Up and Down the Dial

There's just nothing else in TV history quite like WKRP in Cincinnati. The show had wonderful sight gags and just plain funny situations. But the show also move beyond running gags to embrace more serious themes, and truly humanize its nutty characters. The show hit notes that range true with viewers.

As Sheldon Cooper would say, the way to enjoy a series is to start at the beginning. And that is how you can enjoy WKRP in Cincinnati for the first time or as a returning viewer! Tonight and tomorrow night (Wednesday and Thursday), the two-part pilot airs on MeTV, 9.2 on South Lane Television's free over-the-air translator service. Andy Travis arrives, and his first item of business is to change WKRP to a rock 'n' roll format. Andy knows his stuff and easily sells The Big Guy on his idea.

When WKRP in Cincinnati auditioned for its cast members, the role of Dr. Johnny Fever originally went to The Partridge Family's David Cassidy, but the pop idol ended up turning the part down. Of course, the role ultimately went to Howard Hesseman, but only after he was invited to read for Herb Tarlek's character and flatly refused to read anything but Johnny!

Prior to recording the two-part pilot, the actor who plays Les Nessman, Richard Sanders, accidentally cut his finger and wound up having to wear a bandage on air. He decided to make this an aspect of his character -- a bandage in every episode.

For a radio fan such as myself, WKRP is just so much fun to watch. In my thrill-crazed youth, I worked in four radio stations. For me, WKRP is an amalgam of all these radio station -- so I am a huge fan. Seeing the subtleties and the obvious is just so much fun! I am in the process of digging out the long-version the WKRP theme song to play on my Monday Gold program on KNND on Monday from 11:00 to 3:00. Next week in this spot, I'll tell you more about WKRP.

Happy viewing,
Lloyd Williams, President
