

Everyone has a race to run. That just means we all have a life to live. The apostle Paul says in Hebrews 12:1, "Therefore we also, since we are surrounded by so great a cloud of witnesses, let us lay aside every weight, and the sin which so easily ensnares us, and let us run with endurance the race that is set before us" (NKJV).

Part of what that means to me is to keep going, even in the midst of the difficulties in life. Now, much of life is just ordinary, everyday living. Yet a lot of what happens comes in the form of difficult situations, from little annoyances to serious burdens.

Hard times happen to us all. But it's how we handle them that matters most. And 2 Timothy 4:7 says, "I have fought the good fight, I have finished the race, I have kept the faith."

Keep Moving. I once kept a record of all the petty peace stealers that happened to me over a period of time. They were things like a back injury, I broke a nail, left some luggage on a plane, and had a water leak in my humidifier. I hurt my arm doing stretches for my injured back, twisted my wrist, spilled a red drink on a white couch... and I lost my pants at a spa! Some were small irritations; others were more serious.

But what I learned from this experience was simple: "Stuff" happens in life. But we don't have to let what happens keep us from fulfilling our purpose of serving God with our whole heart. It's just a waste of time getting upset over petty things. And at the very least, if you don't know what to do in a situation, just do what you do know to do and keep moving forward.

We must learn to keep going when difficult times come. One way to do that is to get your mind off yourself and your concerns and help someone else. The truth is we are happier and more content when we're helping others than when we're focusing on ourselves.

We all have problems, but our problems don't have to have us! Our victory will come as we remain determined to just keep moving, doing what God puts in our heart to do.

Rest. One major part of running your race is learning to rest. Now, that may sound like an oxymoron, but here's what I mean. Resting isn't about doing nothing. It's about being in a place of peace and complete trust in God. From a position of rest, we can do whatever we need to do because our faith is not in ourselves but in the One who gives us the strength and ability to do it.

He was a lifelong Mason. Bill came to Oregon in 1946 to log in Powers. He spent his life in Oregon and Alaska logging and road building and was still splitting firewood at age 89. He could build anything from a multi-floored shop to wooden wine glasses on a lathe. He had a photographic memory for people and places during his 93 years and was an excellent storyteller. He had great strength, drive and determination. All work and no play, if he didn't like you, he told you so. If he didn't think you were doing something right, he'd show you how to do it "right". He will be dearly missed.
