DanceAbility to hold auditions in Eugene tomorrow

On Thursday, Aug. 30, join DanceAbility International dancers and Creative Director Alito Alessi for an open audition for DanceAbility's mixed-abilities performance company.

Dancers with and without disabilities create collaborative work over the course of a nine-month season for projects in Lane County and beyond. This is an opportunity to be a part of a creative team with a world-renowned choreographer leading the way.

DanceAbility performances in events such as school assemblies, community gatherings, formal concerts and showcases as well as site specific work in the form of "informances" which activate the community in regards to issues about society's assumptions about disability.

The company also often collaborates with other artistic organizations for multi-disciplinary projects. Additionally, there will be an opportunity to learn about the DanceAbility method, attend select DanceAbility classes and travel out of town for Oregon-based engagements.

This is a paid position. Fall rehearsals will begin on a weekly basis and grow to bi-weekly in the winter. The group can work around most schedules, including a different job.

The audition will take place at the Hilyard Community Center. Participants will be expected to dance in a group warmup, led by rehearsal director Jana Meszaros, and move through several DanceAbility exercises that support expression, relationship and movement design in an improvisational format.

Dancers should come prepared to move.

RSVP by calling the DanceAbility office at 541-357-4982 or emailing info@danceability.com

Attorney General leads group of 29 to file comments with Federal Trade Commission

SALEM — Monday, Oregon Attorney General Ellen Rosenblum led a bipartisan group of 29 Attorneys General in filing comments with the Federal Trade Commission (FTC) highlighting the significant role State Attorneys General play in consumer protection, and asking the FTC to include their viewpoint and expertise as the agency holds public hearings on "Competition and Consumer Protection in the 21st Century."

In June, the FTC announced the agency will hold a series of public hearings, "on whether broad-based changes in the economy, evolving business practices, new technologies, or international developments might require adjustments to competition and consumer protection enforcement law, enforcement priorities, and policy."

The FTC asked interested parties to submit comments by Aug. 20.

"The FTC plays a pivotal role in the development and enforcement of regulations that protect consumers. Almost everything we do today has a digital footprint, and the FTC is relied upon to help ensure we have strong systems in place to protect our personal information and data" said Rosenblum.

In the comments, the State Attorneys General speak to the broad role they have as consumer protectors in their states and the concerns they share, particularly as they pertain to privacy and internet security.

The comments continue, "In our experiences, consumer privacy and data security is an afterthought in product and service development," read part of the joint statement.

The comments filed today were led by Rosenblum, and also joined by the Attorneys General of Arizona, Arkansas, California, Connecticut, Delaware, Florida, Hawaii, Illinois, Iowa, Kentucky, Louisiana, Maine, Maryland, Massachusetts, Minnesota, Mississippi, Nebraska, New Mexico, New Jersey, New York, North Carolina, Pennsylvania, Rhode Island, Tennessee, Virginia, Vermont, Washington, and Washington, D.C.

TAX from A1

calculated using the city's tax revenue—if it were to be made public—and the city's tax rate, as well as the 17 percent state rate.

In this year's unaudited budget, the city of Cottage Grove lists marijuana tax revenue as being budgeted at $15,000. In the 2016-2017 budget, the city collected $11,484 in marijuana sales tax. In Monday night's report, the Department of Revenue did release the amount of money distributed to cities as $10,072,791.68. The city operates on a fiscal year while the agency responsible for distributing the funds from the state operates on a calendar year.

erving as president and director in the past, owns a local business and describes herself in the filing as a "serial entrepreneur," noting that she's had eight past businesses.

Rigel, a dental assistant, lists no previous governmental experience in her filing as does Ackerman, the owner of a local construction company.

Burback said he was familiar with some of the individuals running for his seat in November and noted that he was recently asked in jest what he would do when he lost.

"I'll be pulling more weeds in my yard," he replied.

Councilors serve four years while the position of mayor is a two-year term.

Councilor Ehler and Roberts are not up for re-election this cycle.

The election will be held on Nov. 6.
