One of Buster Keaton's favorite pastimes was playing baseball. He often challenged locals to play against him and his crew.

Now

Though certainly updated, Kelly Field remains a ball field to this day. Used by schools & athletic clubs, kids still play baseball in the footsteps of Buster.

Located on River Road, this barn was prominent in the movie, once call "an inanimate star in the movie". At the time of filming the barn was part of the Cottage Grove Flour Mill.

Now

The barn stood for many years, but was burned down in the early 2000's. Now an open field, a feed store still operates at the location.
