

Gene Campbell Memorial Lumberjack Show

For years Gene Campbell worked tirelessly for the Western Oregon Exposition, Inc. better known as the WOE Fair. He came to Cottage Grove from Chehalis, Washington, married a local, Anella Martin, and had six children. Gene was a timber faller and owned a farm and also a member of the London Grange. Around 1968 he organized one of the first Logging shows for the WOE Fair, a tradition that carries on today. He was passionate about preserving the heritage and history of the areas logging traditions. For over 40 years Gene organized and helped run the logging show. Without his commitment and tireless effort there would be no Fair or Logging show.

The Cottage Grove Community owes a great deal of thanks to this dedicated citizen. We of the WOE honor him by continuing the tradition of logging with the Gene Campbell Memorial Lumberjack Show.
