I have been afflicted with rheumatism for fourteen years and nothing seemed to give any relief. I was able to be around all the time, but constantly suffering. I had tried everything I could hear of and at last was told to try Chamberlain's Pain Balm, which I did, and was immediately relieved and in a short time cured. I am happy to say that it has not since returned.—JOS. EDDAR, Germantown, Cal. For sale by J. A. BENSON, Cottage Grove. JOE LYONS, Drain Druggist.

I take particular pains to keep the best and freshest rolled oats, Grandma's mush, Gernea, morning meal, fresh corn meal and buckwheat flour. F. B. PHILLIPS.

If Sampson, the so called hero of naval fame, would pay less attention to prospective naval honors, and give a little more attention to his profession, he would be the better officer and his honors come less grudgingly.

THE NAVAL REPAIR SHIP.

Every officer in the American fleet at Santiago, from the admiral down, has praised the usefulness of the Vulcan. Her equipment was equal to that of any but large repair-plants on shore, and the work actually done by her covered almost every conceivable part of the machinery of a war vessel, including repairs to hulls, gun mounts, dynamos, main steam pipes, main piston rods [for small ships], brass castings without number, and a considerable quantity of iron castings. This last is an especially interesting feature, as it is believed that the Vulcan is the first vessel ever fitted with a cupola for making iron castings.

The object of such a ship is readily seen; it enables the vessels to have every repair, short of a breakdown of some of the larger parts made on the station, when otherwise they would have been compelled to go at least several hundred miles, and in some cases more than a thousand, to reach a repair-yard.—Engineer-in-Chief G. W. Melville, in The Engineering Magazine for March.

WILL SURPRESS IT.

A dispatch to the Herald from Washington says:

The necessity for suppressing filibustering expeditions is the cause of Admiral Dewey asking that the department send him more vessels of light draught.

On account of the number of the Philippine Islands, the natives are able to transport from the Asiatic coast a large quantity of munitions of war in small schooners. Admiral Dewey wants a large number of warships at his disposal which can follow such vessels into shallow water. The wheeling has already started for Manila, and the Vixen will go by the last of the month. The department may also send others.

The authorities were glad to hear that General Lawton would arrive at Manila about March 10, as he will then be put in control of the military operations, thus giving General Otis an opportunity to aid in the Philippine Commission, as well as to take care of the many other questions constantly arising. After General Lawton's arrival, one of the brigadier-generals at Manila will probably be sent to Ilo Ilo to relieve General Miller, who will go on the retired list March 27.
