Cheering Champions

Cottage Grove High has a nationally recognized sport — cheerleading. This year's varsity squad received a bid for the national competition after giving a star-studded performance at this summer's cheerleading camp. The team is one of the first ever in Cottage Grove history to receive such recognition. The junior varsity and varsity squads attended the National Cheerleading Association's camp at Souther Oregon State College at the beginning of August. The local team competed against some 12 other varsity squads from schools in the surrounding area for the national bid. "I don't know that we really expected to win it," said Amber Davis, a senior and captain of this year's cheering squad. "When they announced our name you could barely hear it because everyone was screaming. I just remember my friends face and the look of excitement. Everyone was jumping up and down.

Schools will be ready, says Chief

CGHS reports some classes already SRO

Several classes may go beyond capacity enrollment at Cottage Grove High School for the fall term, Principal Donald R. Brand reported this week. Brand said he based his estimate on preliminary reports from the school's counseling and guidance department. Early trends in the registration pattern by the students during pre-registration sessions last spring shows that many are electing a completely blocked schedule of six classes, Brand said. This, along with a heavy enrollment in the sixth period athletic class, further restricts schedule flexibility, he added. Brand again issued a reminder of the Sept. 7 and 8 registration dates. In order to take every possible step to facilitate student choices, the principal added, sophomores are being directed to sign up on Sept. 7 and juniors on Sept. 8 from 7 to 8:30 pm. A yearbook autographing party is scheduled at the high school cafeteria this Friday, Sept 3 at 8 pm. Students must pay their fee in full to receive their annuals.

CITY BEAT Selections from the City of Cottage Grove's Friday Update

Community Development interns school-bound

The Community Development Department lost two interns this week.

Georgia Morrill, who has worked for the department the last three years, left to get married last weekend and move to Idaho to attend BYU.

The City says Morill was instrumental in setting up its tall grass/noxious vegetation program this year and teaching two new interns who will carry on next year with the program. Thank you and congratulations to her. Glenn Rust was new to the department this year worked on the tall grass program and was one of the main planners for the Emergency Preparedness Fair. Glenn is heading to Linfield University this fall.

Living on the Land workshop series

The City of Cottage Grove is working with the Coast Fork

Willamette Watershed Council to implement Phase 2 of the City's Drinking Water Protection Plan. Toward this end, the Watershed Council has scheduled four separate classes tailored for small acreage landowners and those new to managing land. The classes are scheduled for four Thursday evenings during the month of October of 2015 and will be held at the Dorena School. Classes begin at 6 p.m. and end at 9 p.m. A copy of the Living on the Land class brochure is included with this issue of the Friday Update. The Phase 2 implementation of the drinking water protection plan focuses on public outreach and education and is aimed at individual landowners. The intent is to educate private landowners about the best management practices available to ensure watershed health.

The recently completed Phase 1 implementation of the drinking water protection plan dealt with the development of cooperative agreements between stakeholder agencies to improve watershed health.

Street striping

Last week, all of the streets that are under the control of the City and also contain traffic control striping were re-striped by Lane County. The City contracts with Lane County each year to re-stripe all of the City streets that have any type of traffic control striping. This work is generally performed in one or two nights each year between 9 p.m. and 4 a.m.

State Scenic Bikeway Committee

Alex Phillips of Oregon Parks and Recreation and Natalie Inouye, a representative of Travel Lane County and Chair of the State Scenic Bikeway Committee, recently met with City Manager Richard Meyers to review the organization and operation of the committee. Phillips and Inouye then rode a portion of the Scenic Bikeway.
