KVAL-TV AND DIRECT-TV IN DISPUTE

If you are a regular viewer of KVAL, Channel 13, Eugene, you probably know their parent company, Sinclair Broadcasting, is in negotiations with Direct TV and viewers of Direct-TV may lose KVAL.

Television stations pay for programming which they supply to the public free over-the-air, but many families use cable or satellite companies to bring in their local television reception, along with additional premium channels at a cost typically around $100/month. Because cable and satellite companies receive compensation from their viewers, a portion of revenue is paid back the broadcast television stations. Sometimes the expectations of each side are so far apart that negotiation grinds slowly or sometimes to a halt -- a standoff can occur. In the case of Sinclair Broadcasting vs. Direct-TV, we see two very large organizations working in their own best interests. Each side has much to gain or lose.

But you do not have to be the victim. And the good news is that in our area, this situation only affects Sinclair Broadcasting (KVAL) and Direct-TV, at least at this time. It does not affect the other pay-TV operators and it does not affect free over-the-air television such as is provided by South Lane Television in the Cottage Grove, London, and Dorena/Culp Creek systems.

SLTV urges viewers to consider installing a good quality antenna to the back of your TV (where you see "antenna in") as a precaution against any sort of signal loss from their pay-TV supplier. Things do happen and having a back-up is a solid investment. Plus, you'll find additional programming not found on cable or satellite. If you live in town, an indoor antenna may work for you, but for best reliability, SLTV recommends a good quality outdoor or attic antenna.

Happy viewing, Lloyd Williams, President
SOUTH LANE TELEVISION

Lloyd Williams is also a member of the National Translator Association board of directors.

These messages are brought to you as a public service by South Lane Television. Our goal is to continue serving the community with the highest quality free over-the-air television service possible.
