ning opportunities," said Davis. "Just more breaks went our way. We had more opportunities for breaks, pitched a little bit better than they did."

North Douglas collected 16 walks on the game in addition to Cal Parks and Waylon Beckham each recording a pair of hits.

Now North Douglas' focus switches to this week's series against Oakland. The team, like teams all around the region, will be stuck practicing indoors this week as weather looks to keep the team of the field. "We've just got to make the most in a baseball sense out of the limited practice opportunities we have. We could really benefit from being on the field and doing some situations and working our cut relay, communication and doing things at a little more live pace," said Davis. "But we'll be in the gym, more than likely so you've got to maximize what you're doing there more than the other guy, I think is what we ask our kids to do."
