

Explore Your Favorite Subjects in the Newspaper

History, geography, current events, science, technology, business and beyond...

the newspaper brings all of your favorite subjects to life!

What can newspapers in education do for today's students?

Reading the newspaper promotes literacy and critical thinking skills. It also enhances students' vocabulary, reading comprehension and writing skills. Because it's a "live" learning tool, relevant to the present moment and events affecting the world around us, the newspaper is a great way to capture student interest and start discussions in the classroom.
