

BOWLING SCORES

Back to the drawing board for girl Lions

After grabbing their first win in Siuslaw, Cottage Grove found itself back with the same struggles the team has had all season

BY SAM WRIGHT
The Cottage Grove Sentinel

After a memorable victory in Siuslaw, the girls' basketball team fell back into familiar waters when they traveled to Salem to play the Blanchet Catholic High School Cavaliers on Tuesday, Dec. 22. The Lions lost 74-45, another loss by over 20 points.

Cottage Grove was outscored in every quarter, but the game ran away from them in the second quarter, when they were outscored 25-11. The Lions were 13 of 36 on field goals (36.11 percent) compared to Blanche, which scored 24 of 53 (45 percent), 11 of which were three-pointers (the Lions missed all six of their three-point attempts).

Cottage Grove did, however, win the rebound battle, with 31 rebounds compared to Blanchet's 29, and they also were up on free-throws (19 of 28 to Blanchet's 15 of 24). But regardless, those statistics didn't help as the Lions' 29-point deficit was insurmountable.

The leading scorers for the Lions were Hannah Arnold with 17 points and Taylor Harsh with 11. The previous week, it was Harsh's three three-pointers that sparked a comeback to win in Siuslaw. Melissa Thielman had six points, Dana Caro had four and Hannah Albrecht and Ellie Brown had three apiece.

If the Lions did well on rebounds and shooting from the free-throw line, what was it that went wrong?

The Lions turned the ball over a total of 27 times. Compare that to the Cavalier's 15 turnovers and it's easy to see where they went wrong. Blanchet had 28 points off of turnovers, so one can only imagine the score difference had the Lions maintained better control of the ball.

Nevertheless, Cottage Grove has to take each loss with a grain of salt, as the team is extremely young and inexperienced in terms of varsity playing time this year, and also has to adjust to the system of strategies of new Head Coach Kevin Yoss, who says the team is a very hardworking group and their improvements will eventually show.
