Season Outlook:

Jason Corwin enters his second year as head coach for the Lions' volleyball team. This year, the team will see six returning seniors to the roster but will miss some of last year's seniors that were team leaders. Corwin says "yes and no" to whether or not the current players will be able to replace the ones that have left. The Lions have all the potential to be ask skillful as they were last year, but it is always hard to replace such great players and people. As the team enters the fall season, passing and setting have become the main focus at practices according to Corwin.
