Be Sure to Rescan in London

As reported in this space last week, SLTV has had to make some technical changes at our London Springs translator site in order to comply with an FCC mandate to clear a path for the future expansion of cellphones and 5G technology in our area. It is difficult to predict the exact length of the outage but we are confident everything will go smoothly and interruptions will be minimal. Once the modifications are made, you will need to rescan your television in order for it to work properly with the new system. As of press time, work was not yet completed but by the time you read this the work may be completed. So if you have lost the signal, you will want to rescan your television. If after scanning you find that you still have no signal, please rescan again later.

This work is a necessary part of the FCC's "repack" of television stations, including translators, all across America. The upgrades are a part of South Lane Television's commitment to bring our viewers the best free over-the-air television possible. After your rescan, you should see no changes in your channels or favorite programs. If you happen to rescan prior to completion of the work, you will simply need to rescan again once the work has been completed.

On our other sites, all repack work has been completed on the main Cottage Grove (Hansen Butte) site and at the Dorena/Culp Creek site -- so there are no outages planned at those two sites. We appreciate Londoners patience and understanding during this time, as we strive to keep your system up-to-date.

Happy viewing,
Lloyd Williams, President
SOUTH LANE TELEVISION
