

South Lane Wheels

Your Local Public Transportation Service

LOCAL & METRO
WEEKDAY
TRIPS

Experience More Independence

SHOP ALL OVER TOWN!

NO
ELIGIBILITY REQUIREMENTS

Any Age Can Ride, Even
JEDI & WOOKIEES

PROFESSIONAL CARING
STAFF

CALL 541-942-0456 TODAY

1450 Birch Avenue, Cottage Grove
www.southlanewheels.org

THE FORCE AWAKENS PREVIEW

"Nothing will stand in our way.
I will finish what you started."

—Kylo Ren, in the final trailer for "Star Wars: Episode VII -
The Force Awakens," released Oct. 19, 2015

Next, what appears to be a cloaked Luke placing his hand on R2-D2.
My sister has it.

Two unknown people - one, presumably, Leia - exchange a lightsaber.

The voice-over is taken word-for-word from a conversation between Luke and Leia in "Return of the Jedi," but here one new line is added:

You have that power, too.

From there, viewers get a big action sequence: Poe Dameron leading an X-wing fleet, Kylo Ren swinging his saber, Rey and Finn and BB-8 fleeing an explosion, a Stormtrooper army at a new imperial base, the new Chrometrooper, and, finally, a dogfight between a TIE fighter (with a new chromed-out pilot) and the Millennium Falcon before the big reveal:

Chewie ...

Cut to Harrison Ford's 70-something Han Solo and Chewbacca, with nary a gray hair.

...we're home!

And ... scene!

FULL-LENGTH TRAILER:
RELEASED OCT. 19, 2015

The final trailer opens with a couple shots of Rey - scavenging a ship, walking the surface of Jakku with BB-8, working on her speeder. Then a voice of pirate Maz Kanata (Lupita Nyong'o) asks: Who are you? To which Rey responds: I'm no one.

Next, a shot of a Stormtrooper fleet, followed by Finn, in a full Stormtrooper suit, removing his helmet. Then a Finn voice-over begins:

I was raised to do one thing ...

We see a TIE fighter get shot out of the sky, followed by Finn, now in regular clothes, standing on Jakku.

... but I've got nothing to fight for.

Next, the camera zooms in on Kylo Ren, standing on the bridge of a large imperial ship. Now, Ren:

Nothing will stand in our way ...

The melted Vader helmet again appears.

...I will finish what you started.

It then cuts to what appears to be Ren using the Force to control Poe Dameron, who has a look of pain and agony on his face. Cue the music and the Millennium Falcon evading attacking TIE fighters

Rey: There were stories about what happened ...

Solo: It's true ...

Finn and Rey and Solo are on a ship - likely the Falcon - having a conversation.

Solo: ...All of it.

The Falcon makes a jump to hyper-speed, and the screen cuts to some First Order baddies, led by Ren, on a dark field in the rain. Then, a sequence of battle shots as Solo continues: ...the Dark Side ...the Jedi ...they're real.

Kanata: The Force. It's calling to you.

More of the action and battle sequence, and then viewers at long last see Leia (Carrie Fisher) embracing Solo.

The final shot is Finn drawing what looks like Luke Skywalker's blue lightsaber from "Star Wars" as Ren walks toward him, drawing his own saber and preparing to battle.

Kanata: Just let it in.

And with that, "Star Wars" fans have all they're going to get before "The Force Awakens" arrives Dec. 18.

It can't get here soon enough.

© CTW FEATURES