cities. That announcement was made by the representatives of the quartermaster's department of the army, who are here to supervise the preliminary work.

It will be necessary to build thousands of buildings to house the 60,000 troops to be brought to camp, beginning September 1. Of this number, 800 of the structures will be of a permanent character. The great task must be completed by the date of the first arrival of soldiers. Captain David L. Stone estimates that 8000 workmen will be employed there during the summer.

Foiling the Enemy.

Long Ben, a stage driver in the southwest with a soft voice and a gentle disposition, but with several notches on the handle of his revolver, is not given to seeking trouble.

Not very long ago he brought in a 200 pound salesman and, the roads being unusually rough, lauded both him and his trunk in rather bad repair. The more the traveling man thought of it the madder he got, and that night, when he discovered how his trunk had been wrecked, his wrath boiled over, and he announced that in the morning he would beat that stage driver into unconscious ugliness. He got up early and paced the office of the hotel, awaiting the arrival of Long Ben.

One of the stage driver's friends slipped over to the office of the livery stable, where the latter slept, and tipped him off.

"Say, Ben, that fire eating ptekle salesman you brought in last night is over there laying for you and is going to knock your alleged head off as soon as you go to breakfast."

Rubbing his cheek speculatively, he said in his peculiarly mild drawl: "I'll just foot that guy. I won't go to breakfast!"—Saturday Evening Post.

Futility of Arguments.

As no men are created equal, all arguments, if indulged in, must be carried on either with superior persons or inferior persons. Viewed in this way, the utter futility of all arguments becomes apparent at once.

First, it is futile, of course, to carry on an argument with a superior person, because, being superior, he will have such complete contempt for your opinions that he either will not listen to you at all or else he will listen with a patronizing smile and immediately dismiss from his mind what you have to say as not worth consideration.

It is easily futile to argue with an inferior person, for if you have anything to argue about worth the time of a man of your standing and mental capacity, then it is absurd to waste talk upon an inferior being who will not be able to appreciate it. Thus are disputatious people isolated from the world, and there is no help for it—Life.

Japanese Homes.

"One last thing I should like to mention," said the Japanese editor, "and that is our so called pride. I can receive you here at this club as man to man, and we can talk freely. But the ordinary Japanese home is not fitted for intercourse with foreigners. Our kitchens cannot prepare foreign food. Our matings are marred by the use of tables and chairs. Our wives are not accustomed to meeting strangers and do not speak foreign languages. Visitors are compelled to take off their shoes, and, if they have holes in their socks, that is embarrassing for them. Under such conditions intercourse has been in the past rather difficult. We do not like to accept hospitality without being able to reciprocate. Rectitude is a national trait of the Japanese. We respond very quickly to friendship or suspicion."—Maynard Owen Williams in Christian Herald.

Pride of a Musician.

Viotti, the famous French musician of the eighteenth century, had an equal contempt for royalty and an exaggerated opinion of himself, as the following story shows: One day he was summoned to Versailles to play before Marie Antoinette and the court. The performance had begun, the opening bars of his favorite solo commanded breathless attention, when a cry was heard—"Place for Mgr. le Comte d'Artois!" At the sound Viotti immediately ceased playing, cast an indignant glance at his audience, placed his violin under his arm and walked out of the place.

Harmless Humbugs.

"Do you really think the public likes to be humbugged?" asked the man of many anxieties.

"Yes," replied Senator Sorghum, "when the humbug is pretty and harmless. But they resent the kind that buzzes around waiting for a chance to sting 'em."—Washington Star

The Plain People.

"I put my faith in the wisdom of the plain people," said the statesman.

"Yes," replied Senator Sorghum, "the wisdom of the plain people is all right. The only thing I fear is that some of them are getting so that they know too much."—Washington Star

Kind Mother.

Mrs. O'Brien—"An' I see yez takin' in washin' ag'in, Mrs. O'Flannigan?" Mrs. O'Flannigan—"Sure 'tis only to amuse the childer I'm doin' it. They tolke the windles covered w' steam so that they can make pictures on thim!"—Pearson's Weekly.

Quite a Difference.

"Pa, what's the difference between a patriot and a jingo?"

"A patriot, my son, is one whose bosom swells with pride of his country, while in a jingo the swelling appears in his head."—St. Louis Post Dispatch.

The Reason.

"You never laugh at my jokes?"

"I wouldn't dare to."

"Why not?"

"I have always been taught to respect old age."—Baltimore American.

Vulgarity.

"Why do you say he is vulgar?"

"Because he has at least ten times as much money as I have."—Chicago Herald

EVERY SEASON IS OPEN SEASON FOR THE U.S. UNITED STATES CREAM SEPARATOR

More Than Value Received

IT isn't the amount paid for a Cream Separator that makes it profitable—it's the returns received. One Separator may cost $30.00 and another may cost $75.00; yet the chances are the $75.00 investment will be the cheaper one of the two, by doing more and better work, requiring less effort and less cost for up-keep for each dollar spent.

DON'T be content to use an old style machine year after year, simply because you have it. Good dairy practice does not permit "scrub" stock to eat their heads off, and fall below a profitable milk yield, simply because they happen to belong to the herd.

Progress demands a constant improvement in the mechanical end of the dairy as well as in the stock.

Give me a chance to show you how the thoroughlybred U.S., the World's Record class skimming cream separator, will give you more than value received.
