Valentine, midwife exhibits at CG Museum

Expressions of love and photographs of hundreds of newborns are featured in two exhibits currently on display at the Cottage Grove Museum, 147 N. H St., in Cottage Grove.

More than 50 valentines from the 1890s through the 1950s are on exhibit now through February.

These valentines from the past are exceptionally intricate and finely detailed depictions of various images associated with Valentine's Day including cherubs, angels, hearts and, new this year, two 3-dimensional airplane themed valentines.

Photographs of over 400 newborns delivered by Cottage Grove midwife Barbara Kaye are also on exhibit at the museum.

Kaye practiced midwifery in Cottage Grove in the late 1970s, and donated this collection to the museum. Photographs of babies delivered by Barbara Kaye will be on exhibit through the summer.

The Cottage Grove Museum is open Saturday and Sunday from 1 to 4 p.m., or by appointment.

Admission is free but donations are encouraged.

DevNW to hold groundbreaking in CG Friday

DevNW will be holding a groundbreaking celebration this Friday, Jan. 24, from 10 to 11 a.m. at 910-960 Arthur Ave. for six community land trust homes in Cottage Grove.

The project will be a mix of two- and three-bedroom homes.

This creates six new homes that will remain permanently affordable for the community.

More information about this unique affordable housing coming to Cottage Grove will be presented at the groundbreaking.

DevNW was created in 2019 when Neighborhood Economic Development Corporation (NEDCO) and Willamette Neighborhood Housing Services (WNHS) united to expand their impact.

For those interested in applying for homes, the application period is open until Feb. 3. An application demonstrates interest in purchasing one of the homes; it does not guarantee selection.

DevNW will work with applicants to determine eligibility and mortgage readiness.

An information session to learn more about this opportunity will be held on Jan. 28 at 7 p.m. at the Cottage Grove Community Center, 700 E. Gibbs Ave.

All applicants will be entered into a lottery to move forward. Attendance at the information session is not required to apply.

For specific questions, please contact Luis Mendoza at luis.mendoza@devnw.org or call 541-345-7106 ext. 2053.

Lane Transit adds back services in CG

Lane Transit District (LTD) will add back full service on Route 98 providing regular daily bus service within Cottage Grove beginning Feb. 2.

The Route 98 bus will travel from Walmar through the center of Cottage Grove before departing for Creswell, Lane Community College and the Downtown Eugene Station on all days of the week.

Adding this service on Route 98 will have no impact on the LTD Connector, the mobility-on-demand pilot program in Cottage Grove.

It continues to operate Monday through Friday, from 7 a.m. to 7 p.m. Fares for the Connector are $1 per ride through the duration of the pilot program, and all other LTD fare is also accepted.

Riders can schedule a ride for the Connector using the TransLoc app on their personal mobile device or by calling South Lane Wheels at 541-942-0456 ext. 1.

The Connector pilot program has been extended through August 2020.

Also, beginning on Feb. 2, bus riders will no longer need to transfer EmX buses in Springfield to travel to or from West Eugene and the Gateway area during peak times on weekdays.

Specific route information is available online at www.ltd.org/service-changes.

PeaceHealth Riverbend earns Chest Pain Center designation

The Oregon Heart & Vascular Institute at PeaceHealth Sacred Heart Medical Center at RiverBend is celebrating a major first-time recognition for demonstrating expertise and commitment in treating patients with chest pain.

The American College of Cardiology in December awarded PeaceHealth Sacred Heart at RiverBend Chest Pain Center Accreditation with Primary PCI, following a rigorous onsite assessment of the staff's ability to evaluate, diagnose and treat patients who may be experiencing a heart attack.

Hospitals receiving this accreditation must take part in a multifaceted clinical process that includes a thorough examination of care provided and an action plan for streamlining processes, implementing standards and adopting best practices. They must meet or exceed an array of stringent criteria, and need to have organized a team of doctors, nurses, clinicians, and other administrative staff that earnestly support efforts leading to better patient education and patient outcomes.

"This is another step in our continuing efforts to optimize patient care and outcomes," said Mary Kingston, chief executive, PeaceHealth Oregon network. "This distinction was achieved by streamlining and improving our processes, from the time of admission to evaluation to diagnosis to treatment, all the way through to post-discharge care and recommendations for lifestyle changes. Stringent measures are in place to assure we are accountable to the higher accreditation standards."

RiverBend's accreditation includes the "Primary PCI" distinction, which means the hospital can provide percutaneous coronary intervention, also known as coronary angioplasty, 24/7, 365 days a year. PCI is a non-surgical procedure that opens narrowed or blocked coronary arteries with a balloon to relieve symptoms of heart disease or reduce heart damage during or after a heart attack.

According to the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention, more than 730,000 Americans suffer a heart attack each year. The most common symptom of heart attack for both men and women is chest pain or discomfort.

Other symptoms include tingling or discomfort in one or both arms, back, shoulder, neck or jaw, as well as shortness of breath, a cold sweat, unusual fatigue, a heartburn-like feeling, nausea or vomiting, sudden dizziness and fainting. Women are more likely to have atypical symptoms.
