

Soon more people from Cottage Grove were showing up at the scene, determined to do something about it. "Santa, I can help you with your sleigh," said a car mechanic. He pulled tools out of his truck and got to work hammering out the dents, fixing the broken parts, and replacing that missing bolt that the elves didn't notice.

