The STRange and Beautiful SEAHORSE

Find the two identical seahorses on this page.

Standards Link: Investigation: Find similarities and differences in common objects.

Whoa, Nellie!

The seahorse looks like it is made up of many different animals.

Unscramble each word to find out the odd parts of the tiny seahorse. Stuck on some? Keep reading this page and you will find the answers.

It has:

- The head and neck of a Soreh.
- The eyes of a Lacheonme.
- The pouch of a noagrako.
- The Tail of a yonkem.
- The armor of an Liadamrol.

Tough on The Outside

Seahorses look like they are wearing armor. Actually they have a shiny external skeleton made up of interlocking bony plates – like an armadillo!

Standards Link: Life Science: Animals have structures that serve different functions in growth, survival and reproduction.

Wild Eyed

One seahorse eye can look up while the other looks down. One eye can look for food while the other is on the lookout for predators. Another kind of animal that has eyes that can move independently is the chameleon.

Seahorse Heads

The long snout of a seahorse gives the animal its horsey appearance. Unlike a horse, the seahorse mouth does not open and close or have any teeth. The seahorse uses its snout like a little vacuum cleaner, sucking up its favorite foods of brine shrimp, baby eels and other tiny sea creatures.

Standards Link: Reading Comprehension: Sequence information found in text.

Tail Tale

A seahorse's tail is like a monkey tail. Scientists call these prehensile tails because they can grasp like a hand. The seahorse's tail helps it to hang onto sea plants while it waits for food to swim by. Seahorses also hang onto each other with their tails.

Extra! Extra! Creature Cut-Ups

You can create a new creature from parts of creatures pictured in today's newspaper. Cut out different parts of different people and animals. Use these to create a new creature. Give your creature a name. Invent stories about your creature.

Standards Link: Reading Comprehension: Follow simple written directions.

This relative of the seahorse is a master of camouflage – blending in with its environment. Use the code to discover its name.
