

CGHS from B2

achieved time after time.

This year was no different as the Lions had high marks at the district meet – which is the combination of three meets throughout the season – and got six of the eight athletes on the team (though one athlete is an eighth grader and will be eligible to compete next year) to state.

At districts the team had first place finishes from Tristan Cruden in dressage, Ladd in steer daubing and the team made up of Ladd, Latham and Fountain in team penning. Cassie Ferguson in steer daubing, Latham in pole bending and Ladd and Latham in working pairs scored second place finishes while Fountain in individual flags and the team in team versatility took third.

At the May 9 state meet the team's top finish was with a second place finish in team penning.

"One naughty cow – they had a bad cow that there was nothing they could do," said Sias. "They were one of three teams that got eight of nine cows and they did it in the second fastest time. That naughty cow cost them state."

Elsewhere at the meet Ladd claimed sixth in steer daubing and the team of Ladd, Wood, Latham and Ferguson were sixth in freestyle fours. Fountain was eighth in individual flags.

At last weekend's regional Ladd took second in steer daubing and the team was seventh in both Team Penning and Freestyle Fours. While the team had higher hopes in Team Penning that's not always what it has been about for Sias.

"Horse people, animal people, they're just great people. So I think I am lucky. It's the type of people that are doing this sport that are already such great people," she said. "They're really good. I know I'm their coach but we have really good riders. And they're just such good girls, they really are. I adore every one of those girls."
