KVAL AND DISH TV IN A TUG-OF-WAR

If you are Dish subscriber, you likely know that Dish is negotiating with KVAL over a new carriage agreement. Local broadcasters provide free over-the-air television to all who can receive their signals via an antenna. But when a cable or satellite operator adds a local channel to their pay-TV service, they must have a carriage agreement with the local station. For that right, a fee is charged by the local station to satellite and cable companies who make money from offering the free over-the-air local broadcasting to their paying subscribers. It is that agreement that is now being renegotiated. Of course, Dish does not want to pay KVAL any more than they have to for carriage rights and KVAL wants to receive what they believe to be a fair royalty from Dish Network.

For the thousands of local viewers who receive South Lane Television's free over-the-air translator service, you will see no loss of KVAL programming aired over the SLTV translator system as a result of this situation. However, if you are a Dish Network subscriber and negotiations breakdown, KVAL may be dropped from the Dish Network. In that event, you may wish to consider installing a good quality UHF antenna aimed to SLTV's towers on Hansen Butte southeast of Cottage Grove to continue receiving KVAL and their sub-channels 13.2 and 13.3. And the best part is that you'll be prepared if in the future similar negotiations breakdown between your provider and perhaps another local broadcast station.

Please note that TV signals can be blocked by hills, trees, etc., but if you can see the SLTV towers (or the red lights at night) you should be able to receive the signals. Once you hit auto-scan and have captured all of the 41 Cottage Grove channels, you'll likely be surprised to find other channels you won't find on cable or satellite. In London, the SLTV (UHF) tower is located just north of London. For folks in Dorena/Culp Creek, please note that you'll need a good quality VHF antenna.

Stay tuned!
