

Lincoln Middle Schoolers help share the warmth

CONTRIBUTED PHOTO

Members of the Healthy Hobbies Leadership Class at Lincoln Middle School, along with school staff members, gather after collecting hundreds of pairs of socks as well as $100 to help those in need as temperatures in the valley drop to freezing levels.

The Healthy Hobbies and Leadership class at Lincoln Middle School (LMS) partnered with Beds for Freezing Nights whose mission is to provide a safe, warm place to sleep for those who wish to come inside during the coldest nights of the year.

Students and staff at LMS contributed over 300 pairs of warm socks and $100 in donations for this wonderful program.

According to LMS teacher Jean Miksch, the students understand what it's like to have cold damp feet, so they were very compelled to generously donate socks so others in need can stay warm and dry.

LMS extended a big thanks to the families of Lincoln students who helped support this important organization.

Temperatures in the low 30s began Sunday night and were expected to continue through Wednesday night, with the potential for freezing temperatures returning next week.
