

Cottage Grove residents were climbing into bed when they heard an awful noise. They thought a factory might have exploded, or maybe a plane crashed in town — definitely something BIG. They rushed to their windows to see what had happened.

