EATON ON THE WAR.

Eugene, Ore., April 22.—(To the Editor.)—I am enclosing you a copy of my announcement to the voters of my candidacy for the republican nomination for state representative. It is rather long, but since most of it has to do with my attitude toward the government, which I am sorry you misunderstood in the columns of your paper, I think you will be glad to help me correct the wrong and damaging impression that was made while I was in the east last fall.

ALLEN EATON.

I am offering my name for renomination to the office which I have filled for the past twelve years, because I think I can do more as a member of the legislature both to help win the war and to advance the cause of democracy, than in any other position now open to me.

I will, therefore, present to the voters a legislative program intended alike to speed up the production of those things upon which the war is dependent, and to protect those industries temporarily injured by the war. This program will also include:

A change in the highway law by which 75 per cent of the money from the state bond issue has already been spent on scenic highways and roads run-ing in and out of Portland.

A repeal of such burdensome laws as the publication of delinquent tax list (for which $1000 was divided between The Guard and The Register this year) and the $40,000 state advertising act.

A state classification of farm lands, through departments already established, to assist the prospective farmer and immigrant and protect them from speculators and land sharks.

The distribution of labor by which the man and the job may find each other in the shortest time and at the least expense.

Better state facilities for the preliminary training of men for the war.

And last, but by no means least, provision for the boys upon their return home, for free education and training for the work of their choice, and good lands and equipment, with capital, on generous terms, to enable them to become producers.

I am entering this campaign also to meet and destroy the lies that have been publicly and privately circulated against me since last fall when, under cover of the Eugene commercial club and in the name of patriotism, an attack was made against me intended to destroy my personal and political influence, and render me useless for any further public service. After making full allowance for the sincere people who were drawn into this movement, it still remains the most unfair, vindictive and shameful political persecution ever carried out in this community. Not one act or word of mine could be proved in the least disloyal, but taking advantage of a widespread prejudice against a meeting which I attended in Chicago, my enemies have tried to make me the victim of all that has been charged against this organization, although my own connection with it was slight and altogether honorable. I think this meeting was sincere but ill advised; I think the suppression of it wrong. At the one session of it which I attended there was no attack upon the government. Had there been I should have opposed it, as it was, I took no part in the meeting. And since my return home I have had no connection with the organization.

As to my patriotism there has never been the least question. My position on the war, despite the lies circulated by my enemies, has never been equivocal. From its very beginning, I have been a careful student of the war, and I have never been neutral in my heart. I have never been a pacifist except in the sense that President Wilson is a pacifist.

He represents, more than any world statesman, my attitude toward the war. I believe him to be the great hope of liberals throughout the world. Since we entered the war I have always maintained that a patched up peace would be a calamity. But to try to understand those things which will insure a righteous and, if possible, a permanent peace, I consider the duty of every citizen of a true democracy.

I was a member of the house of representatives of the sessions of 1907, 1909, 1911, 1913, 1915 and 1917. This is the longest period of like service in the history of Oregon. My record has been honorable and effective. I have made some enemies, and especially so in the session of 1917, by my opposition to the $6,000,000 road bond act, the Oregon and California land grant bill, the publication of the delinquent tax list and other special interest legislation.

I consider it my duty now to lay before the people the evidence in the case. It is not my way to make an abusive or a vindictive campaign, but those who continue to question my loyalty and deny me the right to serve my country, I shall fight to the end.

ALLEN EATON.

RED CROSS NOTES.

An attractive quilt now on display for sale at Red Cross headquarters was recently made by the ladies of the West Side sewing room. These ladies have decided to occupy their time to good advantage while waiting for material to arrive. The second quilt is nearly completed.

A small shipment of gauze arrived the first of the week, therefore two night sessions have been added to the work periods. Monday and Thursday nights and Tuesday and Saturday afternoons have been selected for the present but, should an emergency call arrive, all week days will be devoted to the work. If each night worker and each day worker will make a special effort to come each time, as much work can be accomplished as in the past with an attendance of three or four each day. Instructions from the chapter are to reserve a portion of gauze for this emergency call, as we will be required to meet our quota. At the present time we are ahead of our quota in both surgical dressings and garments.

No materials have arrived for the emergency call for hospital garments, therefore the days at headquarters will remain the same, Thursdays and Saturdays.

The millinery department and store will be open every afternoon and all day Saturdays.

Get your girl—and then get your announcements from The Sentinel. ***

Prominent Progressives in Oregon Endorse Candidacy of R. E. Williams for National Republican Committee

Portland, Ore., April 23, 1918.

To the Republican Voters of Oregon:

We, the undersigned, all formerly Progressives and now registered Republicans, wish to add our endorsement to the candidacy of Ralph E. Williams, of Portland, for re-election on May 17 to the position of Republican National Committeeman. We endorse his candidacy for the following definite reasons: In the first place, if Mr. Williams had not invited and encouraged the Progressives to join with the Republicans of this state in 1916, there would have been no active cooperation between the two forces and Oregon would undoubtedly have been lost to the Republican cause. Mr. Williams advocated the adoption by the Republican National Committee of a similar program of amalgamation and co-operative action in the other states. If his suggestions concerning California and Washington had been followed, those two states would also have been found in the Republican column after the national election.

Mr. Williams' attitude of friendliness toward Colonel Roosevelt is generally known to Republican leaders throughout this country and state. The same spirit of unity which Mr. Williams was so instrumental in effecting in Oregon in 1916, he also strove successfully to bring about at the recent meeting of the Republican National Committee at St. Louis.

The new Chairman of the Republican National Committee, Will H. Hays, who was elected at the St. Louis meeting, has joined with George W. Perkins, Chairman of the Executive Committee of the former Progressive party, in commending Mr. Williams' efforts to achieve harmony at St. Louis. On the occasion of his recent visit to Portland, Mr. Hays called attention to the splendid spirit of harmony which now prevails among all elements of the Republican party in Oregon and earnestly urged that it be maintained.

Mr. Williams' record as an earnest supporter of the Government in the energetic conduct of the war, is widely known, owing to the aid he has given us in our war activities.

We believe in all fairness that Mr. Williams' services as outlined above, entitle him to re-election. We also believe you are entitled to know where we stand with regard to his candidacy.

and for that reason, we have addressed this statement to you.

Progressive National Committeeman for Oregon.

HONOR GUARD BANQUET DELIGHTS THE C. E. S.

The local Christian Endeavor convention committee wishes to express its gratitude to the Honor Guard girls for their very large part in entertaining the Christian Endeavor guests. With all other preparations for the convention it would have been impossible for the convention church to have given the expected banquet, but the Honor Guard came to the rescue and held up the Cottage Grove standard, exceeding all expectations. The banquet was a delight to home folk, as well as to all the guests, who went on their way singing praises to Cottage Grove hospitality.
